Farmers are also reminded that the cattle cycle is in the third year of the expansion phase. The number of cattle and calves on farms January 1, 1961, is expected to reach 105 million head.

"A 5-10 per cent increase in slaughter in 1961 will again result in prices ranging $1.50-2.50 lower. With present feeder price levels, most cattle feeders can expect fair to average labor returns," according to the University economists.

Barring unforeseen developments, the next two years will bring a continuation of present trends—increased catle numbers, heavier supplies of slaughter cattle and weaker prices.

Expansion of cattle numbers should taper off at about 110 million head. The lower prices at that time (1963-64) will bring the cattle cycle ino the declining number phase.

Feed cattle marketings will be about equal to last year for the remainder of 1960. However, marketings of cows, calves and grass fed animals will remain above last year's levels. Thus, total slaughter will be up and prices down somewhat.

Prices for finished cattle, however, should increase from Augus 1960 lows. This appears probable in light of the cattle on feed reports, improved demand and decreased hog marketings.

The level of cattle feeding is expected to remain high in the coming year. Slaughter during 1961 will run 5-10 per cent above 1960 levels. This will result in a further price reduction of $1.50 to $2.50 on slaughter cattle.

More cattle will be available for feedlot replacement this fall.

Unless early frost hits the corn belt, feeders in this area will not be over-eager to buy cattle this fall. Returns from cattle feeding the past two years have not been especially encouraging, and all conditions point to lower slaughter prices again in 1961.

Since feed and other costs of cattle feeding will be about as high as last year, most corn belt farmers will be cautious about filling their feedlots this fall—especially with calves.

Heavier supplies, average to poorer range conditions and the cautious attitude of feeders all point to the considerably lower feeder cattle prices this fall compared with a year ago.

With increasing cow numbers, the 1961 calf crop should be 3-4 per cent higher than 1960. This would increase calf slaughter and feeder and stocker supplies in 1961.

If the present expansion in cattle numbers continues in an orderly manner and feeder prices are not bid to higher levels, there are opportunities for fair to average returns for the cattle feeder in the year ahead.

However, if a combination of poor feed conditions on the ranges and pessimism on the part of ranchers results in a heavy movement of cattle into feedlots, sharper slaughter price reductions than expected could wipe out any anticipated returns.

The University specialists' analysis of the beef cattle outlook is one in a series of single sheet publications on "What's Ahead for Minnesota Farmers" issued by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension service and available at the county agent's office.

Stilbestrol Ups Gains of Beef Cattle on Pasture

Six cents worth of stilbestrol per steer made a big difference in beef gains this season in pasture trials at the University of Minnesota's Rosemount experiment station.

Implanting steers with 24 milligrams (mg.) of stilbestrol when they were turned on pasture did these things:

- Increased average daily gain per head 0.43 pounds (1.35 to 1.78 pounds).
- Increased beef production per acre 53 pounds (181 to 234 pounds).
- Increased the value of beef produced per acre $11.13 ($38.01 to $49.14).
- Increased the amount to beef produced per acre from unfertilized grass pastures 57 pounds (105 to 162 pounds); from fertilized grass pastures 27 pounds (196 to 223 pounds); and from fertilized legume-grass pastures 76 pounds (242 to 318 pounds).

Steers that never were implanted with stilbestrol averaged 1.39 pounds of gain per day on all pastures but steers implanted at the start of the pasture season only, gained .33 pounds per steer (1.39 to 1.72 pounds) more each day than their untreated herd mates. And steers implanted at the beginning of winter feeding and again at the start of the pasture season gained .42 pounds per day (1.39 to 1.81 pounds) more than the untreated steers.

On the other hand, steers implanted with 12 mg. stilbestrol when they went on feed last fall but not implanted again when they went on pasture averaged only 1.28 pounds of daily gain—6 per cent less than steers that never were implanted. However, the treated steers had made better gains last winter, 1.45 pounds daily compared to 1.38 pounds for steers not implanted.

Results of several years' experiments show that when moisture conditions favor good pasture growth, implanting steers with stilbestrol at the start of the pasture season — regardless of previous winter implanting — means faster gains and higher profits.

WHO will finance the new homes of the 1960's?

To meet the housing needs of America's exploding population, some 13,500,000 privately financed new homes will be needed by America's families in the next ten years. Where will the billions of dollars to finance these homes come from?

Currently, Insured Savings and Loan Associations, like ours, are making more loans for the construction of homes than any other type of financial institution. During the 1960's the greatest demand for home financing will fall on Insured Savings and Loan Associations.

It is a challenge we accept . . . pledging ourselves to continue to serve you in the future as we have in the past.

PLANTING SPRING BULBS

September is a good month to plant most spring-flowering bulbs. Always buy the best quality bulbs available. Besides tulip, daffodils, hyacinths and crocus, there are many less familiar bulbs such as scillas, chionodoxas, grape hyacinth and snowdrops which can be planted now.

Soil for spring-flowering bulbs should be rich, loamy and always well drained. Heavy clay soil should be lightened by adding sand and organic matter. If the soil is low in organic matter, work in liberal quantities of well roted manure or compost. Use at least two bushels for each 100 square feet of area.

Before planting the bulbs, broadcast a complete fertilizer such as 5-10-5 over the area at the rate of four pounds per 100 square feet. Spade deeply so the soil is loosened to a depth of 7 or 8 inches.

All bulbs except tulips should be planted in late September or early October to give them a chance to root and become well established before the ground freezes. Early planting is not necessary, although there is no harm in planting bulbs during early September.

Bulbs are planted according to the kind and type of soil. In general, bulbs should be planted deeper in light, sandy soil than in the heavier soils. As a general rule, tulips, daffodils and hyacinths are planted from 6 to 8 iches below the soil surface. Distance between the bulbs should be about the same as the recommended depth. Smaller bulbs such as the crocus, grape hyacinth and snowdrops should be planted 3 to 4 inches deep.

Most all bulb plantings should be mulched for the winter. This is especially true if they are growing on exposed sites where freezing and thawing often occurs during the winter. To avoid this problem, place a mulch 6 to 8 inches deep over the plantings.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I applied to VA by letter for disability compensation, and received an application form to be filled out. Is there a time limit on mailing this form back to the VA?

A—If you want VA to consider your original letter as he effective date of your application, the form you received must be completed and returned to the VA within one year from the date it was sent to you.

Few people have sense enough to appreciate constructive criticism.

Mid-America City Has Ford Harvest

A wheat field sprouted new cars and an entire city reaped the harvest. That's about what happened recently when Ford Division of Ford Motor Company loaned one of its new model cars or trucks to every vehicle owner in Flora, Ill., for use for a week before they were publicly introduced. Townsfolk streamed out to "take delivery" of the massive fleet of cars, all painted white, and blue trucks. The project required 2,374 cars and more than 200 trucks. Selected by Ford as a site for its gigantic 1961 model national press preview and consumer test, Flora is located close to the official population center of the U.S. The 6,000 residents of the southern Illinois city celebrated the week-long transformation into "Ford Town U.S.A." and everybody — including competing auto dealers — drove a new Ford.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—My father, a World War II veteran, died of a nonservice-connected disability and I may be eligible to receive VA pension since I am under 18 and not married. Please explain the active service requirements which apply to my deceased father.

A—Your father must have had at least 90 days of active service, part of it during wartime. Also, he must have been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. There are certain exceptions to this 90-day service requirement which your nearest VA office will gladly explain.

Q—I am eligible for War Orphans schooling and want to start school this fall but cannot make up my mind about my course of study. Will VA help me decide?

A—Yes. In fact, VA is required by law to go over your study plans with you and your parent or guardian and arrange for vocational counseling, so you and VA can be sure you have chosen the right course. Therefore, the VA advises that you apply immediately if you intend to start school this fall.

Q—I am in my sophomore year at college under the Korean GI bill and entitled to additional VA allowance because I recently married. What kind of evidence of my marriage must I submit to VA in requesting the additional allowance?

A—Send VA a certified copy of the public record or the church record of your marriage. Either one will do, but you must send one or the other. A certified copy is a true copy which bears the seal and signature of the one who keeps the records, in the court or church.

THE BETTER COMPACT CAR
ONLY COMPACT CAR WITH FINE-CAR STYLING
PRICED WITH OR BELOW OTHER COMPACTS
FIRST FAMILY-SIZE COMPACT

The only compact with fine-car styling A spirited sense of proportion gives Comet the most successful styling in the compact-car field. New rustproof aluminum grille, exquisite new interior fabrics, new fine-car appointments everywhere.

The first family-size compact. Comet's 114" wheelbase (longer than any other compact's) provides spacious comfort other compacts sacrifice. There's generous room in a Comet, even for six grownups. And there's trunk space for a family-size load of luggage besides . . . over 28 cubic feet.

Big-car ride—small-car handling The refined suspension (plus the 114" wheelbase) makes Comet's ride steadier and smoother than many standard cars. And you'll find that Comet turns, parks and handles almost as easily as a baby carriage.

Priced with or below the other compacts For all its new fine-car flair, family-size comfort, big-car ride and extra-value features, Comet is priced with or below the other compacts.

New Thrift-Power 170 engine for '61 Comet now offers two economy engines—the standard Thrift-Power Six plus the new optional Thrift-Power 170, for 11% faster highway passing, 22% better acceleration on hills.

One-year or 12,000-mile warranty Your Comet dealer is extending his warranty on 1961 Comets to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. See him to obtain full information. He will be glad to show you a copy of his new warranty.

Prowlers vs. Lakers in Homecoming Game Here Friday Evening

The eighth game in a football rivalry that began back in 1952 will be played on the Lincoln high school field Friday night when coach Haldo Norman's Detroit Lakes Lakers meet coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowlers in a Homecoming tilt.

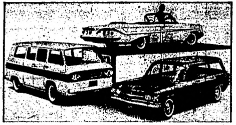
In the seven games that have been played between the Lakers and the Prowlers, the blue-and-gold hold an edge in victories having won four, lost two, and tied one. The Lakers won the games in 1952 and 1953, rolling up scores of 34 to 6 and 44 to 6. This was back in the Rich Borstad era when Detroit Lakes was a power in state football. The 19 score, and in 1955, by a 7 to Prowlers won in 1954, by a 27 to 6 score. After a 6 to 6 tie in 1956, the locals won by 7 to 6 in 1957, and 26 to 0 in 1958. Last season's game, due to inclement weather, was cancelled.

Game time on Friday is at 8 p.m.



CHEVROLET for 1961 introduced three smart new passenger cars which will make their bow to the public October 7. Left — One of the newcomers in the Corvair line, the Greenbrier Sports Wagon, designed for multiple cargo jobs and outdoor living with seats that may be re-positioned to accomodate many varied arrangements. Center — The sleek Impala Convertible with its soft, graceful body lines converging into an entirely new styling motif. Right — Another new model is the challenging Corvair Lakewood Station Wagon with rear engine and second folding seat. Front and rear compartments combined give the Lakewood an unusual amunt of cargo space. The new Chevrolets go on display in Thief River Falls at Northern Chevrolet, Inc., Friday, October 7.

Seitz, now in retirement at Pequot Lakes, pastor here from 1907 until 1919. Both of these speakers also gave festival sermons in the church service held at 10:30.

A large attendance of members and visiors were present in the service as well as at the dinner. St. John's congregation was organized in 1895.

Prowler 'B' Eleven Tips Roseau 17-13

Two Safeties Provide Margin of Victory

The Prowler 'B' squad, scoring a pair of two-point safeties in the fourth period, breaking a 13-all tie, defeated the Roseau Rams 'B' squad, 17 to 13, in a game played on the Lincoln field here Tuesday evening.

In the six games played to date, the Prowler 'B' team has marked up a pair of wins, both over Roseau, and taken four losses. The locals dropped a pair of games to Bemidji, and single losses to Crookston and East Grand Forks.

But two games remain to be played on the 'B' squad schedule. On Monday, Oct. 10, the Prowlers will play the Grand Forks Central 'B' team at Grand Forks, at 4 p.m. On Tuesday, Oct. 18, the schedule will be concluded when the Crookston 'B' team plays the locals on the Lincoln field at 7:30 p.m.

Social Security for Domestic Help Provided by Law

Those Earning as Much as $50 in 3-month Period Are Protected by Law

Some household workers in Minnesota are not receiving social security credit for their earnings, according to George O Lethart, district director of the Internal Revenue Service.

The law makes the employer responsible for reporting for social security purposes the cash wages they pay to workers in their household, said Mr. Lehart Household workers who receive $50 or more in cash wages during a calendar year have earned social security credits for that period. This might be as little work as $4 per week. These workers should make sure that their employers report their wages because social security credits are based on these reports.

The law requires the employer to report the cash wages paid to household worker to the district director of internal revenue, together with the social security tax due on these wages. The report must show the name, social security account number of the worker, and the amount of the wages paid.

The next quarterly report is due by October 31.

Mr. Lethart emphasized that all household workers should keep a record of their cash wages. At least one every three years, they should check their social security records to make sure that all cash wages have been correctly reported. They can do this by calling or visiting their nearest social security office.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

End of Football Honeymoon?

The football Prowlers, after compiling a five-game winning streak, will be moving into the "meat" part of their 1960 schedule when, in a Homecoming tilt here on Friday night, they meet coach Haldo Norman's Detroit Lakes Lakers.

Friday night's game with the Lakers could be the Prowler's toughest test to date although the Warren Ponies proved about as difficult to shove into the loss column as any team the locals have faced. And following the Lakers game here on Friday, the Prowlers will meet the Moorhead Spuds, the Bemidji Lumberjacks, and the Crookston Pirates on respective Friday evening dates. That will provide the Prowlers with a month of rugged football, and perhaps a loss or two, for it is too much to expect the locals to continue to be ever-victorious against such top-ranked opposition.

Last week the Lakers scored a 12 to 0 win over the Park Rapids Panthers in a Homecoming game played at Detroit Lakes. The Lakers flashed a nifty aerial attack, with quarterback Dennis Raffenbuel showing a strong southpaw arm as he fired touchdown passes to halfback Steve Taves for the two TD's. The Prowlers will have to be at their sharpest defensively on Friday if they are to blunt the Lakers' passing attack. The Prowler forward line should be able to handle the Laker running attack.

According to the scouting reports, Detroit Lakes has a strong defense, and it will be interesting to see if this defense can stop the explosive blasts of halfbacks Gary Klungness and Lloyd Ranum. We have our doubts.

Game and Fish

Upland game-bird hunters were stirred considerably by an item that appeared in the Minneapolis Tribune last Sunday. The paper carried an article pertaining to hunting prospects and regulations in the Upper Midwest, and in reporting on the Minnesota regulations the article stated that sharptailed grouse season was from Sept. 24 to Oct. 1, and carried the further notation of (now closed).

County auditor Charles Rodekuhr, game warden Carl Sundstrom, and area biologist Bob Farmes received numerous telephone calls from hunters inquiring whether or not an executive order or commissioner's order curtailing the "chicken" season had been received. No such order *has been received, and the sharp*tailed grouse season will continue until sunset on Oct. 23.

The duck hunting season will open at noon on Saturday, Oct. 8, and the reports are not too encouraging. As has been the custom in previous years, the Thief Lake and Roseau areas will attract the most hunters, and provide the best hunting.

There is a good concentration of ducks in Mud Lake, and a fair number of ducks in Thief lake, but these ducks have not established a definite feeding pattern so it's pretty much of a gamble as to where the best shooting will be.

Field shooting, which for a number of years has provided the hunters with great sport and some fine ducks, will be rated as poor. Conditions this fall have been ideal for farm work, and the result is that practically all of the stubble fields adjacent to Mud Lake and Thief Lake have been turned under.

While the duck shooting outlook isn't too bright, and will have to await the flights from the north, the prospects for goose hunting this weekend are glowing. For the past week or so there has been a steady flight of geese coming into the refuges here. Hunters have been making a run on the stores here in town, stocking up on number two's and bb's. The hopes are that the goose hunting will approach last season's banner year.

Eighth Grade Football

Alan Adams' up-and-coming eighth grade football team marked up a win and a loss in a pair of football games played last week. Playing at Crookston last Thursday afternoon, the locals dropped an 18 to 13 decision to the future Pirates. In a game played here on Monday afternoon, coach Adams' squad defeated the Warren eighth graders, 20 to 0.

The locals will play the Fosston team at Fosston this afternoon, Thursday, at 4:15 p.m. In a previous game between the two clubs, played here, the locals, on a pair of long runs by Dick Nelson, defeated Fosston, 13 to 6.

One of the bright prospects for future Prowler football teams is quarterback Dick Nelson. Nelson, a son of the Seymore Nelsons of RFD 4, is a rangy youngster who is possessed of good speed, and a desire for the bodily contact of football.

Urges Employment of Handicapped Persons

Throughout the nation, one of the nation's outstanding programs in human relations, National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, is being observed this week.

The purpose of this special week is to focus attention of employers upon the advantages, to them, of employing handicapped workers, and to supply impaired men and women with facts they need to know about services, both governmental and private, which are available to them for job placement, rehabilitation and training.

Handicapped workers do not want, nor expect, special privileges on the job. They only desire equal consideration with other applicants with regard to the ability necessary to perform the job. Impaired men and women who are handicapped are human beings. They too must live. They must work or be supported by public funds if they cannot support themselves by other means. When they are employed in useful work they help not only themselves but contribute to the economy of the entire community, state, and nation. Surveys made by Government Commissions, Labor Unions, and private industries have proven performance and work records:

1. The handicapped worker's production rate is as good or better than that of able-bodied workers.
2. Handicapped workers have a lower rate of turnover.
3. The safety record of the handicapped worker is about the same as that of the able-bodied worker, though even here they have a lower rate for disabling injuries than the unimpaired worker.
4. Handicapped workers absentee records compare favorably with that of the unimpaired worker.

Every unemployed handicapped person is a potential producer in some job. When he is placed on the right job his impairment does not count, only his ability to perform the job requirements. It is what the worker can do that counts, not what he can't do.

Handicapped individuals who *are seeking full time employ*ment and who are not listed with the Employment Service are invited to contact the state employment office in Thief River Falls, located at 316 LaBree av. N. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Employers who have job openings for which a handicapped worker can qualify are invited to call MUrdock 1-1100, Thief River Falls, and a representative of the State Employment Service will be glad to assist in locating a suitable applicant for your job opening.

Cornstalks May Be Dangerous to Use after Drought

If your section of the country has been unusually dry this summer, your cornstalks may be too dangerous to feed.

A type of poisoning called cornstalk disease has been identified in several states when it's been dry during the latter part of the growing season, and cattle grazed on drouth-stricken cornstalks, says the October issue of Successful Farming magazine.

As a general rule, symptoms appear about five days after corn has been picked and cattle allowed to feed on the stalks. An uncertain, wobbling gait is apt to be noticed first. Most animals gasp for breath and act crazy or seem to be blind, says the magazine. Some will show signs of colic, or quiver, keel over, and twist themselves in frightening convulsions.

You can test suspected cornstalks by applying two different solutions, available through your veterinarian, a few seconds apart. It's usually best to slash the stalks and apply the solutions to the exposed pith three or four drops at a time, says the magazine.

Poison is indicated by a change of color to various shades of red. These solutions can also be used for nitrate testing.

Lumber Firm Gets $350,000 Loan

Miles Lumber Co of Minneapolis has been granted an 11-year $350,000 loan from Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. The funds will be used for loans to "dot-it-yourself" home builders and for expansion of the company, of which Miles Fiterman, formerly of Thief River Falls, is president.

Officers Invite Youth to Join 4-H

State Federation Head Extends Invitation

"In 4-H the more you do, the more you want to do."

These are the words of the new president of the Minnesota State 4-H federation in issuing a special invitation to boys and girls in the state to join a 4-H club this fall.

The four new officers of the state's 50,000 4-H'ers assume their duties this month by taking an active part in the annual 4-H membership drive now under way in this county and throughout the state.

The officers are: Ina Street, 17, Mahtomedi, president; Richard Tangen, 18, Hawley, vice president; Sonja Lake, 17, Aitkin, secretary; and Gary Johnson, 18, Delavan, treasurer.

In urging boys and girls in the county to join a 4-H club this fall, Ina made this comment, "4-H is like other organizations, you get out of it exactly what you put into it, except that in 4-H the more you do the more you want to do." According to Gary and Richard, 4-H is a place to learn the "give and take of being a leader and a follower.

All four officers point out that 4-H'ers make many new friends and get acquainted with people all over their county.

4-H work is training thousands of young people to be better citizens, in teaching them skills in leadership and personal development, homemaking and farming, and is showing them the way to greater enjoyment of rural and urban living, the officers add.

U.S. Army to Buy Valley Potatoes, Says Rep. Langen

Congressman Odin Langen received word Monday that an Army representative will be in the Red River Valley area during the week of October 10 for the purpose of inspection and site-buying of potatoes. Langen received this information in response to an inquiry he had made about the policy which the Army will follow this year in the purchasing of potatoes. It had been mentioned in some quarters that there was a possibility of no Army purchases of Red River Valley potatoes this year.

"An educated man is not necessarily a learned man or a university man, but a man with certain subtle spiritual qualities which make him calm in adversity, happy when alone, just in his dealings, rational and sane in all the affairs of life." —Ramsay MacDonald

It Sounds Reasonable

One solution for the problem of providing more classrooms for our steadily increasing school enrollment is greater utilization of the classrooms we now have. Most of our classrooms are used only a few hours a day and most of our schools remain completely idle for months at a time each year.

Experiments in greater utilization are proving successful and many educators predict four 12-week quarters as standard operating practice, using the schools all 12 months of the year.

One authority has estimated that if all schools in the nation would operate 48 weeks in the year with staggered enrollments, such operation would immediately create the equivalent of 440,000 additional classrooms, representing a construction cost of $18 billion without an additional penny of cost to anyone.

Under such operation students would be permitted to attend any three quarters a year or all of them if they so wished. It sounds reasonable.

Ninety Days

Senator Kennedy seems to be trying to prove that under the Eisenhower administration we have become a second rate power and are no longer respected by our former friends thruout the world. He is going to change all of this in a hurry if he is elected. Within 90 days after he becomes President, he says, he will reassert U. S. leadership at home and abroad.

From our observation Kennedy is wrong about our country having become a second rate power. Russia was far ahead of us in the missile field at the time Sputnik was launched, but that was a weakness the Eisenhower administration inherited. Since Sputnik our country has made up for lost time and now, in several respects, we have caught up and surpassed the Russians in this field.

And Kennedy, if he is elected, will have difficulty trying to improve on the Eisenhower record in dealing with other nations. President Eisenhower is held in high regard thruout the free world, and our guess is that it will take more than 90 days for young Kennedy to gain the confidence of such old-timers as Adenauer of West Germany; De Gaulle of France, and Macmillan of Great Britain. It is doubtful that he will ever be as close to them as has been Old Ike. They are not going to live forever, of course, and there may come a time when the young fellow will have opportunities to distinguish himself among their successors, but those things are not done in 90 days.

Kennedy has the enthusiasm of youth and that is commendable. We need a lot of youthful enthusiasm and it serves a good purpose. But at the head of our government we want mature judgment. As the campaign progresses we are becoming more and more convinced that the team of Nixon and Lodge will do the better job of representing us in the very difficult field of foreign affairs.

The Time to Start is Now

University of Minnesota regents are going to make their usual request for larger appropriations to the next legislature. They have agreed to ask for an increase of more than $3 million for pay increases alone. And the usual arguments are being advanced to justify the pay increases.

We hope the legislature will handle these usual requests in an unusual way in the next session by telling the regents that they will have to get along somehow during the next biennium without any appropriation increases. That, we are satisfied, would be in the best interests of higher education in the State of Minnesota.

We recognize the probability that there are a few members of the University faculty who should have salary increases. But we are sure there also are some faculty members who now are overpaid. And there is no justification for across-the-board pay increases each year, year after year. They cannot be justified for the University or for any other group of public employees at any level. Such pay increases are highly inflationary and it is not right to use the taxpayers' dollars to lower the buying power of the dollars the taxpayer has left after he has paid his taxes.

The federal government probably has been responsible for most of our inflation that already has reduced the buying power of our dollar to less than fifty cents. Much of this inflationary pressure has been built by a continuing series of salary increases. Our representatives in Congress have weakened their own position in dealing with wage scales by boosting their own pay and increasing their own fringe benefits. Having dipped deeply into the public trough to enrich themselves they are not in a good position to withstand the demands of other pressure groups.

This last session granted an uncalled for pay increase to 1,570,000 federal employees. This was the eighth salary increase for classified government employees in 15 years, the last one of 10 per cent having been authorized only two years ago.

The evil result of this continual upping of the wage and salary scale is not due entirely to the additional dollars the federal government pays out. The real evil is the influence such a record by the federal government has on the states and other local units of government. State legislatures have followed the bad example of Congress. As did the members of Congress, members of the legislatures have weakened themselves in this argument by helping themselves to more dollars. And as the pay scales for public employees have been forced upward by our public servants, resistance to unwarranted pay increases in private employment has been weakened. That is why our dollars have lost and are losing value.

Some place along the line this trend must be stopped or our dollar will follow the pattern of debased currencies in other mismanaged countries. The soft-money advocates in our country are a much more serious threat to our freedom than is Nikita Khrushchev.

We believe the time to stop the foolishness is right now, and we hope the members of the next legislature here in Minnesota will have the courage to say "no" to all requests for appropriation increases for pay raises.

As for the University of Minnesota and the state's other colleges we are sure they could find the money needed for merit pay increases by more efficient management, higher scholastic standards and the elimination of services and courses that cannot be justified as essential to basic education. Diploma mills for the incompetents should not be operated at the taxpayers' expense.

Still Strong

India's Prime Minister Nehru was not concerned about the effects of Khrushchev's attacks on the United Nations organization. In reply to a newsman's queries about the Khrushchev-created crisis Nehru stated calmly, "The United Nations has never been stronger than it is today."

The one-sided vote of confidence given to Dag Hammarskjold, and the votes on policies and operations in Africa, indicate quite clearly that the newly admitted countries were not emotionally upset by the antics of Khrushchev and Castro. Commenting on the recent developments the Christian Science Monitor observes:

> "On Thursday, President Eisenhower placed his nation's immense power behind the UN. He showed Washington's willingness to subordinate unilateral wooing of African nations, and contribute instead to UN programs of industrial, technical and educational aid.
> "But then came Friday. As one Indian diplomat said, "Mr. Eisenhower appeared to open the door. Mr. Khrushchev slammed it shut." The slamming seemed to some to be so violent as to create a fatal flaw in the UN structure.
>
> "However, Mr. Khrushchev's vehemence was also testimony to the strength that Mr. Nehru sees developing in the world organization. The General Assembly and the Secretary-General have so grown in strength that they are able, by what Mr. Hammarskjold terms "preventive diplomacy," to control situations that once were bottled up in the veto-hampered Security Council. Thus, world peace and stability have been protected in Gaza, Lebanon, and Laos through the Secretary-General's intervention. And now not only pacification but even reconstruction is being tried by the UN in the Congo.
>
> "Despite the sound and fury issuing from Mr. Khrushchev, the United Nations is potentially just as strong as it was last Thursday before he spoke. The fact that he has given up trying to woo its majority in favor of trying to frighten them with ultimatums should not be allowed to obscure that strength."

They Would Dictate

(Sleepy Eye Herald-Dispatch)

A low bid to supply a group of St. Paul schools milk was held up because the bidder was on organized labor's black list as being "unfair."

The assistant superintendent of schools has turned the bid over to the city attorney for his opinion, with the statement that he was fearful children of organized labor parents would not buy the milk following parent instructions.

Alfred Trudean, director of school cafeterias, recommended throwing the bid out and accepting the next higher bid. His recommendation was promptly seconded by two school board members who belong to the Trades and Labor Assembly.

Such is the procedure of too many unions and too many public officials who do their bidding. Such action, carried far enough, will result in American government, both local and national, being no better than it was under the war lords of Old China or the Communist dictators who are now cracking the whip in that country.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"If you knew he drank, why did you marry him?" she was asked.

"I didn't know he drank," she said tearfully, "until one night he came home sober!"

Travelogue

We will put off resuming our regular column until next week, and, at the risk of boring some of our readers, will devote this one to an account of our vacation trip to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, from which we returned last week-end.

Leaving from Minneapolis in company with the wife's sister and her husband, we spent the first day traveling thru central and northern Wisconsin, where we admired the flaming colors of the maple leaves, which were just starting to turn.

The second day we arrived at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, and experienced the thrill of a boat trip thru the MacArthur lock, one of four American locks which lifted us 21 feet from the Lake Huron level to that of Lake Superior. We returned by a huge Canadian steel works and paper mill.

The next day we made the short trip to St. Ignace, Michigan, situated at the north end of the famous Mackinac bridge, a $100 million five-mile-long structure completed a few years ago to connect the Upper Peninsula with the rest of Michigan. We drove across the span, and found the traffic not heavy at this season of the year. The toll is $3.25 for a car and passengers. Incidentally, the bridge presents a beautiful sight at night, when it is outlined in colored lights.

While at St. Ignace, we took another boat trip to Mackinac Island, popular sumer resort and site of the Grand Hotel, built in 1887 and with a porch 880 feet long. We also took a carriage ride around the island, on which automobiles are banned. The numerous horses are a strange sight these days, and they create jobs for several street cleaners.

On our way home thru Wisconsin, we stopped to take a boat trip on the beautiful Dells of the Wisconsin River and viewed some strange rock formations in the overhanging cliffs.

We returned more than ever convinced that the fall season is the best time for a vacation trip, in that we escape the heat of the summer, and the heavy tourist traffic, and have no trouble securing accommodations along the way.

FRIDAY! THE GREATEST
SIXTY-ONEDERFUL CHEVROLET

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear—the new-size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. We started out by trimming the outside size a bit (to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering) but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees, and elbows the undisputed right of way. And the new easy-chair seats are as much as 14% higher—just right for seeing, just right for sitting.

Once you've settled inside you'll have high and wide praises for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupes, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more leg room, too—front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely—what with its deep-well shape and bumper-level loading it holds things you've never been able to get in a trunk before.

Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-etched elegance, it holds steadfastly to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details.

There's never been a trunk like it before! The floor's recessed more than half a foot and the loading height is as much as 10½ inches lower.

IMPALA 4-DOOR SPORT SEDAN—one of five Impalas that bring you a new measure of elegance from the most elegant Chevies of all.

NOMAD 9-PASSENGER STATION WAGON. You have a choice of six Chevrolet wagons, each with a cave-sized cargo opening nearly 5 feet across.

INTRODUCING THE '61 CHEVY BISCAYNE 6

Chevy's new '61 Biscaynes—6 or V8—give you a full measure of Chevrolet quality, roominess and proved performance—yet they're priced down with many cars that give you a lot less! Now you can have economy and comfort, too!

RAMBLER ANNOUNCES STRONGEST GUARANTEE IN AUTO HISTORY

1 LIFETIME GUARANTEE ON NEW CERAMIC-ARMORED MUFFLER AND TAIL-PIPE STANDARD ON ALL '61 MODELS

Born of space-age developments, Rambler announces on all 1961 models a new Ceramic-Armored muffler and tail-pipe guaranteed against defects for the lifetime of the car while in the hands of the original owner. This covers total replacement cost including parts and labor. Every '61 Rambler muffler and tail-pipe is completely covered with a special ceramic coating—similar to that used in rockets and missiles—to give lasting protection against rust and corrosion caused by water, salt and acids. Another Rambler first!

2 12-MONTH, 12,000-MILE WARRANTY EXTENDED TO ALL NEW RAMBLER OWNERS

Now Rambler extends to all new Rambler owners its comprehensive full-year or 12,000-mile warranty, whichever occurs first. In fact, this liberal warranty, announced to dealers more than a year ago, also covers total replacement cost including parts and labor. It applies to all 1961 Rambler models and to 1960 Ramblers still within the warranty period. The normal industry warranty covers only 90 days or 4,000 miles.

Duck Hunting Season Opens This Saturday

To thousands of Minnesota duck hunters the long-awaited opening of the 1960 waterfowl season will come at 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, October 8. Hunters and dogs alike, eager to go after a year-long interlude, will be splashing across the marshes and sloughs to their favorite spots.

A 40-day season will follow, ending on November 16. Ducks may be hunted from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except the opening day. The daily bag and possession limit has been set at 4 and 8 but may not include more than one wood duck and one hooded merganser. There is no open season on redheads and canvasbacks. Hunters may take five American or red-breasted mergansers daily and have 10 in possession. Daily bag and possession limit on coot is 6 and 12, respectively.

"It is unlawul to place decoys or erect blinds in public waters more than one hour before the open season for waterfowl, or to place decoys in any public waters more than one hour before sunrise or to reserve or preempt a shooting location in public waters. The use of automatic loading or repeating shotguns capable of holding more than three shells is prohibited. Plugs in such shotguns must be incapable of being removed without disassembling the gun."

"It is unlawful for any person who has attained the age of 16 years to take migratory waterfowl without having on his person an unexpired migratory bird hunting stamp (federal duck stamp) validated by writing his signature in ink across the face of it," explained Johnson.

"I wish to further emphasize that it is unlawful to transport game birds within the state unless head and feet are intact. Game wardens and federal agents must be able to identify the birds so it is necessary that the head and fee be intact," Johnson said.

Johnson also indicated his force of game wardens will be strengthened by wildlife officers ("deputies") from other sections of the game and fish division. They will actively assist wardens in key areas around the state. Using two-way radios, airplanes and swamp buggies, the augmented field force will be well equipped to handle the army of hunters expected on the opener.

The latest outlook for the duck opener calls for shooting about on a par with last year. Teal and wood duck have been moving south for over a month and may not furnish targets in some localities. Canvasbacks and redheads are still in short supply and are completely protected.

State game officials remind all duck hunters to "let 'em come in close for identification—then you will kill clean or miss clean."

WILDLIFE in Minnesota

by JIM KIMBALL

"Sure, I hunt and fish but why should I join a sportsmen's club?" This question is heard so often it should be answered.

First, I'd say you should join it to have fun. To this you may say that all your local club does is show a film of someone catching fish in Alaska or shooting quail in Georgia, then perhaps gripe a little abou the Game and Fish division, and go home. You consider this more a waste of time than fun. You are right, of course, but join anyway. Because in this case you may not need the club but the club needs you. Sportsmen's clubs are like ships in shoal-filled waters — without capable captains and mates on the bridge they quickly run aground.

However, to be affiliated with a group of active, dedicated sportsmen is not only fun but gives the sportsman his greatest opportunity to do something worthwhile in conservation. A good club must have local projects such as operating a cooperative fish rearing pond, improving a public access to a lake, developing a waterfowl area, building a club house, etc. But by far the most important activity of any group of sportsmen lies in the great influence it can have in national and state legislation.

What your Game and Fish Division does or does not do is something you can do more than talk about. You can do something about it. Remember, the Division operates under the laws passed by the legislature, and with the money collected under these laws and appropriated by the legislature. In short, you, through your legislator, tell us how much of a program we can carry on and how much to spend on it.

A club which is affiliated with some state or regional organization is far more effective than an isolated club and this influence is multiplied again when affiliated with a national conservation organization.

By far the majority of sportsmen belong to no club at all. Yet this large group has relatively little influence on conservation programs compared to organized sportsmen. Why let others speak for you when you can do it yourself? It is also true that sportsmen who become interested in state-wide and national conservation issues become less selfish about local matters and correspondingly more devoted and more powerful concerning good conservation legislation.

It might seem strange for a game and fish director to be encouraging more organized sportsmen which, in effect, means more "advisors". It really is not strange because any thinking wildlife administrator knows that the success of his program depends on organized sportsmen —he could accomplish little without them. Further, he knows that relatively few unorganized sportsmen have enough conservation information to be really helpful. They do not understand how their hunting and fishing license money is used so they are apt to assume it is not wisely spent.

The organized sportsmen are in a position to learn about the state-wide game and fish program and to help further it. Through their resolutions and their legistlative programs they promote what they want in conservation. This is far better than complaining about the things one does not like or does not understand.

We need organized sportsmen who are willing to study our conservation plans, needs and shortcomings — to become well-informed conservationists. Democracy does work, and these sportsmen will play an important role in perpetuating Minnesota's great wildlife resource —why not be one of them?

Trees Available for 1961 Planting

Forestry Division Has 19,000,000 More Trees

The Minnesota department of conservation's forestry division announced today that state tree nurseries still have approximately 19 million trees available for those wishing to place orders for delivery next spring.

Director of forestry E. L. Lawson said today that in past years the supply of trees was such that the more popular species were usually completely committed a few days after the opening date for placement of orders.

Lawson attribued the present available supply to the fact that the tree nursery program was expanded to supply 42 million trees this year against last year's 24 million.

Of the 19 million trees to be sold, 10 million are the popular Norway pine. The supply of this species is usually exhausted only a few days after orders are first accepted for the coming year's planting season.

In addition to the Norways, there are about 1½ million each of jack pine and white spruce, and 200,000 balsam fir and deciduous or broadleaf species left in stock. However, Lawson said no more orders can be filled for scotch pine, ponderosa, black or blue spruce.

GOODRIDGE . . .

Education Group to Convene Oct. 20 & 21

Educators from virtually every elementary and secondary school in Minnesota will attend the Minnesota Education Association's centennial convention in the Twin Cities this month.

"The fact that this is the centennial convention will boost attendance to a record high," said June Oterness of Hutchinson, MEA president. "We expect more than 20,000 compared with the previous high of about 18,000 at our last biennial convention, two years ago."

The centennial convention, Oct. 20-21, will be headquartered in St. Paul. But, because it is the state's biggest convention, many delegates will stay in Minneapolis, and many of the sessions will be held there.

With a membership in excess of 27,000—to which it has grown from the fewer than 50 who launched the MEA in Rochester a century ago—the organization includes most of the state's public school teachers and administrators and many from parochial and private schools.

Principal speakers will be Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels, New York University educational sociologist; Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture association of America, the Association of Motion Picture Producers, and the Motion Picture Export association of America, and Dr. Max Lerner, author, journalist and professor at Brandeis university.

Also scheduled are more than 65 luncheons, dinners, coffee hours, receptions and teas that will be conducted by special education groups, alumni organizations and others, and more than 20 section meetings covering topics ranging from adult education through art and business education to science.

Other dignitaries who will appear during the convention are local civic and school officials, Gov. Orville Freeman and Clarice Kline of Waukesha, Wis., high school teacher who is president of the National Education association.

Marshall History Unit Tour Sunday

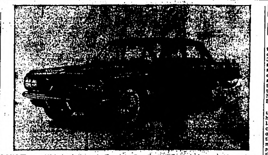
A tour to eastern Marshall county will be sponsored by Marshall County Historical Society Sunday, October 9, with local arrangements being made for the society by Delmar Hagen, Gatzke.

Those attending the traveling tour will meet at the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge headquarters at 2 p.m. where someone will give them a brief history of the refuge and a brief tour of the wildlife area.

The tour will then proceed directly to Thief Lake where they will be served coffee at 3:30 p.m. by a group of ladies from that area. Carl Berg and Erling Giltvedt, pioneers of the area, will give brief histories of the area and answer questions.

The tour is free of charge and families are especially invited to congregate at the Mud Lake Refuge.



BUILT on a 112-inch wheelbase, the Tempest sedan which will go on display at Wiener Motors in Thief River Falls October 6 features a four-cylinder, front-mounted engine, a rear transmission and unit body construction, with an overall length of 189.3 inches. Carrying out Pontiac's famous wide track design, this family-sized car has a roomy interior, a flat floor and a spacious rear luggage compartment. Fifteen exterior colors in durable acrylic lacquer and luxurious interiors in 14 different trim combinations are available.

Nation's Mail Volume Reaches Peak in 1960

A new all-time high in the nation's mail volume was reached during fiscal year ending June 30, 1960, which continued the steady upward trend of the past seven years at a rate which even exceeds the population growth, according to advance information from the annual report of the postoffice department which has been made available to Postmaster R. J. Dryden.

Although subject to last minute revisions, the year's total has been estimated as 63.6 billion pieces of mail which includes about one billion pieces of parcel post. It was stated that this would mean an increase of nearly 25 per cent over the corresponding figures for 1953 when the annual volume was 50.9 billion pieces.

During this same period, it was pointed out, the revenue of the department also has shown an impressive gain with an increase from $2,091,714,000 in fiscal year 1953 to $3,276,800,000 for fiscal year 1960.

"There is not much we can do about how much mail we have to handle from day to day or how many people are making use of the postal service," Postmaster Dryden stated, "but the whole department keeps busy in devising ways and means for doing the job not only more efficiently but more economically."

"There is perhaps no better way of demonstrating the department's ever-improving efficiency than by showing just how steadily the annual volume handled per man-year of employment—excluding city carriers—has been increasing since 1953. In that year the total handled by one man was 132,000 pieces of mail. For 1960 the corresponding figure was 157,000.

"It is, of course, true that all the additional service has made it necessary to take on many new employes and that our total increased from 506,520 in 1953 to 562,868 on June 30, 1960, but as pointed out in the original 1960 report figures, the workload increase during this same period was nearly 25 per cent.

Five bales of hay that fell from an unidentified truck Sunday on Highway 2, caused $200 damage to a Grand Forks N. D., car, according to the Polk county sheriff's office.

Richel H. Torgerson, 28, was driving east from Crookston when the mishap occurred. Three miles past Marcoux Corner he met the truck loaded with baled hay.

As the two vehicles passed each other, the bales fell, hitting the front of Torgerson's car.

Fast, New Test of Antibiotics in Milk Developed in Iowa

Iowa State University bacteriologists have developed a fast new test for determining antibiotic concentrations in milk, according to Earl O. Wright, extension dairyman. The faster test techniques may mean important saving to dairy producers and creamery operators.

Procedures in common use now require at least two and a half hours to complete. A faster test can enable milk plant and creamery operators to detect antibiotic residues in milk before the milk is used at the plant.

This will protect the creamery and its patrons from the risk of loss through mixing contaminated milk with the creamery's total permitted in milk for human milk supply. No antibiotic is use and antibiotic-contaminated milk is condemned and destroyed.

The new test uses a selected strain of bacteria called bacillus stearothermophilus. The bacillus is so sensitive it can detect as little as eight one-hundredths of a unit of penicillin per cubic foot of milk.

Many Iowa dairy plant laboratories already have a water bath that can be re-set for temperatures suitable for the new test. The test is run at temperatures of 142 to 145 degrees Fahrenheit.

FROM NOW ON...

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

School Boards Assn. Asked to Prove Claims

Assn. Says Schools Suffer Shortage of State Aid Funds

Minnesota School Boards association (MSBA) was asked Saturday to support—or withdraw—its claim that a "financial crisis" on school aid payments demands a special legislative session.

The request was made by Arthur Naftalin, state commissioner of administration, in a letter o William Wettergren, MSBA executive secretary.

It was Wettergren who last week set off a furor with distinct, if unintentional, political overtones.

He announced that MSBA directors unanimously had asked Gov. Freeman to call the legislature into special session by Dec. 1 unless another solution is found for districts forced to borrow money while their state aid checks are delayed. Minneapolis and St. Paul will get 85 per cent of their expected aids.

The state board of education decided to favor the two largest cities in year-end aid payment. The two cities operate schools on a calendar year basis and were faced with year-end school closings to bring their books into the required balance by Dec. 31.

Naftalin has called a meeting for 10 a.m. today in the Centennial office building, St. Paul. He has invited Wettergren and the MSBA board, the state board of education, and any other interested persons or groups, to ascertain the facts of the situation.

In his letter to Wettergren, Naftalin said the MSBA request for a special session has caused "widespread confusion," and declaires that the state education department "has again advised us that the information it has relating to state aids is at wide variance with your board's understanding of the situation."

"Both Commissioner (Dean M.) Schweickhard and Assistant Commissioner (T. J.) Berning have advised me that they do not believe there is a "financial crisis" or that there is need to summon a special session," Naftalin declared.

(It was learned yesterday that Berning was advised of the MSBA statement before its issuance and told Wettergren he saw no need for a special session.

Naftalin also pointed out that the total of all school aids paid this year—$52,684,127—is $10,000,000 more than had been paid at the same time last year and added:

"I find it puzzling that your group should conclude that there is a 'financial crisis' this year when we have actually distributed $10,000,000 more than what was paid last year."

E. H. Pomerenke Is Hurt in Collision

Hospitalized Here after Accident Near Gonvick

E. H. Pomerenke, the father of Mrs. Kermit Maidment, who lives with the Maidments near Goodridge, and in Bemidji was seriously injured in an automobile collision near Gonvick early Thursday afternoon while enroute to the Maidment home.

Pomerenke had taken a short cut on a county road, according to Kermit Maidment, and was struck broadside by a car driven by Raymond Peterson, whose home is near the crash scene. Peterson had just bought the car and was enroute to his home from Bemidji where he is employed.

The crash occurred at a blind intersection about a mile and one-half north of Gonvick, Maidment said. Pomerenke was taken to the hospital at Bagley but was transferred to the hospital here Friday.

He suffered several broken ribs and other injuries, according to attendants.

Speaker Named for Dinner Wednesday of Credit Unions

Ed Benysek, Director of Organization, Will Be Speaker in Eagles Hall

Ed Benysek, director of credit union organization and field services for the Minnesota League of Credit Unions, will be the principal speaker at the annual Credit Union Day dinner of the North Red River Valley chapter of Credit Unions of Minnesota, Wednesday evening, October 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Eagles auditorium in Thief River Falls. Harry Hendrickson will serve as toastmaster.

Benysek will speak from more than 25 years' exceperience in the credit union movement. He was a machinist in the N.P. Railroad's Como shops at St. Paul at the beginning of the depression when the N.P. personnel in St. Paul organized their credit union.

There are few who can explain better than Benysek, the unique character of the Credit Union, which is owned and operated by its members, who save in it together, borrow from it at a low rate of interest, and yet manage to pay dividends at the end of each year. The credit unions pioneered the idea of "insured loans" when it was said that such a thing could not be done. Now every credit union member automatically has his loan insured from the moment he first makes it, at no extra cost to him. Members also enjoy a "life savings insurance" plan whereby beneficiaries not only receive the savings, but also a matching insurance.

The credit union idea is not a new one. This year's observance marks the 111th anniversary of the founding of the first credit union in Germany in 1849.

Today, there are 24,500 credit unions in North America, with a membership of 13 million whose collective savings approaches $4 billion. There are 20,000 credit unions in the U.S. alone.

Mrs. Merle Wakefield of Hartland, Minnesota, Mrs. Dake Ayers, Mrs. Sadie Ayers and Mrs. Eddie Johnson visited at the Martin Aas home Wednesday.

Many Appear at Hearing on Assessments

Errors Revealed in Some Figures at Street Job Hearing

A sizeable number of residents affected by the 1960 street improvement project appeared at the assessment hearing in the city Auditorium Thursday evening to ask questions of the council and the city's consulting engineer.

The $32,000 project, of which $19,088.05 will be paid through assessments against benefited property, has been completed. Assessments will be made on the basis of $1.65 per frontage foot for streets 40 feet wide, other amounts for streets of other width and $2.30 per foot for curb and gutter. Improvements to side streets were computed so that owners of corner lots will pay 50 per cent of this improvement and property owners of adjoining lots pay 25 per cent of this cost.

Several questions were asked about further work on the streets and it was announced that low spots would be filled and a seal-coat applied.

One question about why two similar properties were assessed two different amounts revealed an error in coputation and the owner of the property assessed the lesser amount found that he would have to pay more.

Arithmetical errors for eight properties were discovered and the hearing was adjourned until the regular October council meeting October 18. Letters will go out to these property owners informing them of the increased assessments.

In general, most questions asked were explained in just a short time and most residents expressed satisfaction with the project. There were a few who felt that the completed job was not what they had expected but it was explained that the materials used to put in streets for $1.65 a foot could not be compared to others on the east side of the city which cost property owners $3.50 a foot using hot mix.

The council's attention was called to boulevard areas where catch basins had been installed and the ground had not been filled. one person expressed the opinion that this is a danger to pedestrians. The council assured the group that filling would be done.

A question was raised as to when the new catch basins would be cleaned out. The council was told that water could not drain through the basins now and, unless cleaned out, would freeze solid and would not drain during next spring's runoff.

Following the assessment hearing, a short special meeting was called at the request of Robert Wurst, city atorney. Wurst told the council that the area vocational school needed a lease on the old repair shop at the airport which is now being used for storage. The facility had been rented on a monthly basis but government regulations require that it be secured by a lease. The council voted to offer a lease at the rate of $15 a month.

After adjournment, the street committee met to consider projects for the coming year and to prepare its budget requests.

Lake Agassiz Council Joins in National Effort

More than 4,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Lake Agassiz Council and their leaders, will join with over five million members of the Boy Scouts of America on Saturday, Out-the-Vote campaign. In keeping with the character building and citizenship training emphasis of the Scouting program, the Boy Scouts of America are conducting this campaign as their golden jubilee year national good turn.

As in the pervious national good turns in 1952 and 1956, the Boy Scouts will conduct the campaign in cooperation with Freedoms Foundation, Inc., of Valley Forge.

A colorful Liberty Bell doorknob hanger with the message; "Heed Youth's Call. Ring the bell for freedom. Vote as you please, but vote!", will be distributed to residences on Saturday, October 29, and householders will be asked to display them in their front window for the ten days until election day as a sign of their intention to vote.

As in the two previously mentioned national good turns, this effort is strictly nonpartisan in concept and execution. It is being coordinated by the commissioner staff in the Lake Agassiz Council, with each of the seven district commissioners and their neighborhood commissioners seeing to the distribution of materials to packs, troops and posts in their respective district and community.

The twofold objective, as explained by Dr. Erich Selke, council Scout commissioner, is "to instill in millions of adult citizens the determination to exercise their franchise and thus become an integral part of our government," and "to help the boy himself toward a personal understanding of his responsibility of citizenship."

Traffic on scheduled airlines in U. S. has increased 63 times (number of passenger-miles flown) since 1938.

Have You Had Your Head Examined?

Facing possible defeat in the forthcoming election the Governor has been getting angry and making some pretty wild statements.

Elmer L. Andersen

A couple of weeks ago at a meeting in Fosston he said that any farmer who voted Republican ought to have his head examined.

We believe that any time a public official gets so high and mighty that he thinks anyone who disagrees with him ought to have his head examined, he's been in office long enough. Don't you think so? Isn't such a statement beneath the dignity of the Governor's office? It surely is no recommendation for election to a fourth term, something no Governor has ever had in Minnesota.

Plan now to vote Nov. 8th. It's time for a change.

Neighbors Hold Fall Work Bee on Oen Farm

Friends of Harry and Ray Oen gathered at the Oens' farm south of Thief River Falls Friday for a plowing and baling bee.

The helping hands were extended after Harry's wife had been ill for some time and had been in a hospital in Rochester.

By the time they had completed the day's work, twelve men together with Harry and Ray Oen had baled straw on 26 acres and had plowed the fields using 13 tractors and 38 bottoms.

Those who worked in the fields were Kermit, Carl and Elmer Finstad, Frank Heinze, Clayton Mathson, Marvin Koop, Wallace Reierson, Gene Randorf, Ole Bergland, Tim Breiland, Lloyd Hogenson and the Oen brothers.

Nine women came to do the housework and to prepare a noon meal for the workers. They were Mmes. Jerry Amundgaard, Leo Travnicek, Ralph Hill, Elmer Sandberg, Arnold Larson, Sig Sinding, Wendell Olson, Ormond Johnson and Craig Larson. Others prepared and sent food for the dinner.

Mrs. Oen and Harry returned from Rochester Thursday and were surprised by their friends the following morning when the work began.

Name That Name

Mrs. Wilkens, our kindergarten teacher, told me this one about her first day of class.

"To get acquainted with the new children," she said, "I go around the classroom and ask them to recite their names."

"What's your name?" I asked one little boy. "Freddie," was the reply. "You mean Frederick," I said, "We use only our proper names in class." So when I asked the next little boy what his name was, he stood up proudly and answered, "Boberick, ma'am!"

From where I sit, Bobby reminds me of folks who think what's-right-for-one must-be right for another. For instance, my neighbor used to scoff at my having a good glass of beer with supper. He believed that only coffee was proper. Truth is, a mealtime beverage, like most other things, is purely a matter of personal preference. When we can respect the other fellow's opinion as well as our own, we'll have passed the first "lesson" in tolerance.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

Last week's weather was a treasure that all northern Minnesota residents would like to put on their calendars every year. How cold and dreary September and October were last year. Now if this weather just holds a little longer our storm windows will be on without my being chilled to the bone. The other afternoon as I was laboriously chipping the putty I put in last year that didn't stick, I couldn't help but wish my husband had told me to give the sashes a pretreatment of linseed oil before I had put the putty in instead of after I was all done. Then this year the storms would have gone on with ease. But now I have the procedure down pat and I hope next year all I will have to do is clean the windows and put them on.

The burden of winterizing at our house is considerably eased when I do the jobs that are time consuming, boring and which (with proper instruction) require very little brain. This leaves my husband free to do the more challenging tasks like installing vinyl doorsills and plastic foam weather stripping. But he better look sharp for since I discovered the "how-to" shelf at the library I may tackle some of the "exciting" jobs myself.

There are many good books on home improvement on that shelf that are a real boon to the average home owner. Two of the most complete ones are published by Popular Mechanics. One is "How to Remodel Your Home" and the other a "Home Improvement Guide." Both cover fully among other things, the steps necessary to truly winterize your house. The editors of these books feel that adequate weather stripping can save 20 per cent in heating costs. The proof of this was brought home to us the second year we lived in our old house by the river. But the savings in fuel meant little really compared to the difference in comfort after we had carefully fitted the windows and doors.

Chapter 12 in "How to Remodel Your House" deals entirely with heat loss and gives ideas about heat leaks in a house that you may never have thought of. We are all set now to insulate inside our house sills between the joists in the basement with fitted pieces of insulating board, something we hadn't thought of until we read chapter 12.

Both the books have good chapters on finishing attics and basements. And the "how-to" shelf has a book which deals solely with these two things. "How to Finish Your Attic and Basemen," by Lockwood and Stanton, deals with all aspects of increasing the living space in your house by making these two areas more functional. Humidity, insulation, framing problems as well as the techniques of providing storage or doing interior finishing are thoroughly covered. You also will find Treves "Complete Book of Basement Improvement" a help if you are considering that as a winter project.

But one of the library's newest additions to the "how-to" shelf is Audel's "Oil Burner Guide." It is a well-illustrated technical guide for installing, servicing and repairing both burners and controls of many different types. It deals with draughts, heat loss and conversions. It doesn't cover heat distribution but the first two books I mentioned do. My personal advice is, if you must dot-it-yourself, consult the "how-to" shelf at the library before, not after, you've tackled the job.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Minnesota

Walter F. Mondale, Attorney General
State Capitol, St. Paul, Minn.

July 8, 1960

Honorable Joseph L. Donovan
Secretary of State
STATE CAPITOL

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to M. S. 1957, § 3.21, you are hereby furnished a statement of the purpose and effect of each of the following proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO LEGISLATIVE SESSION LENGTH; LEGISLATORS' CANDIDACY FOR OTHER OFFICES

By L. 1959, Ex. Sess. c. 89, the legislature has proposed amendments to Art. IV, §§ 1 and 9 of the Minnesota Constitution. Art. IV, §§ 1 and 9 now read as follows:

"Section 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the State, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days; and no new bill shall be introduced in either branch, except on the written request of the governor, during the last twenty (20) days of such sessions, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor."

"Sec. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of postmaster, and no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. IV, §§ 1 and 9 will read as follows:

"Section 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the state, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days unless the session is extended by law enacted at the regular session of the legislature immediately preceding the session for which the extension is made and then only for a maximum of thirty (30) additional days. No new bills shall be introduced in either branch of the legislature after the seventieth (70th) legislative day except as authorized by joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives."

"Sec. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of notary public, but a senator or representative may be elected to any office for which he is otherwise qualified and when elected, his term as senator or representative shall terminate upon his qualifying for the office to which he was elected and a vacancy in his office in the legislature shall thereupon occur."

The purpose and effect of each section of this proposed amendment, if adopted, may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE IV

Section 1. The purposes are:

1. To provide that no session of the legislature shall exceed the term of 90 legislative days unless the session is extended by law enacted at the regular session of the legislature immediately preceding the session for which the extension was made, in which case the extension shall be for a maximum of 30 days.

2. To provide that no new bills be introduced in either branch after the 70th legislative day except as authorized by the joint rules of the Senate and the House.

The effect would be to accomplish the purposes stated.

Since the proposed amendment omits the existing portion of this section "except on the written request of the governor during the last twenty (20) days of such session, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor," this provision would be repealed by implication.

Section 9. The purposes are:

1. To provide that no senator or representative shall, during the term for which he is elected, hold any state or federal nonelective office except for the office of notary public.

2. To provide that a senator or representative may be elected to any office for which he is otherwise qualified.

3. To expressly provide that the term of any senator or representative elected to any office shall terminate upon his qualifying for the office to which he was elected and that a vacancy in his office in the legislature automatically occurs upon qualifying for the new office to which he is elected.

The effect would be to accomplish the purposes stated.

Since the proposed amendment omits the existing provision, "no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature," this prohibition would be repealed by implication.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO CHANGED BASIS FOR REAPPORTIONING LEGISLATURE

By L. 1959, Ex. Sess. c. 47, the legislature has proposed amendments to Art. IV, § 2 of the Constitution and has proposed repeal of Art. IV, §§ 23 and 24.

Art. IV, § 2 now reads as follows:

"Sec. 2. The number of members who compose the Senate and House of Representatives shall be prescribed by law, but the representation in the Senate shall never exceed one member for every 5,000 inhabitants, and in the House of Representatives one member for every 2,000 inhabitants. The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the State, in proportion to the population thereof, exclusive of Indians not taxable under the provisions of law."

Art. IV, §§ 23 and 24 now read as follows:

"Sec. 23. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this State in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and every tenth year thereafter. At their first session after each enumeration so made, and also at their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts according to the provisions of section second of this article.

"Sec. 24. The senators shall also be chosen by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time that members of the house of representatives are required to be chosen, and in the same manner; and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in a regular series. The terms of office of senators and representatives shall be the same as now prescribed by law until the general election of the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878), at which time there shall be an entire new election of all senators and representatives. Representatives chosen at such election, or at any election thereafter, shall hold their office for the term of two years, except it be to fill a vacancy; and the senators chosen at such election by districts designated as odd numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the second year, and senators chosen by districts designated by even numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the fourth year; and thereafter senators shall be chosen for four years, except there shall be an entire new election of all the senators at the election of representatives next succeeding each new apportionment provided for in this article."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. IV, §§ 23 and 24 will be repealed and Art. IV, § 2 will read as follows:

"The legislature at its first session after the 1970 census and each decennial census thereafter made by the authority of the United States shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial, and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts. The number of members who compose the Senate shall not exceed 67 and the number of members who compose the House of Representatives shall not exceed 135. No representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district. The senators shall be chosen by single districts of convenient, contiguous territory and in the same manner as members of the House of Representatives are required to be chosen.

"Representation in the House of Representatives shall be apportioned throughout the state on the basis of equality according to population. Representation in the Senate shall be apportioned in a manner which will give fair representation to all parts of the state. Provided, however, the five counties adjacent to and including the county containing the seat of government of the state having 35 per cent or more of the total population of the state shall have 35 per cent of the members of the Senate computed to the closest whole number.

"If the legislature does not reapportion in compliance with this section at its first regular session after a decennial census, it shall be in extraordinary session immediately after the end of that regular session for the purpose of such compliance only. Such extraordinary session will continue until its purpose is accomplished and the members shall not be allowed compensation or expense reimbursement for service therein.

"Representatives shall be elected for a term of two years and senators for a term of four years. When there is reapportionment of the legislature, pursuant to this section, it shall not be effective until the next election of senators."

The purpose and effect of each section of this proposed amendment may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE IV

Section 2. The purposes are:

1. To provide that the legislature have the power to prescribe the boundaries of congressional, senatorial and representative districts and to make a new apportionment of the senators and representatives among the districts after the 1970 federal census and after each federal census thereafter.

2. To fix a maximum of 67 members in the senate and 135 members in the house.

3. To provide that the boundaries of senatorial districts shall not divide representative districts.

4. To provide that senators be chosen by single districts of convenient, contiguous territory and in the same manner as members of the house are chosen.

5. To provide apportionment in the house on the basis of population.

6. To provide apportionment in the senate on the basis of "fair representation to all parts of the state"; provided that the five counties adjacent to and including the county of the seat of government having 35% or more of the population shall have 35% of the members of the senate.

7. To provide in case of failure to reapportion at the regular session following a decennial census for an extra session for the purposes of reapportionment only, to continue indefinitely until that purpose is accomplished and directing that no compensation or expense reimbursement would be allowed.

8. To provide a two year term for house members and a four year term for senate members.

9. To provide that no reapportionment act should take effect until the next election of senators.

10. To expressly repeal sections 23 and 24 of Article IV.

The effect would be:

1. The three sections now dealing with legislative reapportionment, Art. IV, §§ 2, 23 and 24, would be replaced by the new section proposed. Portions of each of the existing sections are retained but a number of changes are made.

2. The number of the members in the house and senate would no longer be "prescribed by law." The legislature in fixing the number of members would be subject to the maximums stated but control of this matter by the governor through his veto power would be removed.

3. The basis for reapportionment in the house is changed in language from "shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the state in proportion to the population thereof" to "shall be apportioned throughout the state on the basis of equality according to population." While such a change in language ordinarily suggests an intention to change the meaning of the provision involved, it is difficult to ascertain what change, if any, was intended here. The house would continue to be apportioned on the basis of population.

4. The basis for apportionment of the senate would be changed from a population basis to a basis of "fair representation to all parts of the state." The factors which the legislature could consider in determining "fair representation to all parts of the state" are not specified.

5. The provision for a state census every 10th year following the year 1865 would be eliminated. Since the last census provided for was in 1905, the removal of this provision would appear to be without practical effect.

6. The five counties adjacent to and including the county of the seat of government having 35% of the population would have their representation in the senate fixed at 35%, regardless of their present population or any changes in their population.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO SUCCESSION TO GOVERNOR AND CONTINUITY OF GOVERNMENT IN EMERGENCY

By L. 1959, c. 680, the legislature has proposed an amendment to Art. V, § 6 of the Minnesota Constitution. Art. V, § 6 now reads as follows:

"Sec. 6. The lieutenant governor shall be ex officio president of the Senate; and in case a vacancy should occur, from any cause whatever, in the office of governor, he shall be governor during such vacancy. The compensation of lieutenant governor shall be double the compensation of a state senator. Before the close of each session of the Senate they shall elect a president pro tempore, who shall be lieutenant governor in case a vacancy should occur in that office."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. V, § 6 will read as follows:

"The Lieutenant Governor shall be ex officio president of the Senate; and in case a vacancy should occur, from any cause whatever, in the office of Governor, he shall be Governor during such vacancy. The compensation of Lieutenant Governor shall be double the compensation of a State Senator. Before the close of each session of the Senate they shall elect a president pro tempore, who shall be Lieutenant Governor in case a vacancy should occur in that office. In case the Governor shall be unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the same shall devolve on the Lieutenant Governor. The legislature may by law provide for the case of the removal, death, resignation, or inability both of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor to discharge the duties of Governor and may provide by law for continuity of government in periods of emergency resulting from disasters caused by enemy attack in this state, including but not limited to, succession to the powers and duties of public office and change of the seat of government."

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE V

Section 6. The purposes, as expressed by the legislature in § 1 of the act proposing this constitutional amendment, are:

1. To "provide in the constitution for succession to the office of governor in the case of death, removal, resignation or inability of both the governor and the lieutenant governor."

2. To "authorize providing by law for the continuity of state government in emergencies caused by enemy attack in this state."

The effect would be:

1. To provide in case the governor is unable to discharge his powers and duties that these powers and duties go to the lieutenant governor.

2. To authorize the legislature to provide by law for the case of the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the governor and lieutenant governor to discharge the duties of governor.

3. To authorize the legislature to provide by law for continuity of government in periods of emergency resulting from enemy attack including, specifically, provisions for succession to powers and duties of public office and provisions for change of the seat of government but not limited to these.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO VOTING AFTER RESIDENCE IS CHANGED WITHIN 30 DAYS OF ELECTION

By L. 1959, c. 696, the legislature has proposed an amendment to Art. VII, § 1 of the Minnesota Constitution. Art. VII, § 1 now reads as follows:

"Section 1. What persons are entitled to vote:

Residence required. Every person of the age of twenty-one (21) years or upwards belonging to either of the following classes who has resided in this State six (6) months next preceding any election shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time have been for thirty (30) days a resident, for all officers that now are, or hereafter may be, elective by the people.

Citizens of the United States. First—Citizens of the United States who have been such for the period of three (3) months next preceding any election.

Mixed Indians. Second—Persons of mixed white and Indian blood who have adopted the customs and habits of civilization.

Pure Indians having adopted habits of civilization. Third—Persons of Indian blood residing in this State, who have adopted the language, customs and habits of civilization, after an examination before any district court of the State, in such manner as may be provided by law, and shall have been pronounced by said court capable of enjoying the rights of citizenship within the State."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. VII, § 1 will read as follows:

"Every person of the age of twenty-one years or more who has been a citizen of the United States for three months and who has resided in this state six months and in the precinct for thirty days next preceding an election shall be entitled to vote in that precinct, and the place of voting by one otherwise qualified who has changed his residence within thirty days preceding the election may be prescribed by law."

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE VII

Section 1. The purposes, as expressed by the legislature in § 1 of the act proposing this constitutional amendment are:

1. To permit "persons to vote who have moved from a precinct within 30 days from election."

2. To "eliminate certain obsolete constitutional provisions to the elective franchise."

The effect would be:

1. To authorize the legislature to provide by law the place of voting by one otherwise qualified who has changed his residence within 30 days preceding the election. This provision of the proposed amendment is not self-executing and would require legislative action before its purpose would become effective.

2. The "obsolete" provisions would be removed by the adoption of the proposed amendment. The paragraphs in § 1 designated "First," "Second" and "Third" would be eliminated by the adoption of the proposed amendment. The substance of the first paragraph has been incorporated in the proposed amendment. The second and third paragraphs, which related to voting by persons of Indian blood, since they are omitted from the proposed amendment, would be repealed by implication.

Very truly yours,
WALTER F. MONDALE

Auto Literature Taken from Show Room Recovered

According to the dictionary, the word "communicate," means "to make known."

There was a complete breakdown in communications Wednesday noon when a 13-year-old visited the showroom of a local auto dealer to see the new cars.

Following his visit, a box of literature about the new cars and a $35 specifications and color book were missed. A search ended Thursday evening when the literature, all intact, was recovered.

According to the lad who had the material "I asked the salesman if I could have some of the stuff and he told me to help myself." He did.

Biggest Crop of Beets in History of Valley in Sight

The Red River Valley's 1960 sugar beet crop now being harvested around the clock may turn out to be the largest on record.

O. A. Holkesvig, East Grand Forks, district manager of the American Crystal Sugar Co., predicts a yield of 1,280,000 tons of beets from 103,000 acres in the valley.

Plants are processing the crop at Moorhead, Crookston and East Grand Forks on a 24-hour basis.

19-6 Loss to Lakers Mars Homecoming for Prowlers

The Detroit Lakes Lakers, taking advantage of Prowler miscues and with a well-conceived attack ably directed by quarterback Dennis Raffenbeul, snapped streak by scoring a 19 to 6 win the locals' five-game winning over the blue and gold in a Homecoming football game played here Friday night.

The Prowlers will conclude their home schedule this week when, on Friday night, they meet the highly-rated Moorhead Spuds on the Lincoln high field. Kickoff time is slated for 8 p.m.

Minutes after the opening kickoff, which found the Prowlers receiving the ball and defending the north goal, the Lakers had tallied a touchdown in Friday night's tilt here. John Tollefson recovered a Prowler fumble on the locals' 23-yard line to give coach Haldo Norman's club their first scoring opportunity.

Steve Taves hit left tackle for four yards, and fullback Keith Brekken hit the same spot for a first down on the 12-yard line. Tollefson picked up four yards at right tackle, and Taves moved the ball to the 3-yard line on a drive over right guard. Raffenbeul, a southpaw passer, faded off to the left and tossed a pass to Brekken in the end zone for a touchdown. A running play at right tackle failed to add the point, and the Lakers held a 6 to 0 lead.

The Prowlers accepted the kickoff and in six plays moved the ball for a touchdown. Gary Klungness made a 20-yard return of the kickoff, to the Prowler 37-yard line. On a drive through left tackle, Klungness carried to the Lakers' 46-yard line. Three plays added a first down on the Laker 25-yard line. The Prowlers were assessed a 5-yard offside penalty; Klungness tried right end for a yard; and then picked up four yards at left tackle.

A pass, John Aune to towering left end Ron Hanson was completed on the 16-yard line, and as Hanson was about to be tackled he flipped a lateral pass to Gary Klungness who made the catch and sprinted the 16 yards for the touchdown. Aune's sneak for the conversion point was short of the goal, and the game was in a 6-all knot.

The Lakers broke the deadlock on the following sequence of plays when, from their 47-yard line, they moved on three first downs to the Prowler 5-yard line. The two long gainers in the series was a 20-yard run by Brekken, a pass completion, Raffenbeul to Tom Wee, which picked up 17 yards. Raffenbeul, from the 1-yard line, drove over left tackle for the TD. A penalty nullified the Lakers conversion point, and on their second try a pass play was incomplete.

The Lakers marked up their third touchdown, and the game's final points, when they mounted an attack that carried the ball from the Lakers' 20-yard line and, in six first downs, over the south goal. Raffenbeul made the TD on a 2-yard slash over left guard, and then added the conversion on a plunge over left tackle, giving the Lakers a 19 to 6 half-time lead.

In the second half, the Prowlers, after reshuffling their defensive assignments, were able to contain the Laker attack.

Midway in the fourth period the locals made a strong threat at crossing the Lakers' goal, losing the ball on a fumble on the Detroit Lakes' 1-yard line. Gary Klungness intercepted a Laker pass on the Prowlers' 44-yard line to start the drive. A Laker holding penalty moved the ball line. Paul Klungness, running at to the Detroit Lakes' 35-yard right halfback in place of Lloyd Ranum who was sidelined by a neck injury, picked up eight yards; and Aune made a first down ont he 24-yard line.

2 Cars Collide on Crocker at First

One traffic mishap was reported by city police today, the only occurrence to spoil an otherwise quiet week-end.

The crash occurred at 8:20 a.m. Saturday when a car driven by Mrs. Elizabeth B. Carlson, rt. 5, made a too wide turn onto Crocker av. S. from First st. and struck a car driven by William A. Halbasch, city, who was stopped for the stop sign at the First st. Crocker av. intersection.

An estimated $25 damage was caused to the Halbasch car, $85 to the Carlson car.

The Time is Now

If the Washington Wildcats are to be kept away from the city grade school football title, Wednesday is the time to put the "stopper" on George Schlieff's club.

The surprising Wildcats, winners of the two games that they have played against the defending city champion Northrop Indians, will have but two games remaining on the schedule following their tilt on Wednesday afternoon against Roger Dorn's Knox Tigers. Should the Wildcats win on Wednesday, coach Schlieff's team would clinch a tie for the league title.

While the Wildcats will be the favorites in Wednesday afternoon's game against Knox (kickoff time is at 4:30 P.M.) it must be recalled that the Tigers, in an exhibition game against Washington during the intermission of a Prowler football game a couple of weeks ago, scored a 7 to 0 win. Coach Dorn's club, featuring the all-round play of fullback Bill Dicken, won't be overawed by the Washington team.

Last Wednesday afternoon the Washington team defeated a fumbling and erratic Northrop club by the margin of a conversion point, 14 to 13. Coach Dick Brooks' Indians were keyed up for the game, perhaps too much, and the result was several costly fumbles and some crucial penalties. You can't beat the Wildcats by fumbling and committing fouls.

The city grade school league this season appears to be a fullback's league, with each team in the circuit boasting of a hard-running fullback. Washington's attack has been built around the power-running of Bob Marquis; Northrop, while possessing a dangerous passing attack, does rely on the ground-gaining of Dave DuPree ;and the Knox Tigers base their hopes on the ability of Bill Dicken.

Converting teh Infidels

Casey Stengel and his baseball-thumping evangelists made believers of a number of anti-Yankee infidels on Thursday, by their 16 to 3 win over the Pirates ,and Saturday, by their 10 to 0 win.

Of course the Pirates 'victory on Sunday caused some backsliding, and if the Pirates, behind lefty Harvey Haddix, should win today, Monday Stengel's missionary work will have been for naught.

In fact so convincing was the play of the Yankees on Thursday that Harold Eide, a charter member of the "Hang Stengel club," came out with some words of praise for Mickey Mantle. Eide is resentful of all the praise that has been lavished on Roger Maris, and therefore has come out in support of Mantle. This is quite an admission, coming from Eide.

The Black Knights

Judging by the first month of bowling in the men's bowling association competition, it appears that Elmer Poole's Viking Tavern of the Business league, the Black Knights, will ,after a year's lapse, move into the top rank in city bowling .

The Viking Tavern team — Pat Poole, Dwayne Bakke, Art Overbye, Dean Anderson, Fred Jensen, and Larry Gilbertson — holds down first place in the high-average Business league. And the team is bowling at an 850-pin average, the city's best. The Elks Club has an 826-pin overage, the Hamm's Beer an 805-pin average, and the V.F.W. an even 800-pin average.

The high-pin men on the Viking squad are Pat Poole, with a 187 mark, left Fred Jensen with a 184, and Dean Anderson with a 173.

No Complaints

If the shooting at moving targets determines the success or failure of a hunting-season opener, then Saturday's duck hunting opener was a sucess, especially for the hunters who were along the southwest and southeast fringes of the Mud Lke refuge.

The weather, of course, was ideal for having a picnic; and the blue skies were perfect for taking color pictures. But on duck hunting openers who cares for picnics or colored film.

And shooting at the mallards that were trading the Mud Lake boundaries in the vicinty of ditch 200 and Elm lake wasn't any picnic. Very poor percentage. And it is fortunate, too, that numerous cripples were lost in the heavy cover in the ditch 200 aera.

The hunting at Thief Lake was very spotty, with the consensus being that the greatest concentration of mallards is in Mud Lake. Thief Lake, though, did produce considerable goose shooting.

Walt Peterson, Wally DuChamp, and Art Johnson, hunting east of highway 219 and along ditch 20, bagged six geese on Saturday. The birds were Canadas. Cy Gaiss, hunting the Roseau bog area, was successful in bringing down a 10-pound Canada goose. And on Sunday, J. K. Stadum and Bob DuChamp combined in getting a honker. According to Bob, the Canada had a wing-spread of twenty feet and weighed about twenty lbs. Fact is, it was about a 10-pounder. That's just right for Thanksgiving Day dinner.

Grade School Football League

Results of last Wednesday's game:

Schedule, Wednesday, Oct. 12
Washington vs. Knox.

Coach George Schlieff's Washington Wildcats took a commanding lead in the city grade school football race by defeating the Northrop Indians, 14 to 13, last Wednesday afternoon. It marked the second time that the Wildcats had been successful in defeating the defending champion Indians.

This week, in a 4:30 P.M. game on Wednesday, Washington will play the Knox Tigers on the Lincoln high school field. Knox, in their one start to date, dropped a 27 to 14 decision to the Northrop club.

In Wednesday's tilt, Washington will play the Knox Tigers on the Lincoln high school field. Knox, in their one start to date, dorpped a 27 to 14 decision to the Northrop club.

In Wednesday's tilt, Washington scored on the opening play of the game when fullback Bob Marquis took the Northrop kickoff and ran forty yards for a touchdown. Marquis plunked for the extra points, giving the Wildcats a 7 to 0 lead.

In the second period, Northrop's Dave DuPree went forty yards on an end sweep for a touchdown, and when Jon Lanker sneaked over center for the conversion, the game was tied at 7-all.

Northrop moved into the lead alte in the second period when Billy Olson scored on a pass from Loker, the play covering twenty-five yards. The try for the point failed ,and the Indians held a 13 to 7 lead at the intermission.

Washington took the kickoff to start the third period, and on a series of line plays with Marquis making much of the yardage, the Wildcats drove for a touchdown. Marquis scored from five yards ou,t Washington added the extra point to take a 14 to 13 lead which they maintained the balance of the game.

The Northrop Indians, in their anxiety to avenge the earlier defeat they had received from the Wilcats, committed numerous penal ties, and were guilty of several costly fumbles.

Duck Hunters Told to Save Gizzards

Should Also Save Crops, Says Conservation Dept.

The Minnesota department of conservation announced last week that hunters who shoot ducks at the Thief Lake hunting grounds are requested to save the gizzards and crops of their ducks.

Department officials said the gizzards and crops will be checked to see what type of vegetation the birds are eating. The identity of the birds is also needed.

Attempts will be made to pass out small containers at Thief Lake checking stations, the officials said. Hunters interested in cooperating with the department may contact Bob Farmes, area game biologist.

Bags containing the crops and gizzards will be collected at the Torgerson Oil Co. here for hunters in the Thief River Falls area, the officials stated.

Prowler Track Men Do Well in Meet at Fargo

Coach Rod Max's Prowler cross country squad participated in the Oak Grove invitational meet at Fargo on Wednesday and, with a total of 83 points, finished as runners-up to the Fargo Central squad. Fargo had a total of 50 points, while the third place Fergus Falls Otters had 100 points. (In cross country competition, the low score is the winner.)

Eleven school participated in the meet which was run over a 1.6 mile course. Grim, a member of the Fargo Central squad, won first place and set a new record by running the distance in 7:11.4.

The team totals were Fargo Central, 50; Thief River Falls, 83; Fergus Falls, 100; Oak Grove, 136; Moorhead, 151; Grand Forks, 170; Morris Aggies, 182; Crookston Aggies, 199; Fargo Shanley, 209; Breckenridge, 273; and Detroit Lakes, 305.

The district cross country meet will be held here on Tuesday, October 11, at 4:30 p.m. Teams from Oslo, Crookston, Warren, and Thief River Falls will compete.

Cut Down Number of Crippled Ducks, Is Plea to Hunters

Game and Fish Divison Director Urges Letting Ducks Get Within Range

All duck hunters were today urged to let ducks get well within range before shooting. "With the continental waterfowl resources already suffering from a steadily mounting loss of wetlands habitat, and such species as canvasbacks and redheads scarce enough to require complete protection this year, it is imperative that hunters make a sincere attempt to reduce the needless loss of ducks through crippling," urges James Lee, assistant to the director, Minnesota game and fish division.

"When ducks are within range you kill clean or miss clean, and you can better tell 'cans' and redheads from other ducks. Crippling of ducks early in the season in Minnesota is particularly discouraging for in large measure they are own resident nesting ducks."

Lee suggests the following as a means of helping to reduce the crippling loss:

1. Use the correct size shot with maximum loads to insure a clean kill.

2. Don't try to beat the other fellows in the marsh and shoot at ducks too far away—let ducks come well within range.

3 Be equipped to wade the marsh in search of your downed duck. Water depths may be over your head—a boat is a must.

4. Mark your downed duck carefully, using trees, stumps, distant houses, etc., as guides. Then get right over there and look hard for that duck.

5. A retriever dog can add a lot of enjoyment to your hunt and statistics prove the hunter with the dog has a lower crippling loss.

"If all the hunters will let 'em come in close they will kill clean or miss clean. When the last shot is fired on November 16, some 25 per cent of the ducks knocked down will be lost cripples—don't let your gun do the crippling," concluded Lee.

Man To Lift 173 Tons In 50 Seconds

Only one man will be needed to operate this gigantic stripping shovel which will be the world's largest mobile land machine. Size comparisons are fantastic . . . it will reach as high as the deck of the Golden Gate Bridge . . . stand 45 feet higher than Niagara Falls. Total height is 220 feet from ground to boom point, or that of a 20-story building!

Almost twice the size of any excavator ever built, it will scoop out 173 tons of earth, deposit it 464 feet away, (the length of a city block) and 50 seconds later return for the next bite. The material removed by this shovel in one month could fill all the cars in a train stretching from Pittsburgh to Chicago. In one day, the 115-cubic yard dipper will uncover enough coal to heat 7,500 homes for a month; the coal energy in that amount could power 20,000,000 washing machines.

The operator will take a private elevator to reach his air-conditioned "office," five stories up. He will control the machine with only two hand levers and two foot pedals, moving the half million pounds of material at speeds up to 25 miles per hour.

Bucyrus-Erie Company, South Milwaukee, Wis., is building the giant shovel for the Peabody Coal Co., St. Louis. It will be completed in two years, and component parts will be shipped to a mine site in western Kentucky by more than 250 railroad cars. Erection will take six to seven months at the site. The mammoth excavator will lower the cost of mining deeply buried coal which otherwise could not be recovered by strip mining methods.

Cite Contributions of Railroads to State

Minnesota's state and local governments collected a total of $12,000,000 in taxes from railroads last year, according to a state-by-state economic study just released by the Association of American Railroads.

Railroads during 1959 also provided jobs for an average of 26,000 people in Minnesota, pouring an annual payroll of $160,000,000 into the economic lifestream of the state, the A.A.R. reported.

A key purchaser as well as a hauler of Minnesota's products, railroads spent an estimated sum of $34,000,000 in the state in 1959 for operating supplies, fuels and new equipment, the A.A.R. pointed out.

All totaled, the railroads pumped $206,000,000 into the economy of the "Gopher State" last year, underscoring their basic role as a taxpaying citizen, employer and purchaser.

Minnesota's railroads comprise an immense plant of tracks, stations, shops, signals and communications and rolling stock. Within the state, 14 Class I lines operate a network of 8,645 miles of road. In addition, three Class II lines operate 132 miles of track, and five switching and terminal companies serve the area.

Providing all-weather access to all parts of the country, Minnesota's 17 railroads originated about 35,000,000 tons of iron ore in a typical recent year, or 45 per cent of the total national rail movement of this commodity. In addition, the railroads originated some 10,000,000 tons of Minnesota's products of agriculture, including approximately 2,000,000 tons of barley and rye—equal to one-fourth of the total U.S. rail shipment of these grains. The railroads also originated 1,600,000 tons of products of forest, and 4,800,000 tons of manufactures and miscellaneous products.

Altogether, 56,100,000 tons of railroad freight were originated, and 40,300,000 tons were terminated in the state during the year.

Marshall Co. Board Reappoints Two

Collins and Westberg Named Veterans' Officers

Re-appointments of Charles A. Collins, Middle River, and Hilding A. Westberg, Warren, as veterans service officers for Marshall county were confirmed by the county board of commissioners in Warren last Tuesday.

Both of the service officers will receive salaries of $50 per month, which has been the scale for the past year. The appointments are until August 1, 1961.

Commissioners also approved the appraisal list of agricultural lands in the conservation area which is to be submitted to the state prior to the annual sale which will be held later this fall.

Robertson Lumber Co. with a bid of $20.50 per ton for treated stoker coal, was awarded the contract to supply coal for the court house during the present heating season. Peavey Elevators submitted the only other bid at $20.60 per ton.

State Bankers Get National Award for Farm Service

Honored by American Bankers Association for Service to Agriculture

The outstanding service which Minnesota banks have given the state's farmers, both through regular banking service and through special activities in the agricultural field, has received special recognition from the American Bankers association, the national organization of the banking industry.

The association's agricultural committee chairman, John H. Crocker, Decatur, Illinois, has notified the Minnesota Bankers association that it has been awarded the committee's annual agriculural award on behalf of the bankers of the state.

The award is presented each year to the state bankers associations of those states whose banks have been of notable service to agriculture during the preceding year. This is the 22nd year that the state's banks have received the award, indicating the continuous nature of the bank program in agriculture.

The awards are presented to recognize the wide range of projects which bankers carry on as a means of bringing greater understanding and cooperation between the farm and financial communities. Included are such activities as cooperation with the extension service and other officials of the state agricultural college sponsoring educational programs on farm financial matters, support of farm youth groups such as Future Farmers of America and 4-H clubs, promotion of soil conservation and land management, and sponsorship of banker-farmer meetings to discuss mutual problems.

Two good books for every home to have handy are (1) the Bible, which discusses the miracles of God, and (2) a seed catalog, which illustrates them.

Admittance to the four lectures will be limited to 175 persons per lecture and will be by season ticket only. The season tickets may be obtained by writing to Polk County Historical Society, Crookston. All lectures will be held in the Valley Playhouse in Crookston.

On November 9, Dr. Johnson will speak on "Excavation at the Crookston Burial Mounds." His lecture will be illustrated with slides taken of excavation made during the summer, and will reveal findings of his group of students from the University of Minnesota resulting from their work in the area during August.

"A government has a role, and a very important one, but the role of government is not to take responsibility from the people, but to put responsibility on them. It is not to dictate to people, but to encourage and stimulate the creative productivity of 180 million free Americans. That is the way to progress in America." —Richard Nixon

A Great Game

That fourth game of the world series played yesterday was a perfect exhibition of the great American sport, thrill-packed to the last pitch. Among those who have no special interest in the outcome of a contest an average person cheers for the underdog, and so for most spectators and viewers and listeners the right team won. Now we're kinda hoping the Pirates will go all the way.

Vote For No. 2

Published elsewhere in this issue are Attorney General Walter Mondale's explanations of the purposes and the effects of the four proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, to be be submitted to the voters at the election next month. The law requires such explanations and such a publication.

The intent of the law is good. The voters should be informed, by an impartial authority, just what changes the proposed amendments would bring.

In his explanation of the purposes and effects of what will appear on the ballot as Amendment No. 2, Mr. Mondale speaks not as an impartial judge but as an advocate representing the special interests of a client. His needlessly long dissertation on this proposal, with its references to vague, uncertain terms, obviously is not intended to explain and clarify but to confuse. In this explanation he represents the thinking of his boss, Governor Freeman, who, while he has given lip service to the justification for area as well as population in apportionment for representation in the Legislature, opposes the amendment as approved by the Legislature. He has favored one that would be more favorable to the metropolitan area.

The opposition of the big city-bosses and the assistance given to them by Attorney General Walter Mondale, makes it likely that Amendment No. 2 will not be adopted. But just to keep the record straight, in order that this amendment may be submitted again two years from now, this proposed amendment is the product of a legislative conference committee that was made up of an equal number of conservatives and liberals and was representative of both the outstate and metropolitan areas of the state.

A majority of all of the members of both houses of the Legislature must approve any proposed amendment before it can be submitted to the voters, which is significant in this instance as evidence that Amendment No. 2 did have the support of both the liberal House and the conservative Senate.

In the interests of good government in Minnesota, and a reasonable bargaining power by both the outstate and the metropolitan areas of the state, proposed amendment No. 2 should be adopted.

A Trying Experience

By a count of 42 to 34 the United Nations general assembly voted to put off for another year the question of Red China's claim to membership in the national organization, established to maintain world peace. That vote favored our side by the smallest margin recorded on the question in the last ten years. From that standpoint the result was discouraging.

But taking into consideration all of the circumstances, the vote certainly was not a victory for Khrushchev. The division was not on the question of admitting Red China to the United Nations. The question was whether or not the request of Red China for admission should be considered, and some of the nations that definitely are friendly to us voted in favor of giving the application for membership a hearing. In this group were Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Ireland and India.

South American countries voted with our side and the young countries of Africa remained preponderantly neutral. That gave no encouragement to Castro of Cuba, and if the main objective of Khrushchev's personal appearance at the general assembly meetings was to gain the support of the young countries of Africa, as most observers believe it was, then he returns to Moscow empty handed.

We can see no reason for special concern over Khrushchev's threats about withdrawing from the United Nations and ignoring its decisions. The Communists withdrew from the United Nations once before and, fortunately, were not in a position to veto the decision to defend South Korea, now looked upon as an operation that established a pattern for United Nations action in dealing with aggressors. Possibly the chances of survival for the United Nations would improve if the Communitsts would withdraw. The free nations of the world would then be in a beter position to deal with them realistically, recognizing them for what they are.

Considering all of the circumstances, we are satisfied that we have survived the Khrushchev visit surprisingly well. Our government remained calm but firm, and seems to have retained the respect and good will of free nations. That is an important thing. Those who represented us at the general assembly meetings may have made some minor mistakes but they committed no major blunders. And they were under constant pressure. A trying experience seems to be drawing to a successful close.

Should Have a Second Look

Members of the International Union of Electrical Workers are on strike at 50 plants of the General Electric Company, largest American manufacturer of electrical products. One of the differences between the company's wage offer and the union demands is the company's refusal to continue the cost-of-living escalator clause.

Under the provisions of an escalator clause, wages are automatically revised up or down at stated intervals according to the cost of living. If living costs go up wages go up. If living costs go down wages go down.

It sounds like a reasonable arrangement. The state of Minnesota adopted it without much of any argument a decade or so ago. The escalator clause has been written into many labor contracts and has come to be looked upon as something we should take for granted. The refusal of one of our greatest industrial organizations to continue the escalator clause is therefore especially interesting.

We are satisfied that the escalator clause is basically unsound in terms of the best interests of our national economy. It is unsound because it automatically tends to accelerate the trend of living costs either upward or downward, whichever it may happen to be.

Using extreme figures for purposes of example, a ten per cent increase in the cost of living, resulting in a ten per cent increase in wages, would mean a big increase in production costs that would in turn add additional pressure for a still higher cost of living. If the incomes of all our people, including our farmers, were geared to a cost-of-living escalator clause, the evil reaction would be more evident.

A stable income tends to maintain a stable economy. If the cost of living drops the income dollar buys more, and increased buying power tends to restore the price level to normal. If the cost of living goes up the income dollar buys less, and reduced buying tends to bring the higher prices down.

During the comparatively few years the escalator clause has been with us, and geared to only a small portion of the nation's income earners, it has resulted in no noticeable harm. But now that we are threatened with another wave of deficit spending and a possible runaway inflation, the escalator clause becomes a greater potential danger.

For this reason we hope General Electric will remain firm in its refusal to continue the escalator clause. This opposition will bring to public attention a question that deserves much more serious consideration than it has received. It will make controversial a formula in the determination of wage scales that has been accepted without due consideration. The escalator clause should have a second look.

Welcome to Nigeria

(Financial Post, Canada)

Nigerian independence, dating from last Saturday, is up till now the most important political leap in the dark continent.

With 35 million people, Nigeria is the biggest African nation. It has a more variegated assortment of languages, religions and tribal customs than the Congo. Will the Nigerians restore the African pride that was seriously damaged by Congolese anarchy?

There are two grounds for being hopeful.

One is that, under British supervision, the Nigerians were intensively educated for home rule. They have an experienced government in office now. Their brightest youths have been trained in many lands, Canada among them, as doctors, public health experts, engineers, teachers, agronomists and so on.

The other encouraging Nigerian fact is black-white partnership in industry. In numerous enterprises the Nigerian government has a half or two-thirds share, outside investors, mainly British, owning the rest. This is the pattern for a cement works, a cotton mill, the Nigerian airline, a TV network (first in Africa), metal window factories and rubber estates.

In Ghana, the other one-time British dependency now on its own, there are more white men today, in government and business posts than there were when it was a colony called the Gold Coast. Nigeria, happily, is likely to follow this good example, continuing to use western skills and knowledge it still needs.

But whatever they do, and no matter how elated they feel in the first flush of sovereignty, the Nigerians have a hard road before them, as the Congo has proved. Older Commonwealth nations welcome them warmly to membership and wish them all success and prosperity.

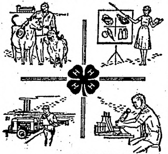
4-H'ERS GEAR FOR OFF-THE-FARM JOBS



Prepared by National 4-H Service Committee, Inc.

Economists now predict that only one out of nine farm youth will make his livelihood by owning or operating a farm.

When this ratio is applied to 4-H Club members who are brought up on farms and ranches, several hundred thousand each year will choose off-the-farm occupations. To better prepare these young people for jobs in industry, education and elsewhere, the Cooperative Extension Service of every state land-grant college or university is keying 4-H educational programs to current trends in jobs.

"The 4-H projects serve as apprenticeships to career explorations," stated Dr. E. W. Aiton of the Federal Extension Service, addressing a group of business men and women whose firms contribute about a million dollars to 4-H work each year.

"Club leaders are placing more emphasis on vocational guidance," he said. Only two out of 10 high schools today offer vocational counseling, and most of these schools are in large cities. Extension workers are teaching boys and girls to "convert the complex cluster of 4-H experiences to day-to-day events," he added.

A recent report states that there are now three jobs awaiting every agricultural college graduate. They relate to research, industry, business, education, communications, conservation, service, and farming.

More than 60 business firms, educational foundations and individuals annually contribute $200,000 in college scholarships besides other incentives in a collective effort to help 4-H Club boys and girls become responsible, self-supporting citizens. This support is provided through national and regional 4-H programs arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee and the Extension Service.

Award donors whose support of 4-H programs ranges from 15 to 45 years are: International Harvester — agricultural; Firestone Tire & Rubber — automotive care and safety; Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen — beautification of home grounds; Kerr Glass — canning; Coats & Clark — clothing; Westinghouse Educational Foundation — electric; Allis-Chalmers — garden; Montgomery Ward — home economics; Sears-Roebuck Foundation — home improvement; Edward Foss Wilson — leadership; General Motors — safety; Sunbeam — home economics.

The Armour, Cudahy and Wilson companies plus Livestock Conservation, Inc., each provide awards in livestock projects. The following railroads contribute educational awards: North Western, Burlington, Santa Fe, Milwaukee, and Illinois Central.

Long-time supporters of the 4-H tractor program are American Oil, Standard Oil Foundation (Chicago), Standard Oil (Kentucky), Standard Oil (Ohio), Utah Oil Refining, and more recently, Humble Oil Refining.

The value of contour farming is clear to a group of farmers who toured soil conservation practices in western Yellow Medicine county. A half-hour before the tour a heavy shower of rain fell. As the group passed contoured corn, water was standing between the rows half way up the hill. A field across the road (farmed up and down hill) had only rills caused by water run-off. The conservation tour was sponsored by the county extension office, the Soil Conservation district and the County ASC office.

A field he tiled two years ago was the only area John Guy, Dexter, could harvest last fall and plant this spring. Guy, a cooperator in the Mower Soil and Water Conservation district, told SCS technician Larry Streif that he was skeptical about the first 25 acres he drained but now is anxious to tile the remaining 125 acres on his farm.

Extra moisture which soaked into contoured corn fields a year ago paid off in extra bushels per acre and completely sold George Lian, Maynard, on contour farming. Lien, a cooperator with the Chippewa Soil Conservation district, did his first contour planting on land laid out by SCS technicians in the spring of 1959. This year he contoured every acre of row crop on his farm that was subject to soil and water loss.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I'm a Korea veteran and, since my discharge, I have been operating a small business of my own. I am eligible, under the law, for a GI loan. Can I use my GI loan to help me expand my business?

A—Yes. Under the law, you may use a GI business loan either for the purpose of undertaking or expanding a legitimate business venture. You must, of course, find a lender who will make you the loan under GI terms.

Q—This fall, I expect to be taking a night course in law under the Korean GI Bill. I will be starting a full four-year course, and at an accredited school, but will only be attending at night. For purposes of my VA training allowance will this be considered full-time or part-time training?

A—Your night school training will be measured as not more than three-quarters time training. It may not be considered as training full time.

Q—A young man of my acquaintance, the child of a World War II friend, now deceased, is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education Act. He would, however, need some special program of education because of a disability. Does the law make provision for that type of training?

A—Yes. The law includes special restorative training to help eligible young men and women overcome the effects of disabilities.

Q—We've just had a baby boy born in our family. I still want my wife to remain as beneficiary on my GI insurance policy, but I'd like to put down my son's name as beneficiary also in case of my wife's death. Can I do that?

A—Yes. Get a change of beneficiary form at any VA office. Fill it out, adding your son's name after your wife's as contingent beneficiary. Send the completed form to the VA District Office where you pay your premiums.

AN IRON MINE CLOSES—and a vacuum is left. Recently, I read that the Columbia Mine, near Virginia, was closed. This medium-sized mine was opened 16 years ago, and during each of these years, this iron mine provided an average of 94 jobs and an average annual payroll of $383,000. It provided a yearly market for $260,000 worth of goods and services, produced in Minnesota. The Columbia also paid an average yearly state and local tax bill of $784,000. Gives you an idea of what mining means to our State, and what we lose when a mine closes. It also shows what our mining companies are up against when a mine closes.

LATEST IN THE absent-minded professor gags: One was bemoaning the conduct of college students in a discussion with a colleague. "Oh, all this talk about college romancing isn't any different than in our day," said the colleague. "I recall how I used to neck with my wife. Didn't you?" "I don't remember," said the absent-minded prof. "What was her maiden name?" . . . U.S. Fire Prevention Week to Open Sunday

In a special Fire Prevention Week message, Lewis A. Vincent, general manager of the National Board, reminded there were 11,300 fire deaths last year, or 200 fewer than the 11,500 for 1958.

Fire losses in the United States last year aggregated $1,047,073,000, a decrease of nine-tenths of one per cent under the $1,056,266,000 for the preceding year, and the first downturn since 1950.

"The intensive work of civic groups, fire departments, schools, churches, commercial establishments, and industrial concerns in promoting fire safety helped shave down last year's toll," Mr. Vincent said.

"The reduction in fire losses last year is all the more significant when you realize that 1959 was a big construction year, and the number of buildings in the United States, and their net worth, was greater at the end of the year than a the beginning.

"Our fire prevention activities must not be limited to Fire Prevention Week, but must be an all-year-round activity," he declared.

"There is no way of counting the untold number of fires that were halted before they started by the efforts on the part of people throughout the nation to reduce fire hazards," he added, "but the figure would have been much higher we know, without intensive fire protection work."

Identification Leaflet on Ducks Is Now Available

"Know Your Ducks," a Field Guide for the Hunter, the duck identification leaflet developed by the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, is now available, according to Herbert H. Dill, Mud Lake Refuge manager.

The leaflet is designed to help the hunter identify the most commonly sought species of ducks. It is especially appropriate at this time since two species, the redhead and canvasback ducks, are on the fully protected list. The leaflet is entirely pictorial except for a minimum amount of reading matter to point out the characteristics of each species essential to identification. The leaflet can conveniently be carried in the pocket. There is no charge.

Of the 23 species shown, there are 17 pairs, drake and hen, and six lone drakes. The lone drakes represent the least hunted of the 23 species.

These leaflets may be secured by hunters at hardware stores, register of deeds, Pennington county court house and municipal liquor store.

Roger Johanneck, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Johanneck of Red Lake Falls, received a broken leg and multiple bruises Sunday, October 2, when he was involved in an auto collision while riding his bike.

The accident occurred around 5:30 near the Johanneck home on the North Side of Red Lake Falls when the boy came onto the hardtop county highway from a side street.

A car driven by Floyd Klopp of Thief River Falls was heading south on the Plummer highway and struck the boy and bike. Roger was taken to the hospital immediately.

He is now recovering at his home and will be wearing a cast for some weeks.

It Is Fair To Share

The Minnesota Legislature has been controlled by the votes of outstate representatives. The Metropolitan Area has complained because the state has not been reapportioned as the Constitution provides — according to population.

Outstate representatives have been unwilling to reapportion on the basis of population alone because that would shift control from the Outstate area to the Metropolitan area.

THE FAIR WAY TO REAPPORTION is by using both area and population as a base.

This would follow the pattern established by the founding fathers when they provided for representation in our National Congress.

By using both the area and the population factors as a base for reapportionment, the Outstate area would have a majority of votes in one House and the Metropolitan area would have a majority of votes in the other House.

Neither the Outstate area nor the Metropolitan area would have a majority in both Houses.

That is what Amendment No. 2 would accomplish — fair representation for both the Metropolitan area and the Outstate area.

TO SHARE IS FAIR

Facilities Limited on New Superior Route

North America's newest scenic drive—the Lake Superior Circle Route—offers travelers a heap of wilderness beauty, but accommodations along the Canadian portion of the 1,100-mile drive are limited, according to a first-hand report by a Minnesota AAA field reporter.

"In recent years, Minnesota travelers could enjoy only the famous north shore drive of the west that runs between Duluth-Superior and the Canadian lakehead cities of Fort William and Port Arthur," said AAA reporter Jim Moffet. "Now, the motorist can enjoy nearly all of Superior's myriad charms from vantage points along any of its shores."

The AA field representative cautioned travelers, however, that overnight accommodations along the 446-mile Canadian stretch of the route—the $40-million link that's been missing till now—are still quite limited, and reservations are a "must."

"Towns along the north side of the lake such as Nipigon, Schreiber, Terrace Bay, Marathon, Wawa and White River have a number of fine places at which to stay," Moffet said, "but there are not enough such places to accommodate the bumper crop of tourists expected during the next two years."

The new Canadian section of the circle drive is the product of several years of superhuman effort in the long-sought completion of the Trans-Canada highway system.

Construction work is not entirely complete, but slows traffic little, according to Moffet. Work remains in progress along a 48-mile section between Nipigon and Schreiber and a 30-mile stretch north of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

With interest running at a high peak since the new route was officially opened Sept. 17, AAA expects travelers from all directions to flock to the new scenic drive during the next several weeks to get a look at the area's spectacular fall coloring.

Minn. Development Unit Adds New Man

Hugh Faville to Assist with Highway Planning

Commissioner J. W. Clark today announced the appointment of Hugh C. Faville as consultant to the community planning section of the Minnesota department of business development. The appointment of Mr. Faville is the first step in a planning program undertaken jointly with the Minnesota highway department.

The duties of this new position will consist of conducting research into the problems of improving the performances of local governments in the planning and development of roads and streets, and controlling land uses affecting highway safety and capacities with special attention given to the procedures required to give local thoroughfare plans a greater influence in state highways.

Mr. Faville comes to the department from the highway traffic safety center at Michigan State University, East Lansing. Mr. Faville is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and holds a masters degree in city planning from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Regarding Mr. Faville's appointment, Commissioner Clark said. "This appointment evidences the state's concern and response to the prolbems of economic adjustment which major highway changes bring to our municipalities. We know from his past record of accomplishment that Mr. Faville will be able to help coordinate the engineers and government and business leaders in a manner which will aid in achieving an acceptable program on the part of those who often represent somewhat different points of view."

Less than a year ago, the automobile industry in U.S. produced its 175 millionth automobile. It took 29 years to produce the first 25 million cars, only four years for the last 25 million.

Withholding No Cure-all for Tax Problem, Is Claim

State Taxpayers Assn. Questions Additional Amount Plan Would Raise

"The extravagant claims of its advocates that withholding will bring in millions of dolars of additional tax revenues to the state treasury have no foundation in fact," Charles P. Stone, general counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, said today.

Observing that withholding will not catch self-employed non-filers, Stone pointed out that it would take a lot of salaried and wage earning non-filers to produce the millions claimed.

"To obtain the $5 million a year additional income tax revenue, over and above any windfall, which some of its advocates claim," Stone said, "withholding would have to add to the tax rolls almost 66,000 salaried and wage earning non-filers with an average tax of $76 each (this was the average income tax paid by salaried taxpayers in fiscal 1958 — the latest year for which such a figure is available).

"Since the salaried and wage earning individuals who would be added to the tax rolls under withholding obviously would come largely from the lower income brackets, the average tax of these individuals undoubtedly would be closer to $38 each than to $76. It would take over 131,000 salaried and wage earning non-filers with an average tax of $38 each to obtain $5 million of additional income tax revenue.

"Even to obtain the $3½ million a year additional income tax revenue which its more conservative advocates claim should be obtainable, withholding would have to add to the tax rolls over 92,000 salaried and wage earning non-filers with an average tax of $38 each.

"We cannot and do not believe that the administration of the Minnesota income tax by our state tax department could possibly be so ineffectual and lacking in enforcement that there are this many salaried and wage earning individuals in the State who are evading their state income taxes by not filing returns.

You may talk too much on the best of subjects.—Ben Franklin

Freeman Calls for Survey of School 'Crisis'

Seeks to Learn How Many Schools Are in Financial Trouble

Developments came rapidly Tuesday in the Minnesota school aid situation which Minnesota School Board association (MSBA) has called a "severe crisis."

MSBA has asked for a special session of the legislature if no other solution is found.

Tuesday's developments included:

Gov. Freeman directed the state education department to make a survey of every Minnesota school district to determine how many actually are in financial trouble—or will be by Dec. 31.

Arthur Naftalin and Dean M. Schweickhard, state commissioners of administration and education, drafted a one-page questionnaire on finances to go to the state's 2,500-plus school districts by the end of the week.

Naftalin disclosed that new revenue estimates indicate most school districts by Dec. 31 will have received 35 per cent, rather than the previously estimated 30 per cent, of their total 1960-61 school aid.

Schweickhard drafted a lengthy letter, also scheduled to go to all school boards in the state, terming the "crisis" charge "without justifiable foundation" and detailing reasons for the state board of education decision to favor Minneapolis and St. Paul in year-end aid distribution.

Freeman's order cited the "obvious disagreement" between MSBA and the education and administration departments which was unresolved by Monday's open hearing.

"The problem," the governor declared, "cannot be dealt with in general terms. Many districts have no problem whatsoever. Many others can make adjustments which will enable them to meet their obligations without difficulty.

Special awards were presented to 21 persons for their consistent and diligent service as officers of local unions in the county. Receiving awards were Alvin Kompen, Hazel Wedul, Martin Wedul, Clifford Arveson, Elaine Radniecki, LaVonne Radniecki, Cornelius Appelman, Marcella Hanson, Evelyn Myrum, Darrow Lundeen, Glen Tasa, Ernest Swanson, Mrs. Sadie Ayers, Mrs. Mavis Langaas, Sam Sorenson, Carl Torgerson, Walter Aubol, Arthur Moe, June Nelson, Manda Hanson and William Rupprecht.

Edwin Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, was the principal speaker at the meeting. He told the members that the county's most important home-owned industry, agriculture, is sustaining a huge loss on the products it is exporting into the commerce of the state and nation.

Christianson said that because of low prices prevailing on farm products, the county will have $1,748,000 less in farm income and purchasing power this year than if the current year's production went to market at full parity prices.

"Real prosperity must be a two-way street," the speaker said. "There must be a balance between the value of the products the farmers send down the road to the consumers and industries of the nation and the payments which come back to him in return."

NEW PRODUCT of the Dow Key Company of this city is this KEY-municator, a practical communication instrument for amateur telegraphers and ham radio operators. It now is in production and while it is late for big volume in the coming Christmas gift market, repeat orders are already coming in and general acceptance seems to be good. The transistorized telegraph key with ear-phones complete is made to sell at $9.95.

The new product fits well with the regular production of the local factory. No special machinery is required for the castings or punched and stamped parts that are manufactured in the plant.

Dow Key Co. Is Making Transistorized Key for Use by Amateurs

A new product is now being manufactured by the Dow Key Company of this city. It is an amateur model of the original product of the company when it started operations in Canada, a transistorized telegraph key. Five workers are now employed on the assembly line, putting together the 35 parts of the mechanism, and they are capable of packaging from 150 to 200 units a day.

While this dispatching unit is made primarily to serve as a hobby for youth clubs, telegraph schools, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, it is an authentic, professional type telegraph key, equipped with a "real, honest-to-goodness' earphone receiver for true short wave radio signal tone. The complete assembly will be sold at retail for only $9.95 and repeat orders are already coming in as a result of an earlier distribution in several states.

The product is being introduced too late for large volume sales nationally in the coming Christmas market, Gordon Dow, president of the company, states, but he is hopeful that a good market will be established and that the product will prove to be increasingly popular. It will appeal especially to radio amateurs for use in two-way stations in their homes and cars at any time of the day or night. Communication is recommended by International Morse Code which is available for the instruction of beginners.

The new product is a natural for the factory that has been equipped largely for the manufacture of electrical relays and

School Board to Act Shortly on 1961 Budget

Disposes of Other Matters at Session Last Monday Night

The Thief River Falls board of education acted on several matters at its October session Monday evening, but deferred action on the budget for the coming year until a special meeting later in the month.

Supt. Marshall Hankerson stated that uncertainty as to the amounts of state school aids to be received before the end of 1960 has made it impossible to complete budget plans earlier.

Earl Arneson of Minneapolis, business agent for the local school bus drivers union, presented requests for an increase in mileage allowance, and also in expense allowance for bus drivers who use their own equipment. The board took no action on the requests.

The area vocational school was authorized to install and operate an amateur radio station, the necessary equipment being made available without cost to the school district.

Man Charged with Driving Escapade

Arthur Forsberg, Jr. to Appear in Court Monday

With a very few exceptions city police report the week to date has been a fairly quiet one.

The one disturbance occurred Monday, shortly before midnight, when a car driven by a local resident caused some damage to trees on the Third st. boulevard between Kneale and Maple avenues, and also did some damage to a guard rail at a residence.

Arthur "Manny" Forsberg, Jr. was the driver of the car which climbed the boulevard at Kneale av. and Third, ran over two young elms and some evergreens, crossed over the south lane of Third st., jumped the curb onto a yard, then crossed the alley between Kneale and Maple avenues damaging a guard rail on the edge of the Phil Prichard yard before going onto Third st. again, after cutting across the corner of the Prichard lot.

The two elms, planted only two years ago after a simillar accident, were badly damaged and will have to be replaced. The evergreens were less seriously damaged. Extent of damages to the Prichard guard rail is not known. Damage to Forsberg's car was estimated at $75.

Forsberg was picked up by police shortly after his escapade and was tagged for driving under the influence of intoxicants and leaving the scene of an accidetn. He was released on $225 bond and will appear in municipal court Monday.

Farm Forum, Car Show Set for October 20-22

Farmers Are Urged to Bring Soil Samples to Be Tested Oct. 20 & 21

A soils testing promotion which is part of a Farm Forum promotion will be held at Thief River Falls Thursday and Friday, Oct. 20 and 21. Farmers are urged to get a soil sample this fall since the University laboratory is not as rushed during the winter, and farmers have more time to buy the fertilizer they really need. The cost of testing the soil samples brought in on October 20 and 21 will be borne by the fertilizer dealers in Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire.

The farmer will pay the dollar charge, per sample, on the soil samples. This amount will be discounted from the price of the fertilizer by the fertilizer dealer when the farmer buys the fertilizer.

The information the farmer gets will be useful in four ways, stated County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

1. Fertilizer amounts and analysis can be bought according to needs of the soil and crop to be used in 1961.

2. For all pasture and hayland fertilizing.

3. Most dealers have a more ample supply of fertilizer thru the winter months and better selection of fertilizer can be made by testing the soil in the fall.

4. Fall application of nitrogen and potash can be made to save time in the spring and use higher rates if a farmer chooses to do so.

A trailer to receive the soil samples will be placed on the street just north of the postoffice. The soil samples can be brought to the trailer all day Thursday and Friday, October 20 and 21, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Soils boxes and sheets describing how to take a soils test can be picked up at any fertilizer dealer, bank, chamber of commerce or the extension office. Or, a farmer may bring in the sample in a jar, coffee can, or other container on October 20 or 21 and it will be packaged for him.

The soil samples will be delivered to the University without cost to the farmer.

The soil testing laboratory trailer will be parked on Second st. beside the postoffice Thursday and Friday, October 20-21, with technicians on duty both days. All farmers who wish to have soil samples evaluated are urged to take advantage of the testing program.

Two features have been scheduled for the city Auditorium Friday, October 21. Social Security and retirement topics will be discussed beginning at 10 a.m. by Walter D. Kistler of Grand Forks, district manager for the Social Security administration. Beginning at 2 p.m., soils topics will be discussed by Olaf C. Soine from the Northwest School of Agriculture and Merle Halverson from the University Extension service.

Details of a special program at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 22, have not yet been completed but Chamber of Commerce officials have announced that it will be inspiring in nature and will relate to agriculture.

All the new cars will be on display in the Arena Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22, and everyone is invited to see the new models and register for four $25 prizes which will be given away.

Water Service on West Side Halted 2½ Hours Tuesday

Necessary to Drain Old Elevated Tank While New Valves Are Installed

Water service to business places and residences on the west side of the river was disrupted for about 2½ hours Tuesday night, October 11, while water department crews replaced valves near the old water tank on Second st.

Replacement of the valves required the draining of the old elevated tank cutting off the water supply for the west section of the city but the new tank on Nora st. between Kneale and Merriam ave. was filled Tuesday furnishing water to users on that side of the river.

According to water department officials, the new underground reservoir near the water treatment plant will probably go into operation in November. Some piping remains, a pump will be installed by that time and the tank will be sterilized.

A break in an eight-inch water main in the 400 block south on Duluth av. Monday night flooded streets in the area and water department personnel started work at the break Tuesday morning.

'Top of the Nation' Sale October 20 . . .

21 Dairymen Consign Top Animals

Twenty-one dairymen from Northwest No. 1, Northwest No. 2 and Red Lake-Pennington cow testing associations have consigned some of their top cattle to this year's 'Top of the Nation" dairy sale, to be held Thursday, Oct. 20, at the sales pavilion in Thief River Falls. All of these cattle with the exception of five or six head come from herds averaging beter than 400 lbs. fat, and two herds over 500 lbs. fat are represented.

A large majority of cattle consigned are springing heifers, and many are due or will be sold with calf at foot at sale time. Many have been "calfhood" vaccinated and all have met the rigid production requirements of 400 lbs. of fat if grade, and 450 lbs. fat if registered, and heifers consigned must have dams with these minimum requirements.

Some of the recent entries received have now been "checked" by the sale committee, and are outstanding in both type and production. Robert Hance from Red Lake Falls sends a four year old that has produced 476 lbs. fat two years, and 556 lbs. fat as a three year old. This herd averaged 508 lbs. fat for the 1959-60 testing year.

The Svendsgaard farm from Goodridge send a heifer due sale day, from a three year old with 500 lbs. fat. Warren Gast from Beltrami whose herd average is 473 lbs. fat, sends a heifer due sale time whose dam produced 465 lbs. of fat. Erwin Vanek from East Grand Forks sends a pair of "strong heifers" both due Nov. 10, out of high record dams. LaVern Clow from Orleans, whose last herd average was 446 lbs. fat, sends a three year old, fresh in September, who milked 70.5 lbs. and tested 4.5 per cent last test. This young cow produced 481 lbs. fat as a two year old.

A complete list of consignors will be published next week and all cattle will be ready for inspection by prospective buyers at 9 a.m., October 20. Sale will start at 12 noon. Buyers are urged to come early, look over the cattle and meet the consignors. It is the opinion of the sale committee and management that the cattle consigned to this sale, will be one of the finest group of dairy animals ever to be sold in this area.

Beef and Hog Picture to Be Viewed Oct. 20 At Farm Forum Here

ROBERT JACOBS

Will feeder cattle prices come down this fall? Or is this a year to buy early and aim for a peak market? Will hog prices hold up in 1961? Or are we in for a year of heavy supplies and lower prices?

This type of question will get thorough discussion at the Thief River Falls Farm Forum and Beef Outlook meeting, set for Thursday, October 20, at 8 p.m. in the court house meeting room.

A pair of University of Minnesota extension men, Paul Hasbargen, extension economist, and Bob Jacobs, extension livestock specialist, will analyze short-term and long-run trends in the beef and hog industries. They will then explain how these trends affect the individual farmer's plans.

Here are some of the main questions for discussion:

1. Cattle herds have been building up for three years. How will this trend affect beef prices and cattle feeders' incomes in 1961?

2. How much effect will consumer demand have on 1961 beef prices?

3. Will high hog prices and favorable feeding ratios of 1960 trigger a boost in farrowing next year?

4. What are the profit prospects for different grades and classes of cattle in 1961? and what income can hog farmers expect in the future?

Other questions will also be taken up. Hog producers and cattle feeders will be encouraged to take part in the discussion and bring up any questions they wish.

All area farm families are invited to the meeting.

Clinton DeGagne of EGF and John Pelowski of Roseau Are Victims

Two northwest Minnesota residents lost their lives in traffic accidents this week, neither from the immediate Thief River Falls area. Killed was an East Grand Forks man early Sunday while a Roseau man died as the result of a car-truck crash near Wannaska Monday.

Clinton Gerald DeGagne, 22, rural East Grand Forks, apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car, which traveled 200 feet in a ditch and struck a field approach, impaling DeGagne on the steering post.

DeGagne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeGagne, was alone in the car at the time of the mishap, which occurred between 4 and 5 a.m. Sunday, according to Polk county Sheriff Carl Knutson. The car was discovered about two hours later by a neighboring farmer, who called authorities.

John Pelowski, 60, Roseau, was killed Monday in a car-truck crash northeast of Wannaska on a county road. Mrs. Pelowski, in the car with him, was seriously injured and is in a Roseau hospital in critical condition.

The accident occurred about 11 a.m. Monday at the intersection of two county highways a mile north and two miles east of Wannaska. The Pelowskis were going north, the truck driven by Lonard Brating, Roseau, going east. Brating was not seriously injured but was hospitalized for observation.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

During recent weeks there has been circulated throughout the Ninth Congressional District of Minnesota by supporters of Mrs. Coya Knutson a twelve-page tabloid newspaper concerning the "shopworn" subject of the "Coya Come Home Letter." The tabloid is full of implications and insinuations that I wrote the famous letter.

When this tabloid first came out in June, it was my feeling that I should simply ignore it. As circulation continued, friends of mine advised me to start a libel suit. I have seriously considered such a suit and am sure I have good grounds. However, as a lawyer, I have concluded that libel suits are frequently unsatisfactory and expensive to the plaintiff even when he wins.

Mrs. Knutson's claim that I wrote the letter is apparently based on the opinion of one Charles Appel of Washington, D. C., who claims to be a handwriting expert. Anyone familiar with the law knows that I cannot prevent Mr. Appel from giving his opinion. However, opinions are not facts. Mr. Appel is simply wrong in every way when he gives his opinion that I wrote the "Coya Come Home Letter."

I did not write the original letter or any copy of it. I did not plan it or suggest it, never counseled Andy Knutson about writing it and had nothing to do with its preparation or publication.

There has never been any secret about the writing of this letter. Mr. James Turgeon of Oklee, Minnesota, former Red Lake County DFL Chairman, has publicly admitted writing this letter and has emphatically stated that I had nothing to do with it. His admissions on the subject were clearly stated in the Crookston Times of December 17, 1958 and in the Fargo Forum of December 17, 1958 and August 24, 1958. I quote Mr. Turgeon from the Fargo Forum December 17th article, "Andy came to me and asked me to help him. He told me what he wanted to say and I wrote out in longhand, then typed several copies for him. Nelson had nothing to do with it. It was just Andy and me and there never has been any secret of that around Oklee."

In the month of December, 1958 this whole matter was heard before a special Congressional committee of three Democrats and two Republicans. Although the committee heard only Mrs. Knutson's side of the story, she was turned down unanimously.

It has always been my feeling that this is a private domestic affair between Mrs. Knutson and her husband, and Mrs. Knutson has frequently indicated that she felt the same way. Now the matter is in the news again and she is bringing it up herself to try and gain undeserved sympathy. The tabloid newspaper with its false claims has created doubt in the minds of many people who have forgotten the details of this affair. My purpose in writing this letter is to clear up any such doubts. I am in no way responsible for the "Coya Come Home Letter."

Very truly yours,
Maurice O. Nelson

Cong. Langen Blasts Record of Opponent and Lack of Program

Congressman Odin Langen said Tuesday in Bemidji he was "perhaps the only candidate for any public office, anytime, anywhere, whose opponent has adopted his program word for word, two years late, and attempted at the same time to convince the people that he's doing a terrible job."

Speaking at a Bemidji State college rally, Langen compared a brochure circulated by his Volunteer Committee two years ago which contained his program with one being distributed this year by his opponent, Mrs. Coya Knutson.

The 1958 Langen brochure contained an eight-point program. Mrs. Knutson's new brochure includes 10 points, eight of which are identical, word for word, to Langen's.

The Kittson county lawmaker said this meant one of three things to him.

"Either my opponent has no program of her own, my opponent does not have the ability to present a program of her own, or my opponent agrees word for word with the program I presented two years ago and for which I have been working ever since."

"Since my opponent places such great stock in programs, I am pleased that she has seen fit to adopt and endorse mine," Langen stated.

Langen, who had a 100 per cent attendance record during his past two years in Congress, also charged that the former Congresswoman had provided the Ninth District with only part-time representation in her two terms. He said the Congressional Record for the years 1955 through 1958 lists Mrs. Knutson as having been absent on 131 quorum calls and roll call votes.

"In other words," Langen said, "during the time my opponent was suposed to be in Washington, the Ninth District had no representation in the United States House of Representatives on 131 occasions."

He said Mrs. Knutson missed votes of "extreme importance" to the Ninth District, including ones which dealt with defense contracts for small business; funds and authority for the school milk program; the selling and bartering of our surplus agricultural commodities in foreign countries; distribution of surplus food to needy persons in this country; school construction; suspension of wool import duties; unemployment compensation; foreign aid; and defense appropriations.

Speaking of the defense appropriations votes, Langen said, "During two of the four years my opponent was in Congress, she was not present to vote on the bills making appropriations for the Department of Defense. This means the Ninth District had no representation on votes which appropriated some $75 to $80 billion to maintain the defense and freedom of this nation and the peace of the world."

Langen urged the people of the Ninth District to compare his record of achievement during the past two years "in all areas of the program to which I pledged myself" with the record of his opponent.

"You will be voting for one of these records in November," he said.

5 Offenders Fined on Eight Charges

One Driver Penalized $124 in Municipal Court

A fairly light session of municipal court Monday saw five persons pay fines or forfeit bail on a total of eight charges. Judge H. O. Chommie presided.

One case was brought by the highway patrol. Roger Dale Anderson, city, pleaded guilty to speeding 90 at night and was fined $60. On two charges brought against him by city police, Anderson also pleaded guilty. For speeding 60 m.p.h. in a 30-mile zone he was fined $39 and for having an open bottle in a motor vehicle he was fined $25.

Two other persons were also brought in by city police. Floyd W. Mathieu, rt. 2, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $20, while Marvin L. St. Germain, Fosston, forfeited $30 bond on a careless driving charge.

Three charges against two persons were brought by the sheriff's office. Clifford P. Sater, city, pleaded guilty to driving after his license was revoked and was fined $35.

LaVerne Israelson, city, pleaded guilty to permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a car and was fined $25. On the additional charge of transporting an uncased rifle in a car he was fined $20.

Ernest Thune at Chicago Meeting

Ernest Thune of the Hearing Aid Center attended the annual meeting of the Society of Hearing Aid Audiologists, October 7 and 8, at the La Salle Hotel, Chicago. He heard experts discuss ear surgery, hearing aids for nerve deafness, hearing aids for children, ethical standards, and other scientific and technical subjects.

PIONEER Pennington Co. Farmer, R. M. Johnson of Kratka township, was honor guest at a gathering of relatives and former neighbors at the home of his son, Bert Johnson Sunday, the occasion being his 95th birthday. The above picture was taken about three years ago, and Mr. Johnson is still hale and hearty.

He homesteaded in Kratka township in 1904 when the reservation was opened for settlement and made his home there until recently. He now is living at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Holme of Luverne, Minnesota. Among those present were two other Kratka pioneers, former neighbors of the Johnsons as homesteaders, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hafdal of Thief River Falls.

For many years Mr. Johnson was active in the activities of his community, having a long record of service at township clerk and treasurer of both the school district and the Telemarken church.

Others present at the birthday party were Mrs. Holme and another daughter, Mrs. Grace Graige of Los Angeles; three grandsons, Clifford, Daniel and Richard; Mrs. Ted Lendobeja and daughter Mary Ann; Mr. and Mrs. Gunder Olson and Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hammer. With the assistance of Mary Ann Lendobeja, Mrs. Bert Johnson served a delicious lunch, the center piece being a birthday cake containing twenty candles, one for each of the past five year periods and one for the next five.

Mr. Johnson returned to Luverne with his daughter Monday, happy for the reunion. That he is keeping posted on current events is indicated by one observation he made to the effect that Mr. Khrushchev has not yet taken the moon from us.

Game Wardens to Continue Tough Policy on Hunters

Conservation Dept. Law Officers Urges Hunters to Be on Good Behavior

If you plan to be afield this fall doing some hunting you had better be on your good behavior, warn state conservation law enforcement officials. "We are continuing our 'Operation Get Tough' which we started four years ago," explained Francis W. Johnson, chief game warden. "Our wardens, reinforced by department wildlife officers and U. S. game agents, will be cracking down for the four straight year on those hunters who violate the laws."

"Operation Get Tough" has seen airplanes, cars, boats, swamp buggies and officers afoot all tied together through their two-way radio network. Walkie-talkies and airborne radios provide quick communication, and bring officers to trouble spots without delay. Other law enforcement agencies, including county sheriffs, highway patrol and local officers cooperate closely in apprehending violators.

Chief Johnson listed some of the more important and commonly violated laws that warden will be watching for in the weeks to come. Firearms, except a pistol or revolver, carried inside a car must be unloaded in both barrel and magazine and contained in a case; or unloaded and carried in the trunk with trunk lid closed.

Head and feet must remain intact on all game birds and waterfowl being transported. Entrails and feathers, except on head, may be removed.

Only one wood duck and one hooded merganser can be included in the daily bag limit of four ducks. Canvasback and redhead ducks are fully protected this year and may not be taken.

A bank account does not show who is rich or poor—only who has money. People are rich or poor from the inside, not from the outside.

Moorhead Will Face Prowlers on Friday

Coach Joe Mrkonich's football Prowlers will be somewhat crippled when they meet the powerful Moorhead Spuds on the Lincoln high school athletic field on Friday night. Right halfback Lloyd Ranum, who was out of action last week because of a neck injury, and who was expected to be available for Friday night's tilt, has a touch of the flu. And tackle Gary Odegaard is nursing a wrenched knee and it is doubtful if the chunky lineman will see much action tomorrow night. Paul Klungness, a sophomore, will be running in the right halfback spot if Ranum isn't available, and Bruce Russell, a junior, will probably move into the line as Odegaard's replacement.

In meeting coach Jim Gotta's Moorhead Spuds, the Prowlers will be facing one of the state's top-ranked teams. Until their defeat by Fargo Central last week, by a 19 to 6 score, the Spuds had been enjoying an undefeated season.

Last season the Spuds scored a 25 to 6 win over the Prowlers in a game played on the MSC field in Moorhead. Of the Moorhead players who started against the Prowlers last season, only quarterback John Carlander, right halfback Dick Sapa, and tackle Peter Gelb have returned for this season's campaign. But coach Gotta has found capable replacements for the players lost through graduation. Doug Eckheart, a junior halfback, has proven to be a capable runner; and in end Byron Gigler, a standout trackman for the Spuds, Moorhead has a dangerous threat as a pass receiver.

Kickoff time for Friday's game is at 8:00 P.M.

Their Last Bow

Nine of the Prowler footballers—Eddie Lietzow, Jack Goulet, Ron Amundson, Gary Odegaard, Ron Hanson, Don Ulferts, Lloyd Ranum, Paul Wangberg, and Harvey Ebbighausen — will be making their final appearance before the home fans on the Lincoln high school field when they take the field against the Moorhead Spuds in a football game here Friday night. They are a fine bunch of boys, and they have been credit to Prowler football and Lincoln high school.

And these Prowlers couldn't have picked a tougher opponent to close out their home career than the Moorhead Spuds. In the rating of the state's top teams, the Spuds are among the top ten.

In the off-again football series with Moorhead, which had its inception back in 1931 when the Spuds, by a 14 to 7 score, defeated coach Roger Dooley's club captained by Irving Lundell, the Spuds hold a definite edge. In the nine games that have been played, Moorhead has recorded six wins, and suffered but three losses. The losses were administered during the 1938, '39, and '40 seasons when the Prowlers, coached by John Lindenmeyer, defeated the Spuds 7 to 0, 13 to 6, and 32 to 14. Loren (Bones) Stadum captained the 1938 squad, Cliff Thomas was captain in 1939, and Tommy Carlisle was the team leader in 1940.

Since that 1940 season the Prowlers have met the Spuds on five occasions, and taken five losses. In 1941, Harry Nedby's team lost by a 13 to 6 score; in 1942, Willard Kottke's club lost by a 31 to 0 score; in 1943, Glenn Hanna's Prowlers lost by a 26 to 0 score.

After a lapse of fifteen years the series was resumed in 1958, with the Spuds winning by a 13 to 6 score; and last year the Spuds marked up a 25 to 7 win.

The Season's Best

It is the consensus of the fans that the quarterback that coach Haldo Norman and the Detroit Lakes Lakers showed the Prowlers on Friday night was the best to play here this season. We are referring to Dennis Raffenbeul, the southpaw-passing quarterback who directed the Lakers to a 19 to 6 win over the Prowlers, and incidentally breaking the locals' five-game winning streak.

Roffenbeul, a senior, performed like a magician in hiding the ball from the onrushing Prowlers, and it was his deft work in handing the ball that made the Laker offense move. In addition, Raffenbeul proved to be a sharpshooter in tossing passes to his receivers. His touchdown pass to Keith Brekken, for the game's first TD, was a classic. He faked handing off the ball to a halfback, then bootlegged the ball as he faded off to the left, and then flipped a spiral to Brekken.

The Laker quarterback also possesses enough speed to pose a running threat, and on several occasions he exercised the option play by slashing into the tackles for gains. In fact he scored a pair of touchdowns on tries into the line.

He is a good one. And the Prowlers aren't finished with him yet, as the blue-and-gold cagers will be meeting Raffenbeul when they meet the Lakers in a basketball game on the Williams Arena court in Minneapolis in January.

Cliff Bjorkman informs us that he received a note stating that young Bob Nick, Jr., the son of Bob Nick the former Prowler athletic coach, suffered a broken arm while playing for the Princeton high school football team.

Bobby is in his senior year at Princeton, and from all reports he has developed into a spectacular all-round performer. We can recall Bobby when he was a star member of the Washington Wildcats 'teams.

It is expected that the broken arm will keep young Bob off the basketball court for much of the season, too.

Geese

Stan Gibson has moved up into the front rank among the city's goose hunters by bagging a pair of Canadas on Tuesday morning, and adding another goose on Wednesday morning. Stan was hunting along the west boundary of the Mud Lake refuge when he bagged his geese.

Gary Forsberg, also hunting along the Mud Lake boundary on Tuesday morning, was successful in bringing down a Canada goose.

The duck hunting, though, has been spotty. The field hunters were having difficulty in bagging mallards, as the opening day's shooting has "burnt out" the few fields that were attractive to the ducks for feeding. With the expected influx of northern ducks, the field hunting and pothole hunting should improve.

A powerful Grand Forks Central 'B' squad, with a versatile scoring attack, defeated the Prowler 'B' squad, 34 to 14, in a 'B' team football game played on the Lincoln high school field Monday night.

The Prowlers 'B' team, with but one game remaining on the schedule, that being a game here against the Crookston Central 'B' team on Tuesday, October 18, has a mark of two wins and five losses.

Disabled Workers under Age 50 May Now Get Social Security

For the fourth time in six years Congress has passed amendments to the social security law which liberalize the protection afforded disabled workers and their dependents.

Under the 1960 amendments approximately 250,000 people — disabled workers under 50 years of age and certain of their dependents — are now eligible for social security benefits. Until now only those disabled workers between 50 and 65 and their dependents were eligible for social security payments.

Younger disabled workers are more likely to have families dependent on them than older workers age 50 and over. Before the change in the social security law, many of them were dependent upon public assistance payments which are financed out of general tax funds.

It is estimated that $28 million will be saved in public assistance payments during the next year now that many of these young disabled workers and their families are eligible for disability insurance benefits based on their past earnings and social security tax contributions under social security. It is expected that savings will be even greater in the years to come when fewer people who become disabled before age 50 will need help through public assistance.

If you are under 50 and have already had your social security record frozen, you will receive a letter explaining the new benefits and what you need to do about getting them for yourself and your dependents. Do not get in touch with your social security office at this time. It will only delay the district office in taking action to get checks to you and others who are eligible for payments under the new law.

However, severely disabled workers under 50 who have worked under social security, but have never applied to have their social security records frozen, should get in touch with their nearest social security district office now to inquire about their rights to payments.

To qualify for disability insurance benefits, a disabled worker must be so severely disabled that he is "unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity."

In addition, he must have worked under social security for at least five years out of the ten years before he became disabled.

Benefits for disabled persons under 50 and their families can start with the month of October 1960.

When the disabled worker applies for disability benefits at his social security district office, certain information about his age, education, training and vocational skills will be obtained. He will also be given a medical report form to take to his doctor or to the hospital or institution where he has had care and treatment. These sources provide medical data about the worker's injury or illness with particular reference as to how this affects his ability to work.

When the completed medical report is returned to the district office, the worker's entire record is sent to the state vocational agency, which in most states, has been designated to make the decision as to whether or not the claimant is disabled within the definition of the social security law. The district office will be glad to answer disabled worker's questions about his rights and responsibilities.

The water safety section of the Minnesota safety council announced that as of October 6, two days before the opening of duck season, drownings had claimed 121 lives in Minnesota.

Said Carl W. Moen, water safety section chairman: "We have had six less drownings than during the comparable period last year, and we are 15 under the 16-year drowning average of 135.4."

He emphasized that "duck hunters now hold the key to a record reflecting lives saved. We know foul weather and good waterfowl shooting are practically synonymous.

"In past years, we have had an average of ten deaths by drowning over the fall season. There is no need to turn a happy hunting grounds into a scene of tragedy—if we observe the common sense rules of water safety and weather warnings."

Over 41 miles of single row field windbreaks were planted in West Polk county this spring. This amount to about four times as many trees as were planted a year ago, according to SCS technician Gary Johnson. Increased ACP cost sharing rates and promotional activities by Carl Ash, county agent, have played a vital part in getting this program rolling.

Get Ready for Winter Driving Now, Advised

"If you haven't done it yet, DO IT NOW!"

That was the winter driving advice issued today by Harry A. Sieben, as a reminder to Minnesota motorists that winter driving will pose different problems.

"It's up to the driver to know that driving conditions are far less favorable during the winter. He must winterize driving techniques and winterize his determination to avoid accidents," he said.

Sieben offered six tips for safe winter driving:

Have good tires and good tire chains for the more severe conditions to be met in winter. Worn tires are not as effective, but even with snow tires, slower speeds than normal are a must on snow and ice.

Be able to see and be seen by keeping windshields and windows clear. Be sure that wiper blades, heaters and defrosters are working properly. Clean snow and ice from your windshield and all windows. Ventilate the car to keep the inside of the windows from fogging.

Get the feel of the road to avoid unintentional sliding or spinning of wheels. Try your brakes or gently press the accelerator while driving slowly and as traffic and highway conditions permit. Then adjust speed to suit road and weather conditions.

Follow at a safe distance by keeping well back of the vehicle ahead so that there is plenty of room to stop. It takes from three to twelve times more distance to stop on snow and ice than it takes on dry pavement.

Brake before turns by slowing down to a safe speed and anticipating braking needs before a turn is reached. This way a front end slide is avoided on a turn; a rear end skid on a curve, or tobogganing down a hill out of control may be prevented. Braking before turns will give the driver an opportunity to get the feel of the road and to adjust speed accordingly.

Pump your brakes to maintain best steering control when braking on ice or slippery snow. Pumping is a fast locking application and full release of the brakes, one, two or more times per second. This gives short intervals of maximum braking separated by short intervals of effective steering while wheels are rolling.

"Enjoy the use and convenience of your car throughout the winter," Sieben said, "by careful and thoughtful driving. Prepare for emergencies that might come up, and in that way make them less severe."

"There are two kinds of discontent in this world: the discontent that works, and the discontent that wrings its hands. The first gets what it wants, and the second loses what it had. There is no cure for the first but success, and there is no cure at all for the second."
—Elbert Hubbard

Now Is The Time

Our good friend Phil Duff, editor of the Red Wing Daily Republican Eagle, has circularized the press of the state with a seven-page argument against Amendment No. 2, which would provide for the area factor as well as population for representation in the Legislature. He thinks there is justification for an area factor but he favors the plan supported by Governor Freeman, which would continue the Senate on a population basis but would elect the House on a combination of population and area.

In his seven pages of facts and argument Mr. Duff points out that if the House is elected on a population basis the metropolitan area of the state will soon control this body. Many smaller, outstate counties will have no representatives of their own but will be grouped together with other counties in a legislative district. He thinks this would be terrible.

Well, we have had experience with that kind of an arrangement up here, and it has worked out quite well, we think. Folks up here are not unhappy about it.

One of the weaknesses in the Duff letter is its failure to say what will happen to the Senate if, as he proposes, that body is elected on a population basis. In a few years the Senate would be controlled by the metropolitan area, and the outstate senatorial districts would have to be greatly expanded.

Whichever plan were adopted, the metropolitan area would soon control one house of the legislature. The question, then, is which of the two houses should the metropolitan area control, and which should be controlled by the outstate area. All seem to be agreed the area factor should be worked in somehow.

The fundamental shortcoming of the plan supported by Mr. Duff is that it would lead eventually to control of both houses of the legislature by the metropolitan area and those other centers of population that are metropolitan-area minded rather than rural-area minded.

Under his plan each of the small counties, except those that are very small, would have one representative in the house. Red Lake and Pennington would probably have one together. There would be about 80 of the state's 135 representatives elected on an area basis. At least 15 of the state's 87 counties are controlled by those who are metropolitan-area minded, so from the 80 representatives who would be elected on an area basis we can safely subtract 15, leaving not more than 65 representatives who would be rural-Minnesota minded.

Under the plan supported by Mr. Duff and Governor Freeman all of the seats in the House, not distributed on an area basis, would be given to the populous centers. The metropolitan area therefore, which already would have control of the senate, would, with the support of other populous counties that are metropolitan-area minded, also have control of the house.

Rural Minnesota would have little power. Whether it is right or wrong, law making is largely a bargaining procedure in which the traditional practices of horse trading often play an important part. If you haven't anything to trade you are not in a strong bargaining position.

And if rural Minnesota gives control of the legislature to the metropolitan area then rural Minnesota will go into a state of perpetual decline. Rural Minnesota will then be forced to go to St. Paul asking for favors and not insisting on reasonable rights.

Rural Minnesota should not control the legislature. That obviously is unfair. But it would be equally unfair, and probably more so, if the metropolitan area controlled the legislature.

Amendment No. 2 provides a reasonable compromise by which the outstate area and the metropolitan area would share in the control of the legislature.

Now is the time for outstate Minnesota to protect its future. The opposition to Amendment No. 2 is a serious threat to that future.

Prospect Is Not Good

Citizens of South Africa voted in favor of the government proposal for a shift from a constitutional monarchy under the British crown to a republic with its own chief of state. But the victory was by a narrow margin, 849,958 to 775,978, and considering the fact that only the whites were permitted to vote, the strength of the opposition is quite significant. Nearly one-half of the white citizens of that country are opposed to the change.

With so narrow a margin of support from white citizens, and the united opposition of the natives, the new government will take over its responsibilities under extremely difficult conditions. It has no assurance that it will be admitted to membership in the British commonwealth, and if it is not admitted to membership then many old and established trade relationships will be disrupted.

The government that has prevailed in South Africa has made little contribution to the advancement of the natives and to the development of good relations with them. The new government may be headed for a bloody future.

Both Wrong

On one question raised in the last debate we think both Kennedy and Nixon could have done considerably better. It had to do with our policy on the defense of two small islands off the coast of China, Quemoy and Matsu. Kennedy thought they are not worth protecting. Nixon thought they should be defended.

Kennedy's opinion that they are of no strategic value is probably true. They may even be considered a military liability. But to inform the Chinese Reds that that is our thinking is stupid because it invites attack. The attack on Korea was invited by careless talk of the same kind.

On the other hand Nixon's declaration that the islands should be defended regardless because we have some friends living on them, was not a convincing answer.

Both candidates would agree, we think, that such questions would better be answered in general terms, to the effect that we will resist force wherever it is applied against us, but that the right procedure for solving problems of this kind is to submit them to an International court of justice.

We must move in that direction if we sincerely seek security and peace.

The Real Purpose

Nikita Khrushchev has defined the pattern for the kind of a United Nations organization that would meet with his approval. The Communist countries would have one vote in acting on international questions. The free world nations would have one vote, and the so-called neutrals would have one vote. Each group would have a veto power over any proposal.

That would mean the end of the United Nations as an effective agency in dealing with the problems that threaten the peace of the world. And that is what Khrushchev and the Communists have been striving for over the years. The United Nations stands in their way as it did in the Congo, and so it must be destroyed.

And the fact that the Communists see the United Nations as a obstacle to their plans for world conquest is a mighty good reason why the free nations should see to it that the United Nations organization continues to function effectively.

Conditions in some areas are getting right for disastrous grass and forest fires. Time now to be extra careful.

(Hoard's Dairyman)

One of the most constructive developments in the dairy business during the past few years has been the growing cooperation among cooperatives. For too many years too many cooperatives have lived in isolation, tending house and doing chores. Meanwhile, the changing character of the dairy industry has left them impotent to take advantage of opportunities which will fully benefit their members.

Some readers may comment, "It's about time!" This is true but such action does not come as easily as the casual observer might expect. There is a lot of history in the work and achievement of established organizations. Battles have been fought, won, and lost. These conflicts have left organizational and personal wounds and scars. They aren't forgotten overnight. Obviously, it takes a big man, dedicated to serving dairymen, to put the past behind him, subjugate his personal feelings and ambitions, to benefit others. But there are men such as these and we compliment them for their statesmanship.

Nigeria Middle Course

(The London Times)

By evolving its own system of government before independence, Nigeria can hope to avoid the chaos that has rent the Congo. The federation tries in effect to steer between an imposed unity that does not exist, as in the Congo, and a loose system of alliance that breaks up without warning like Mali. The fact that Nigeria has moved peacefully to independence promises well for this attempt at a middle way, and its record of political stability over the past ten years since the first general election was held suggests that its leaders have a facility for compromise that will stand the country in good stead in the future.

Fortified by an economy that has recently become more buoyant, and by the added impetus that independence will bring to the authority of the Federal Government, Nigeria's voice should be firm and clear. The frank recognition of the country's difficulties by its leaders and the record of political compromise they have established suggest future stability. In a continent where turmoil is more common than harmony, the confidence that an independent and well-ordered Nigeria can bring is not only welcome but vital.

New System Needed

(August Erickson, Springfield Press)

Every four years we have a presidential election. When the electoral vote follows the popular vote, as it usually does, we forget about the weakness in the electoral system that permits a state like New York to cast 45 votes for the candidate who carries the state, even by a narrow margin. Why not 20 to 25, or 22 to 23 when it's that close? The system is illogical.

Twice a candidate with a popular majority has failed to win the presidency because of that crazy electoral college. But after each presidential election any thought of reform is forgotten, and next time we use the same old senseless way of electing a president.

When will Congress awake to the realization that not one voter in ten favors the "all or none" vote of each state in the electoral college and give us an constitutional amendment that will make the electoral vote representative of the popular vote in each state. It's a reform long past due.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

St. Peter and St. Paul were teeing off on the long par-three first hole at the Celestial Country Club.

St. Peter drove first and his ball went into the cup for a hole-in-one.

St. Paul casually teed his ball and drove. His ball also went into the cup.

Then, as he picked both balls out of the cup, St. Peter said: "What do you say if we cut out the miracles and just play golf?"—Financial Post

Rugged enough for years of duck-blinds—yet right for dozens of "dressier" times! Glorious fabrics, loomed in Italy by famed Lanerossi; single-needle tailored with old-world finesse by Bloch-Heller. So smart, a man feels good just wearing Game and Lake shirts. So practical, a wife likes them too.

Hog Prospects Good for First Half of '61

Hog price and profit prospects look good for at least the first half of 1961, according to Kenneth E. Egertson, extension economist in marketing, and Raymond L. Arthaud, extension animal husbandman, at the University of Minnesota.

Hog farrowings and slaughter turned down in 1960 after two years of expansion. Hog marketings are expected to increase seasonally the fall but should remain below 1959 levels.

The 1960 average price for barrows and gilts on eight large markets probably will average around $15.80 per cwt., according to Egertson and Arthaud. This is about 10 per cent higher than last year but 20 per cent lower than in 1958.

A downward trend in prices for the remaining fall months of 1960 will be caused by the expected seasonal pick-up in marketings, the specialists said. "Based on late spring farrowing gradual, with a good possibility reports, this trend should be that short periods of strength will show up in early months."

Based on farrowings late last spring and early summer, marketings should taper off in the first two months of 1961 at levels below last year. This should permit hog prices to bounce back from the fall low to around $17 per cwt. in January and remain fairly good through most of the winter.

The June 1 estimate indicated a 3 per cent cut in 1960 fall farrowings. If a change occurs from this estimate, it is likely to be upward. However, if production stays within expected levels, prices and profit prospects should be good for at least the first half of 1961.

The 1961 summer and fall outlook depends largely on actions of hog producers this coming winter and spring. It is highly unlikely that another cutback will take place or that a large increase will develop in the spring of 1961.

Present indications are that farrowings will probably increase by about 5 per cent. Thus, price and profit prospects should remain in the good to fair range through much of next summer and fall, unless producers expand to the 10 per cent or greater level.

The University specialists' analysis of the hog outlook is one in a series of single sheet publications on "What's Ahead for Minnesota Farmers," issued by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service. It's available in the county agent's office.

Wardens Report on Bear Hunting

Bears Are Unprotected; No License Required

Perhaps because bears have been receiving an unusual amount of publicity many inquiries are being addressed to the game warden service asking for particulars and information concerning bears, their habits, hunting regulations, and requirements. Francis Johnson, warden chief, has suggested that the following five points should be carefully considered when bear hunters take to the woods:

1. Bears are unprotected animals, and residents of our state do not need a license to take them. Non-resident bear hunters must have either a non-resident small game license, a non-resident bow and arrow license, or a non-resident big game license. 2. The following counties are closed to the taking of bear except during the season for the taking of deer: Cook, Lake and a part of St. Louis county, near Ely. 3. Bear may not be taken with the aid of artificial lights. 4. Where bear are doing damage they may be taken with steel traps if permission is secured from a game warden to use traps. 5. Bear are big game animals and the wise hunter uses firearms with the same stopping power used for deer.

INTERIM GROUPS PREPARE REPORTS

One of many proposals under consideration by the Minnesota Legislative Commission on Agricultural Problems is the establishment of "grain banks," enabling farmers to store grain in elevators for later withdrawal as feed without losing title to the amount of grain deposited. Abolishment of the State Board of Grain Appeals has been suggested, also an increase in terminal elevator fees.

Legislative study of state mental institutions has brought forth a proposal that steps be taken to facilitate and encourage the participation of local doctors in the research work of the various hospitals throughout the state, and also to increase cooperation in this field with the University Medical School.

All of the busy interim commissions are drawing their intensive work and research to a close and preparing reports and recommendations for the 1961 legislature.

New Uses for Starch May Help Cut Surplus

Reduction of food surpluses through new industrial uses of starches may result from fundamental research under way on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

Progress in the project, which involves "remodeling" of corn starch molecules, was reported by Fred Smith, University biochemist.

Smith explained that heating corn starch either alone or with a small amount of an acidic substance brings about what is called dextrinization to produce compounds with gum-like properties. Compounds of this type are now used on vast scale in the adhesive, mining and textile industries.

The University researcher traced the discovery of this gum back to a fire in an Irish starch plant in 1821. The fire roasted the starch, and when water was poured on the flames the result was a gum which was found useful for such things as sealing envelopes.

Until University of Minnesota researchers began recent investigations, however, no one knew exactly what chemical changes occurred during the roasting process.

When various compounds are mixed with the corn starch during dextrinization, it was found the added compound forms an integral part of the remodeled corn starch molecule, resulting in avariety of entirely new substances. They are the forerunners of new types of adhesives which may prove to be the beginnings of a new industry based on starch.

What can be done with starch from corn can also be done with starches from potatoes, wheat and other crops which are in surplus as foods.

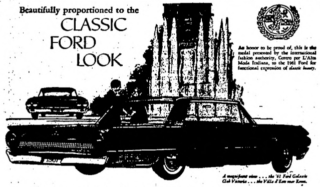
CLASSIC FORD LOOK



An honor to be proud of, this is the medal presented by the international fashion authority, Centro per L'Alta Moda Italiana, to the 1961 Ford for functional expression of classic beauty.

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

You are looking at the trend-setting car of our times, the '61 Ford . . . a car whose clean and classic profile is unmatched by any other in the world. Just one glance at the Big Circle taillights and sculptured rear deck, one look at the crisp, fresh front-end design and you'll know the '61 Ford is the classic style of the Nineteen Sixties.

Here is a Ford that is not only new in looks and ride and comfort, but new in its entire concept. The '61 Ford is actually built to take care of itself! It lubricates its chassis . . . cleans its own oil . . . adjusts its own brakes . . . protects its own body.

Indeed, here is a car that will save you valuable time and money by doing away with many stops for service.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF . . . THE FIRST 1961 CAR DEALER-WARRANTED FOR 12,000 MILES OR ONE FULL YEAR

Lubricates Itself. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

Cleans Its Own Oil. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

Guards Its Own Muffler. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects Its Own Body. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath the doors.

Warranty. The '61 Fords are built to meet these principal goals: finest quality, greatest durability, most reliable operation. Expressing their complete confidence that this has been accomplished, Ford Dealers led the industry in extending their warranty on '61 Fords to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. See this warranty at your Ford Dealer's now.

the Dreadful moments of childhood

Grownups forget that a child experiences fear, disappointment and despair even more often than they.

And each will breed more bitterness in his heart, if he has not found firm foundation for his courage, perseverance and hope.

But when a boy or girl has been given the undergirding of religious faith, the dreadful moments challenge rather than destroy.

Our children pray more often than we realize. They believe more confidently than we suppose. Life teaches them to draw strength from their faith . . . self-confidence from their trust in God.

But you and I must provide them opportunity to acquire faith. And our own example in worship and life must inspire their trust in God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Soil Testing Days Thursday, Friday

Two days are set aside for soil testing at Thief River Falls on October 20 and 21. A soil testing depot will be set up on the street by the postoffice at Thief River Falls and soil samples will be received from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on both Thursday and Friday of this week.

Farmers will pay one dollar for each sample brought in and will get a receipt for the total amount of their payment.

Fertilizer dealers will then discount the amount paid for the soil testing from the fertilizer bill wherever the fertilizer is purchased. Dealers cooperating with the program are: TRF: Osborne-McMillan; Farmers Union, Thief River Grain, Land O'Lakes, Midland Co-op and Peterson-Biddick Co. St. Hilaire: Agsco, Co-op Elevator, and Roland Bros.

The samples will be sent to the University for chemical analysis and soil recommendations will be made after the returns are back.

Last year Pennington county ranked the highest in the state in soil samples taken per crop acre presently farmed. Farmers use soil test returns in buying the specific analysis for a particular soil and particular crop. Even on one farm there may be many different soils, having different cropping history and which will produce different crops.

Fertilizing according to soil needs is the only way to spend the fertilizer dollar wisely, as one would spend money on expensive medicine which wouldn't cure a disease and buying fertilizer is no different. Soil tests indicate the fertilizer needs. By testing in the fall the farmer has several advantages:

1. Most dealers have discounts on fall purchases.
2. Better selection from wider stocks and special orders can be satisfied.
3. Fall application or early spring work will be possible.

Nineteen friends and co-workers and their wives gathered in the Eagles clubrooms Friday evening, October 14, to honor Claude Davidson, 322 Arnold av. S., who retired September 30 after 48 years of service with the Great Northern Railway Co.

Davidson, who started working with Great Northern at Bantry, N. D., in 1912, was section foreman at Thief River Falls when he retired. He also lived at Mohall and Sherwood, N. D., before coming to Thief River Falls in 1937.

The banquet, attended by other Great Northern employes and former employes from Red Lake Falls, Crookston, St. Hilaire, Greenbush and Thief River Falls, had as its toastmaster Ole Ness, clerk at Thief River Falls. Each co-worker gave individual talks recounting past experiences with Davidson and wishing him well on his retirement.

A purse of money was presented to the veteran worker by Albert Kriel on behalf of his friends, and Pando Belcheff of Crookston, roadmaster of the Dakota division, expressed the company's thanks.

Davidson now plans to catch up on his fishing and lost no time beginning his favorite pastime. The morning after the banquet, he was completing preparations for a trip to Morris point. But between fishing trips, he "will probably do a little housework for his wife."

TRF Schools to Close Thursday, Friday for Teachers Convention

Farm Outlook to Be Discussed Here Thursday Evening

Cattle and Hog Prospects to Be Topic of Two 'U' M. Extension Specialists

PAUL HASBARGEN

Will beef cattle and hogs be good profit-makers in 1961? What is the outlook on sheep, dairying and crop prices?

Here's an opportunity to hear what the specialists have to say about it. A discussion on beef and hogs will highlight the Thief River Falls Farm Outlook meeting October 20, at 8 p.m. in the court house, according to County Agent Paul Steimaschuk.

The program will also feature an interpretation of supply and demand, forecasts of expected prices, profit possibilities and management tips. Printed outlook information on other farm enterprises will also be available and questions relating to all farm enterprises will be welcomed. No one has a perfect crystal ball, but there is a way to base your decisions on a careful analysis of the livestock outlook. Information presented at the outlook meeting will help farm-decision making.

Speakers at the session will be Paul Hasbargen, extension farm management specialist and Robert Jacobs, livestock specialist; both from the University of Minnesota.

All farmers in the area are urged to attend this meeting.

Mayor of St. Paul to Speak at C.C. Meeting Nov. 2d

Mayor George Vavoulis of St. Paul has accepted an invitation to speak at a Chamber of Commerce meeting to be held here Wednesday, November 2. This meeting had ben scheduled for October but Mayor Vavoulis would not be available for that date and the meeting was therefore postponed, Chamber manager Rolland Larson reports.

Mr. Vavoulis spent several years of his youth in Thief River Falls and he is remembered by several local citizens who were his neighbors or attended school with him.

With the centennial convention of the Minnesota Education association scheduled Thursday and Friday in the Twin Cities, the Thief River Falls public schools will close Wednesday afternoon, October 19, at 2 o'clock, and will resume sessions Monday morning, October 24, Supt. Marshall Hankerson stated today.

The convention will be headquartered in St. Paul. But, because it is the state's biggest convention, many delegates will stay in Minneapolis, and many of the sessions will be held there.

With a membership in excess of 27,000—to which it has grown from the fewer than 50 who launched the MEA in Rochester a century ago—the organization includes most of the state's public school teachers and administrators and many from parochial and private schools.

Principal speakers will be Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels, New York University educational sociologist; Eri Johnston, president of the Motion Picture association of America; and Dr. Max Lerner, author, journalist and professor at Brandeis university.

Jerold Wigness, shorthand teacher at Lincoln and the new local M.E.A. president, will be one of the honored platform guests at the Friday session.

Friday evening an all-state band and chorus will perform for the M.E.A. The select group of students participating from the Lincoln high school chorus are Roger Johnson, and Benji Martin, bases; Richard Erickson, tenor; Gloria Philipp, Carolyn Swan, and Kathy Torgerson, altos; Karen Mosbeck and Nancy Newton, sopranos; and Shirley Peterson, accompanist. Participating in the all-state band concert is Faye Torkelson, bassoon player in the Lincoln high concert band.

Summary of Four Amendments Is in TRF Times Today

Appearing in the Times today is the second official publication of a summary of the four proposed amendments to be voted on in the Minnesota general election Tuesday, November 8.

The first amendment relates to changes in the length of the legislature's term and would permit members of the legislature to be candidates for othe posts during their term of office.

Amendment No. 2 provides for reapportioning the legislative districts in such a manner that state representatives would be chosen on the basis of population, while state senators would be elected on an area basis, the five counties of the metropolitan area being limited to the present number of members.

Amendment No. 3 would provide continuity of government in an emergency by specifying that the lieutenant governor shall take over the governorship in the event a vacancy occurs or the governor become incapacitated.

Amendment No. 4 would set up a procedure whereby citizens who have moved to a new voting precinct within 30 days of an election would be permitted to vote.

Pennington Co. Welfare Board at Conference

Local Officials at Region 3 Meeting in Detroit Lakes Oct. 13

Region 3 of the Minnesota Welfare Conference met in Detroit Lakes Thursday, October 13, at the First Lutheran church. The region is made up of ten counties in Northwestern Minnesota.

Approximately 150 persons attended the conference. Present from Pennington county were Mrs. Hans Chommie, Mrs. Arvid Dahlstrom of St. Hilaire, Glen Tasa, Merle Lindberg and Carl Anderson, all members of the Pennington county welfare board. Staff members attending were Ralph Hunt, Beverly Vietha, Burton Kvernevig and John Lynskey.

Theme of the conference was "Children — Our Responsibility." L. Irving Peterson, supervisor of aid to dependent children for the Minnesota department of public welfare, spoke on the topic "A.D.C. Benefits Children." Mr. Peterson stressed all of the good which children have derived from the program through the years and the fact that they have been able to stay with their families through their childhood and adolescent years.

Miss Francis Coakley, who is supervisor of the section for mentally deficient and epileptic in the department of public welfare, spoke on the topic "Minnesota Serves the Retarded." Miss Coakley explained the department's plans and goals in this field today, and the need for working out the best possible plans for the retarded child.

During the afternoon session a panel discussion on adoptions was presented. The panel was moderated by Ed MacGaffey, adoption supervisor for the department of public welfare. The group told of the work and problems in placing children for adoption and placed much emphasis on the way the public and private agencies work together in this field.

In 1961 the conference will be held in Crookston. Officers elected for 1961 include Alton Hanson, chairman; Emil Bagley, vice chairman; and Charles Fecht, secretary-treasurer. All are from Polk county.

Firemen were called out at 9:30 this morning when smoke filled the Tip Top Shoe Service building at 214 Second st. E.

Top of Nation Dairy Cattle Sale Thursday

All of these cattle with the exception of five or six head come from herds averaging better than 400 lbs. fat, and two herds over 500 lbs. fat are represented.

Martin Carrico of Hallock is manager and auctioneer of the sale, which will get under way at 12 o'clock noon. The two local banks will clerk the sale.

Many have been "calfhood" vaccinated and all have met the rigid production requirements of 400 lbs. of fat if grade, and 450 lbs. fat if registered, and heifers cosigned must have dams with these minimum requirements.

Rev. E. Oscarson of Newfolden to Take Pastorate at Zion

Rev. Eldor Oscarson, pastor of the Newfolden parish of the Lutheran Free Church, has accepted the call of the Zion Lutheran church of Thief River Falls and will assume duties in the local church early in January.

The announcement was made by Dr. Ralph Helm, chairman of the call committee.

Pastor and Mrs. Oscarson have five children. He has served the Newfolden parish for the past two years.

Until January, the church will be served by Harold Underdahl, a senior student at Concordia college in Moorhead, who will conduct interim services.

Mrs. Charles Warner, former local resident, who has spent the past month visiting relatives here, left Saturday afternoon for her home in Santa Ana, Calif.

Thief River Falls grade and high school pupils had a half day vacation Thursday as the result of one of a rash of water main breaks which broke out last week.

School was dismissed at 11 a.m. when the largest of the breaks at Knight av. and Second st. needed the second repair job in 24 hours. The first of the breaks was repaired early in the day but the pipe, weakened by chemical action of the soil, again ruptured. By the time workmen completed the job Thursday evening, a 15-foot section had been replaced.

An earlier break in the 400 block on Duluth av. S. was repaired Wednesday and a third break at the junction of Arnold av. S. and Highway 32 was discovered and repaired Thursday evening.

These disruptions in water service were in addition to a 2½-hour shutoff for the eastern section of the city Tuesday evening while work was being done near the old elevated water tank on Second st. as a part of the water system improvement.

During work at the latter location, two interruption of telephone service occurred. The first break Tuesday night was caused by a power shovel which cut a 200-pair cable which primarily serves the fire alarm circuit and the city to the north and east along the Soo Line tracks. The break was repaired at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday;

A second break in the same area occurred the following day when telephone cables, supported in the open excavation by a plank, was broken when a part of the street beside the excavation caved in. The 26-pair cable, servicing some businesses in that area, was soon repaired.

A. K. Bacon, wire chief of the local Northwestern Bell office, has asked that anyone making excavations in streets for water and sewer connections first check with the offices for the various utilities to make certain that lines will not be broken and services disrupted.

VFW Post Invites Entries in Script Writing Contest

The local post in cooperation with Radio Station KTRF will hold the area contest at the local radio station on November 5. The winner will advance to the district contest which will be held in Detroit Lakes. That winner will go to the regional contest which will be held in Duluth.

The local post announced it will give a $25 bond to the winner and that the 9th District VFW will give a $50 bond to the district winner. The national winner will get a free trip to Washington, D. C., and get a college scholarship.

The contest is sponsored jointly by the National Assn. of Broadcasters, the Electronic Industries of America, the State Assn. of Broadcasters, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U.S.

Any student in the area who is interested can contact Roy A. Jorgenson of the local VFW post for particulars or Radio Station KTRF.

Show Set for Arena; Many Events 3 Days Thursday-Saturday

New-car buyers and those who "just want to look around" will have the opportunity to compare all the 1961 models under one roof Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22, in the Arena.

The auto show, held in conjunction with the Thief River Falls Farm Forum October 20-22, will feature cars in all price ranges, models and sizes.

Of special interest this year will be several new compact models and major changes in the familiar lines. Extended warranties are being offered by some manufacturers and many of the 1961 models are narrower and shorter than those of last year.

Aluminum engines are featured in some makes this year and some manufacturers are introducing smaller versions of their automobiles in addition to their regular models.

Everyone is invited to attend the free show in the Arena and to register for four prizes of 25 silver dollars each which will be given away.

Another feature of the three-day event will be the annual Top of the Nation dairy cattle sale to be held Thursday starting at noon in the livestock pavilion at the fair grounds. Details are given elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

Other events covered by separate stories include a farm outlook meeting to be held Thursday evening in the county agent's room in the court house; a soils meeting Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the city Auditorium; and the bringing in of soil samples Thursday and Friday to be sent into the state laboratory for testing.

Soil Bank Payments of $680,698 Made in County to Oct. 12

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced today that the county office had mailed out 571 United States Treasury checks amounting to $680,598 as of the close of business October 12. These checks represent payments to contract holders who cooperated in the soil bank program in 1960. Approximately $200,000 remains to be paid out in the county this year.

Culkins said that there may be some delay in disbursing additional payments due to the fact that contract signers have not signed their compensation statements, which is a requirement prior to the time the county office is permitted to issue a check in payment of 1960 claims.

He stated further that all contract holders who have not received their payments are invited to call at the county ASC office and affix their signatures to the document, or call or write the county office and request that the documents be mailed to them for signature.

Farm Study Group Chosen Thursday

Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents in the parish hall for approximately 240 guests. The bridal party was seated at a table centered by a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses, white satin ribbon and topped by a miniature bride and groom. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Carroll Curtiss and Mrs. Ernest Berg and cut and served by Mrs. Melvin Ellefson and Mrs. Ernest Berg. Mrs. Elmer Benson and Mrs. William Jesme, aunts of the groom, poured. Waitresses were Marion Jesme, Diane Gust, Janice Swenson, Sandra Stanina, Shirley Kruta and Avis Knutson. By Eleanor Olson

There must be many other homeowners who are getting ready to put their yards and gardens to bed for the winter as I am. There is still so much left to do that I know that spring will come and I will find much of it still waiting for attention. I am trying hard to put jobs in order of priority, but it isn't always easy to figure out just which tasks should be labeled as firsts.

For instance, the new tulip bulbs have to be dug in. The potting soil for next spring's flats and pots must be mixed and carried to the basement. And, with the prolonged dry weather we have had all this fall, the perennials and trees must all be well watered so they won't go into the winter dry. With most of the harvest done in the surrounding area I find myself wishing hard for good soaking rains before things freeze in for the winter.

With all of these jobs and many others too numerous to mention waiting for me (The biggest ignored item is the covering of leaves that hides the grass in the yard completely now) I am keeping a garden book by my bed to browse through before I go to sleep. With its help I am able to plan the jobs that I can work in the following day, and I hope it will keep me from forgetting anything of prime importance.

The Better Homes and Gardens Book and 10,000 Garden Questions edited by F. F. Rockwell and compiled by a board of 15 experts both are grand for short concise instructions on how to protect roses and evergreens. I found, for instance, that no other substance can give roses the protection that banked soil can in the winter. Even at below zero temperatures it is conducting the heat of the lower earth upwards to protect the buried branches and stems.

Burlap wrappings can protect a plant from winter burn and if applied carefully to evergreens can keep branches from breaking under a heavy snow load, but neither burlap, straw or leaves actually keep a plant warm. However, a layer of leaves or manure can keep moisture in the ground if you have watered in the fall and it can keep earth from alternately freezing and thawing in sheltered areas in March.

I really am not ignoring my leaves, but I am waiting for help which I hope my husband will give me, for I am determined this year to start the compost pile that we have talked about for three years. The 10,000 Question Book gives the ingredients for an inexpensive reagent to spread over each six inch layer of leaves to hasten the decomposition process and produce useable green manure in a matter of months instead of the usual three years. My flower borders are unfortunately built on the clay from the basement excavation which was leveled instead of hauled away, so I need every bit of humus I can get to lighten the soil.

The October chapter in George Luxton's Flower Growing in the North is a helpful guide and reminder for all these getting-ready-for-winer tasks. I don't have any dahlias or gladioli so I know little about preparing bulbs for winter storage, but all of the books I have mentioned give directions for it.

The October issue of the Flower Grower is especially interesting too. And if you need information about slipping or potting plants for your winter house plant garden you'll find lots of help at the library for that too. Above all, remember never to quote me as a garden expert I am a green, green, green beginner who has a bare two years of experience behind me. But I have become a quoter of experts all of whom have written the books which I find at the library.

135 4-H Livestock Exhibitors & Leaders Honored at Banquet

A total of 135 4-H'er livestock exhibitors and 4-H leaders were feted at a banquet sponsored by the Farmers Union Livestock Shipping associations to give recognition to 4-H members who are doing a good job with their livestock and to encourage expansion of the livestock industry in northwest Minnesota.

The first place 4-H'er in county competitions received a trophy presented by Cy Carpenter, Farmers Union fieldman, and Art Stordahl in behalf of the shipping association. The six counties that participated in the banquet and the winners were: Pennington county, Spencer Oen, sheep; Charlene Myers, beef; Gene Legg, hog; Lake of the Woods county, Stewart Olson, sheep; Richard Sterlien, beef; Wayne Sterlien, swine; Marshall county, Michael Anderson, sheep; Alden Johnson, beef; Ann Strandberg, swine; Kittson county, Larry Bele, sheep; Karen Carlson, beef; Roscoe Herseth, swine; Red Lake county, Shirleen Naas, sheep; Gary Purath, beef; James Boutain, swine; Roseau county, Dale Billberg, sheep; Ione Evans, beef; Rodney Johnson, swine.

The banquet was opened by a welcome from Bernard Myers, president of Pennington county Farmers Union with Harold Myers of the Silverton 4-H club giving the response in behalf of the 4-H'ers. Mayor Orin Green greeted the visitors to the city of Thief River Falls.

Milton Olson, probation officer and speaker at the banquet, pointed out that in his work he has never had a serious problem with any 4-H'er who took his work seriously and stayed in club work for several years. Continued law violations, he said, are caused by sick youngsters which jails and leashes, in most cases, will not cure. He also stated the great need for foster homes for youngsters who in many cases are not offenders of the law but had to be removed from their own homes because of brutal fathers or mothers.

The Lincoln high school chorus under the direction of Bryant Ulseth, presented several numbers and the Lincoln high school band, directed by John Moum, gave an entertaining presentation of a symphonette.

Rolly Larson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, acted as master of ceremonies for the banquet. Floral arrangements from Mostue's Flower Shop graced the head table and the Zion Ladies Aid served the banquet. This was the second year of the 4-H Livestock Awards Roundup sponsored by the Farmers Union. The first banquet was held at Roseau last year and is rotated among the six counties participating. Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Kittson, Red Lake and Lake of the Woods.

Stubble mulching is good management practice and good soil conservation practice, says Leonard Hapka, cooperator with the Marshall County Soil Conservation district. "If I stubble mulch the fall before I put in potatoes there is enough straw left at digging time to carry the potatoes. As a result I get less bruising and more carloads of No. 1 stock," Hapka says.

Fertilizer recommendations based on soil tests are the best, says Clarence Rosetter, a farmer in Yellow Medicine county's Stony Run township. This spring Rosetter sent in soil samples from his corn fields. On one field he followed the fertilizer recommendation based on the tests; another field he fertilized by guess. Rosetter told Dave Johnson, Yellow Medicine county agent, that the only field of corn he is satisfied with is the one where he followed the fertilizer recommendation.

A dairy herd can pay for a farm pond, according to Peter Walhof, a cooperator with the Pipestone Soil and Water Conservation district. Walhof was somewhat dubious as to the benefits of a farm pond when he built his dugout pond in 1958. Today he reports that this source of high quality water in his pasture is paying off in better use of his grassland and in increased milk production. Runoff water is now being put to good use in over 150 pits and ponds in the Pipestone Soil and Water Conservation district.

Fall Garden Clean Up

Remove dead plants and rake up fruits of tomato, cucumber and melon that are left. This practice will help prevent many volunteer plants from coming up in the garden next year. If you've had trouble with disease and insects in the garden, burn the debris.

If you have done a good job of controlling pests in your garden, you can compost the refuse instead of burning it. Well rotted and decomposed leaves and refuse make an excellent soil conditioner and add valuable fertilizer to the soil.

Don't cut off tops of asparagus plants unless there's rust on the foliage. Leave the tops to catch snow over winter and increase the soil moisture for next spring's growth. The tops may be cut off and burned next spring.

Fall plowing will help destroy many of the insect pests in the soil. It will also improve the organic structure of the soil and prepare it for next spring.

Beautiful, sunny autumn weather added its bit to making the second annual Marshall County Historical Society tour a success Sunday, October 9, when over 125 persons from the county turned out to tour the Mud and Thief Lake areas, the Warren Sheaf reports. Brief histories of the area were given with local arrangements made by Delmar Hagen, member of the society's board of governors.

Starting at the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Herb Dill, refuge manager, gave a brief history of the 61,000 acre area dedicated to the development and preservation of wildlife. After much of the area had been unsuccessfully farmed from the turn of the century until the 30's, the national government took over the land which had reverted to the state for non-payment of taxes.

Water levels were raised following abortive ditching attempts to drain the land for farming and the area was repopulated with wildlife which now abounds throughout the refuge, about two townships in size.

The tour group saw two moose, geese ducks and other forms of wildlife as it proceeded across the refuge, not usually opened to visitors, to the north side. The tour continued north to the Thief Lake Refuge headquarters where ladies from the area served lunch prior to talks by the oldtimers.

Coming to the Thief Lake area from St. Hilaire in June 1890, Carl Berg told of building, with his father, the first log shanty of poles, sod and hay. He said four more persons came in the spring of 1891 but they didn't stay. In 1892 four more persons came from the St. Hilaire area to settle. They were John Youngberg, Nels Skoglund, Lars Anderson and Tores Treftlin. John Youngberg started a saw mill near the present dam site on the lake.

The township was organized in 1895 with the following officers: John Borsen, clerk; Gene Webster, justic of the peace; T. O. Moe, assessor and treasurer; Eric Setterlund, Nels Olson and Christ Wallecker, supervisors.

E. L. Ingalls of Spruce Valley township told of coming to this area in 1887 with his parents. In 1888 his father aided in getting the township organized and also got Ingalls post office established where he was the postmaster for 21 years.

Concluding the day, Mrs. Hollis Thygeson issued an appeal on behalf of the people of the area for aid in securing the formation of a state park in the area around the Thief Lake dam. She mentioned the great amount of Indian tradition and lore surrounding the are and the distance from a lake of any great size. "Game and fish (department) has said if enough of you get behind the project we could get a park near the dam."

Rep. Langen Offers a Few 'Helpful Hints'

Ask Odin Langen, Representative from Minnesota's Ninth District, about his average workday in Washington and he'll give you this answer: "As a lifelong farmer at Kennedy, Minnesota, I've been accustomed to a full day's labor — but after a day at my desk and in the House of Representatives, I'm not sure which is the more tiring." To any individual who intends to devote his life in public service, Langen has this bit of advice: "Make up your mind that you must be available every hour of any day . . . and always keep foremost before you the responsibilities your public service entails."

Langen

Why In Politics?

Why did 6' 5" Odin Langen leave his farm to enter politics? As he puts it, "I wasn't satisfied that our Ninth District was getting much-needed representation in Washington—so I decided to do something about it." And "do something", Langen did. Elected to the United States House of Representatives in 1958, Odin Langen has built an unequalled record of service in just two short years. During those two years, Langen has yet to miss a single quorum call or roll call vote. Whereas, in the period prior to Langen's election, the Minnesota Ninth District failed to be represented by his present opponent on 131 critical quorum and roll calls.

"But being there is just part of the responsibility," Langen emphasized. "It is equally important to devote the necessary time to study of bills and issues—and determine their effect on our Ninth District families, and the nation as a whole."

In 1958, Odin Langen published the principles which he believes in and works for. They include key issues such as a realistic farm economy, equal educational opportunity, world peace, realistic tax program, protection of veterans' rights and security for our older citizens. In referring to this eight-point program, published two years ago, Langen states, "It's interesting to note that my opponent is so "taken" with my 1958 statement of principles that she has lifted it, word-for-word and comma-for-comma—and is now using it as her 1960 platform. "Needless to say," Langen continues, "I shall continue to work for these principles—and at the same time, I welcome my opponent's endorsement of my program."

With regard to his labors in Washington, Odin Langen sums it up with this thought. "An entirely different type of labor than farming, but immensely rewarding when I analyze it in terms of service to my friends and neighbors and every family throughout the Ninth District."

MY, HOW COMPLEX life has become. Supermarkets have discovered that mayonnaise sells better when it's displayed on the lower shelves. For some reason or other, top shelves lack sales appeal—for mayonnaise.

WINTER CHANGE-OVER time is at hand. This, I learn, applies to Minnesota's mining industry in a big way. Thousands of men are at work on Minnesota's Iron Ranges during the winter, as various companies carry out maintenance work, repair equipment in processing plants and carry out stripping operations—the removal of dirt and rock from iron ore deposits. All of this work is done in the winter, and getting the hundreds of trucks, shovels and other equipment ready, means big winter changeover.

A MINNEAPOLIS BARBER who's a deaf mute obtained a divorce recently. He testified that his wife was constantly nagging him in sign language and he couldn't keep his eyes off her nimble fingers . . . The air force has ramifications you'd hardly guess. Recently, they've been conducting experiments by implanting a tiny radio in dentures to measure to what extent persons grind their teeth while sleeping. In extreme cases, it was discovered, some men were found to grind their teeth as much as four hours during a night of slumber . . . a municipal on-sale operator has installed seat belts on his stools to protect customers when the room starts going around.

UNDERGROUND STORAGE of vital government and public records is a step recommended by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization to insure that civil government and the economy could survive a massive attack. Storing vital papers through microfilm or other means also would protect the individual's legal rights, such as proof of birth or property ownership. This storage area, 650 feet down in a salt mine, is typical of similar facilities scattered across the Nation where vital records are preserved. QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—When does a veteran at school under the Korean GI Bill get his school allowance from VA? My first month of classroom work is almost over and I have not yet received my allowance.

A—Under law, school allowances may not be paid until after classroom work for the month covered by VA's check has been completed, and VA must receive a certificate of attendance signed by you and a representative of the school, before it can start payment. Usually it takes another three weeks for the check to reach you. That is why VA always urges veterans to be prepared for a two-month delay in receipt of the first check.

Q—Can a youn man or woman eligible for training under the War Orphans Education Act get a regular high school education under the program?

A—No. The law prohibits a young man or woman from taking a regular high school education under this program. Many below - college level courses may be taken, but the student must have completed or quit high school, and the course must offer specialized vocational training fitting him or her for a vocational goal.

Q—My GI insurance dividends are being held by VA as a credit under the Credit Option setup. If I fail to pay my quarterly premium due next month, will VA deduct it from my dividend credit?

A—No. VA is permitted to withdraw only one monthly premium at a time, under that option. You may, however, ask VA to withdraw the whole amount held, and pay premiums as far in advance as the amount will cover.

Q—Suppose a veteran dies without naming a beneficiary for his GI insurance policy. I understand the money would be paid to his estate, but how? Would it be in one lump sum, or in installments?

A—The insurance payments would be paid in one lump sum to the veteran's estate.

Let's Save the Mental Health Program

During the past two years, Minnesota's Mental Health Program—once an example for the entire nation—has suffered a serious decline. This is due to the lack of effective leadership by the governor.

Elmer L. Andersen

Key people have left our state hospitals in utter discouragement and staff morale has fallen badly. The entire program needs new vitality and new leadership.

As part of a program to revitalize our state's mental health service, as governor I would:

- Meet monthly with superintendents and department heads.
- Review with legislative leaders salary scales, rate changes and civil service procedure.
- Give each hospital greater local authority.
- Provide leadership in presenting needs to the people and the legislature.

It is one thing to be for a program. It is quite another to devote the time, energy and perseverance to bring it about successfully. This I did for the mental health program in my ten years as State Senator. This I will do as Governor.

Moorhead Spuds Trim Prowlers Friday 33-14

Scoring touchdowns in every period of play and limiting the Prowlers to but two touchdowns, the Moorhead Spuds defeated the locals, 33 to 14, in a football game played on the Lincoln field here on Friday night.

This week the Prowlers will travel to Bemidji for their annual and traditional game against coach Ken Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks. The game is a Northwest conference tilt, and the two teams boast unbeaten records in conference play, with the Jacks having a mark of three wins and no losses, while the Prowlers have two wins and no losses. In ast week's game, the Bemidji team defeated Crookston Central, 14 to 7.

In Friday night's game, Moorhead capitalized on a Prowler fumble to score their first period touchdown, and took advantage of a poor kick early in the second period to score their second touchdown.

The Prowlers, defending the north goal, accepted the game-opening kickoff, and on the first play from scrimmage, at the Prowler 30-yard line, a fumble gave the Spuds possession. Five plays, hitting at the tackles, moved the ball to the 1-yard line, and from there Dick Sapa drove over for a touchdown. A high pass from center disrupted the Moorhead placement-kick try for the conversion point.

Early in the second period, from the Prowler 14-yard line, Harvey Ebbighausen's kick went out-of-bounds on the Prowler 17-yard line. Halfback Doug Eckheart and fullback Jerry England slammed into the line for a first down on the Prowler 4-yard line. Eckheart drove thru left guard for a touchdown, and when Wes Martins' placekick cleared the uprights, the Spuds held a 13 to 0 lead.

The Spuds, taking the kickoff, began a sustained drive from the Moorhead 40-yard line that was culmianted by a 7-yard sweep out around right end for a touchdown by quarterback John Carlander. Martin's successful placekick gave coach Jim Gotta's club a 20 to 7 lead at the intermission.

Moorhead, late in the third period, added a touchdown on Carlander's 5-yard sweep out around left end, Martins again added the point on a placekick. The long gainer in the sequence of plays that began on the Moorhead 31-yard line was a 33-yard sprint by right halfback Dick Sapa.

In the fourth period, on the fourth play from scrimmage, Paul Klungness, from the Moorhead 43-yard line, cut through left tackle, reversed his field and out-ran the Spuds' secondary to score a touchdown. Lietzow, on a plunge, added the point to pare the Moorhead lead to 27 to 14.

Late in the game, Moorhead notched their final touchdown when Carlander, from the 5-yard line, swept around right end for a TD. Martins' placement kick was wide of the goal-posts, and Moorhead had their 33 to 14 win.

Schedule, Thursday, Oct. 18
Washington vs. Northrop

The Washington Wildcats, with fullback Bob Marquis scoring touchdowns in the first and third periods and quarterback Bobby Brodin adding a touchdown in the fourth period, defeated the Knox Tigers, 18 to 0, at the Lincoln athletic field on Thursday afternoon.

Washington scored in the first period of Thursday's game when Marquis swept out around end for 40 yards and a touchdown. The Wildcats threatened to score in the second period, but strong defensive play by Knox linebacker Billy Dicken, who crashed through the Washington forwards to toss Marquis for losses on successive plays, halted the drive.

In the third period, Marquis, on a fifty-yard gallop up the west sideline for a touchdown, giving the Wildcats a 12 to 0 lead.

In the final period, Brodin, on a keeper play, hustled for ten yards and a touchdown to close out the game's scoring and give the 'Cats their 18 to 0 win.

2 Lincoln Seniors Rate High in Test

Catherine Stone and Pam Thorkelson Praised

Two seniors at Lincoln high school have been honored for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test given last spring. Each student who is endorsed by his school received a formal letter of commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

"Letters of commendation are being awarded to some 28,000 students throughout the United States in recognition of their excellent performance on the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test.

"While these bright youngsters did not reach the status of semi-finalists in the 1960-61 Merit program, they are so outstanding that we wish to single them out for special attention. The semi-finalists and commended students together constitute less than three per cent of all high school seniors, and this certainly signifies noteworthy achievement."

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Second Thoughts

Last week in our comments we were lavish in our praise of the Detroit Lakes Lakers' quarterback, Dennis Raffenbeul. And on his play against the Prowlers, he warranted this praise and rating as the best quarterback to appear here this season.

That was last week, before coach Jim Gotta and the Moorhead Spuds brought this quarterback, John Carlander, here. After Carlander's exhibition against the Prowlers on Friday night, we have some second thoughts on the season's best quarterback to show on the Lincoln field. Carlander was very deft in handling the ball on the Spuds' "belly series" of plays, and it was extremely difficult to follow the ball as the Moorhead quarterback would feint the handoffs to the backs as they moved into the line.

Time after time, the Prowlers forwards would crash through to tackle a backfield who appeared to have the ball, only to find that Carlander had withdrawn the ball and gone for a gallop. On three occasions, Carlander swept out around the flanks, on the keeper play, to score touchdowns.

We must give the Lakers' Raffenbeul an edge in forward passing, and the fact that Raffenbeul is a southpaw adds to his effectiveness. On Friday night, Moorhead's Carlander was off target several times on his passes, and a couple of his tosses should have been intercepted.

Well, we'll maintain that the Lakers' Raffenbeul is the best lefthanded quarterback to play here this season. No arguments about that.

Pine-to-Prairie's Big Game

The football game scheduled to be played at Mahnomen on Wednesday night, with the Warren Ponies meeting the Mahnomen Indians, should be one of the features of this season's Pine-to-Prairie play.

If the Warren Ponies defeat the Indians, and they will be the slight favorites, it is probable that the conference championship will be shared by two teams, Ada and Warren. The two teams, following their tie game of several weeks ago, have been rampaging through the conference undefeated.

Last week, Ada defeated Fertile, 46 to 7, while Warren, with fullback Wayne Edgar scoring twenty points, defeated Fosston, 47 to7. Mahnomen was priming their attack for this week's game by scoring a 12 to 0 win over Twin Valley.

Wednesday night's game should provide some extra entertainment for the fans in the league scoring duel between Mahnomen's Jim Klepetka and Warren's Edga. The two players have been one-two all season, and Edgar's 20-point production Friday moved him within reach of the league-leading Klepetka.

A Buddy?

Dennis (Cotton) Langevin will testify to the fact that it is a joy to have a hunting buddy who will provide equipment, such as a gun, so that a hunting trip can be a success.

Last Monday, Cotton and Ivan Bundy were organizing a trip to the Nelson slough area, and as they were about to depart, Langevin discovered that his shotgun was broken. A hunting buddy then volunteered his services, and obtained an auto-loading shotgun for Cotton, and vouched for the functioning of the gun.

The two sportsmen made the trip to the slough, spent considerable time in placing the decoys and erecting blinds, and then sat back to await a flight of mallards. It wasn't too long before a small flock of mallards came in to the slough, and decoyed perfectly, settling among the decoys. Up and at 'em was the battle cry, and Cotton and Ivan opened fire. The only thing wrong was that Cotton's shotgun, the one provided by his buddy was missing a firing pin! and was Langevin mad! This buddy protests that he did not know that the shotgun was lacking a firing pin when it was given to Cotton. That's a pretty lame explanation, and it is unacceptable to Langevin.

Research at the University of Minnesota's Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston, clearly shows that a ration of alfalfa hay and a barley-oats grain mixture normally supplies plenty of protein for fattening yearling cattle.

In two trials, livestock scientists compared 40 steers per trial fed in four lots of 10 each. A pelleted grain mixture and alfalfa hay were fed according to appetite and the cattle had free access to a 5-50 mixture of trace bone meal. mineralized salt and steamed

Grain pellets of 70 per cent barley and 30 per cent oats were fed to two lots of steers. For the other two lots, 3 per cent of dried cane molasses was substituted for 2 per cent of the barley and 1 per cent of the oats. With each kind of grain pellet the steers were fed either one pound of soybean oil meal or one pound of ground shelled corn per head daily. The corn was added only to balance the TDN supplied by the soybean oil meal in the other ration.

Steers fed the ground shelled corn supplement made slightly more rapid gains and took about 31 pounds less per hundred pounds of gain than those fed soybean oil meal supplement. The margin per steer over feed cost was $10.03 for those fed the corn supplement and $5.70 for those whose ration contained soybean oil meal.

Substituting dried cane molasses for part of the grain in the pellet had little effect on feed consumption, daily gain or efficiency of feed use. But adding molasses did increase the feed cost of gains and cut down the return over feed cost per steer.

Steers fed a corn-supplemented ration with molasses showed a margin of $8.95 per steer over feed cost. This compares with a $3.71 margin for those fed molasses with the soybean oil meal supplement.

Naval ROTC Tests Set December 10

November 18 Is Deadline for Filing Applications

High school seniors and graduates who are interested in earning a commission in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps should send in their applications now to take the Navy college aptitude test which is the qualifying examination for the Regular Naval Reserve officers training corps. Deadline date for mailing applications is November 18, 1960. The test will be administered on one day only, December 10, for the 1961 increment of the NROTC program.

The Regular NROTC program provides education and training at 52 leading colleges and universities to be fully qualified for by the Navy in addition to an annual retainer of $600 for not more than four years. During the summers between academic years, the NROTC Midshipmen go on interesting and exciting training cruises to many parts of the world with liberal liberty in foreign ports.

Graduates are commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and go on active duty in the Navy. Duty preferences are carefully considered and may include immediate assignment to submarine or aviation training or in such technical fields as nucleonics, electronics and many other assignments available in the Navy of today and tomorrow.

Applicants must have reached their 17th birthday but must not have reached their 21st birthday on July 1, 1961. Those who score sufficiently high on the Navy college aptitude test will be scheduled to report to a Navy Recruiting Station for physical examination, interviews and preparation of an application file for consideration by a state selection committee. It is anticipated that 1600 candidates will be selected for the 1961 Regular NROTC program.

Application forms for the test may be obtained from your high school counselor or Navy recruiting station.

Bond Buying Goes on at Steady Pace

The increasing popularity of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Minnesota continued in September with statewide purchases that were 17 per cent above September 1959," J. M. Roche, county chairman, reported today.

"The general decline in interest rates has made the 3¾ per cent rate to maturity on savings bonds increasingly attractive to purchasers," he added.

Year to date purchases in Minnesota now total $36,987,000 and are $5,100,000 or 9.8 per cent above the same period of last year.

September purchases of Series E and H saving bonds in Pennington county totaled $17,386, bringing the year to date purchases to $192,044 or 85.9 per cent of the county goal for 1960.

The counties leading in quota attainment are: Mahnomen, 146.1 per cent; Kittson, 117.3; and Clearwater, 113.4.

Vegetables Are Thrifty Buy Today

Minnesota Products Are Now in Good Supply

Minnesota-grown fall vegetables are among the most thrifty buys at fresh produce counters this week, reports Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Minnesota carrots, squash, cabbage, cauliflower and red potatoes are in liberal supply and of good quality. There are plenty of pumpkins, too, for pumpkin pies and for Halloween jack-o-lanterns.

Most plentiful and highest quality fruits at local markets include California Tokay grapes, Midwest McIntosh and Delicious apples, Jonathan apples from the Northwest and cranberries. Some Concord grapes are still available.

Beef, eggs and cheese are good choices for protein foods for October meals. Choice and good grades of beef are being featured in markets this week. Medium sizes are likely to be the best buy in eggs.

Budget Time Again

Until a few years ago Thief River Falls had the lowest tax rate for municipal purposes of any city of its size in the state. Then came the period of postponed construction that followed World War II. Short term bonds could be sold at more favorable interest rates than long term issues, and building projects were financed by the sale of bonds that matured in ten years. It was the intention of the city officials at that time to spread enough of the maturities over a longer period of time to maintain a debt retirement schedule that could be taken in stride.

Later administrations did not follow through with this kind of refinancing. Interest rates had gone up and the old issues could not be paid off in part by borrowing without increasing interest costs. So taxes were increased substantially for debt service and Thief River Falls was no longer a city of low taxes.

We now have survived that period. The peak of our debt load has been passed. In 1959, and again in 1960, our bond maturities totalled $180,000. For 1961 this total drops $30,000, and by the end of the next five years the annual maturities will be less than $100,000, a decrease of $80,000 from recent levels. That is an encouraging prospect.

Following is a schedule of the annual maturities of the city's bonded debt as it will be at the end of this year, including our obligations for this year's improvements.

Year	Total Maturities	Five-Year Totals
1961	149,500
1962	134,500
1963	117,750
1964	114,750
1965	106,750	623,250
1966	92,000
1967	67,000
1968	67,000
1969	67,250
1970	72,250	365,500
1971	57,250
1972	62,500
1973	62,500
1974	47,500
1975	45,000	274,750
1976	45,000
1977	50,000
1978	35,000
1979	35,000
1980	30,000	195,000
1981	10,000	10,000
TOTAL	1,468,500	1,468,500

The city's funded debt of $1,468,500, as it will be at the beginning of the next fiscal year, is offset by approximately $200,000 in assessments receivable for storm sewer and street improvements that will be paid by benefited property owners. We are told that the city is in good financial condition otherwise, and is meeting its current obligations without difficulty.

As far as we have been able to determine, the city is not faced with any unusual need for capital outlay that will be a problem. A substantial expenditure will be required to improve the city's power distributing system in 1962, but there is no good reason why that improvement should not be spread over a period of years, to be paid for by those who will benefit.

At the present time the city is levying 37.76 mills for debt service, and that raises approximately $100,000. Only a few mills are spread for other purposes, so it is fair to say that the city's entire tax levy is for debt service. Therefore, for all practical purposes, to whatever extent we can reduce the levy for debt service we can reduce the tax for municipal purposes.

The total of bond maturities during the next ten years is about one million dollars, or approximately $100,000 a year. If we were handling this debt problem as individuals we probably would plan to meet this obligation with ten equal payments of $100,000 each. Our bond maturities next year will drop $30,000 from the level of the past two years. If we leveled off the maturities of the next ten years at $100,000 a year we probably could get along without any mill levy for debt service.

And what would be do for new improvements during this ten-year period? There will be a need for some improvements that are essential during that time, and there are some improvements that, while not essential, this would be a better community if we had them. In some respects we have been standing still too long.

If we spent a million dollars for improvements during the next ten years, to be paid for during the following ten years, citizens of Thief River Falls would be in just as good circumstances as we are today, and they probably would be in much better circumstances.

A very small part of our cost of municipal government is met by taxation. All of the operating costs of the city, plus a large part of the cost of debt service is paid for out of the profits of the municipal plant and the municipal store, and the municipal plant should become increasingly profitable over a period of years. By a more realistic approach to the problem of debt reduction we are not penalizing or adding to the burden of a future generation. We would merely be giving ourselves a measure of relief from a debt reduction program that has been unfair to us because of the too-fast payoff.

These matters are important now because this is the time of the year when the Council must determine its program for the coming year and establish a budget. These are matters that are of special interest to the taxpayers, and we are hopeful that our taxpayers will show more interest in them than they have in recent years. We are satisfied that the facts, as we have presented them, are correct. Our conclusions are not necessarily right. They are controversial, and that is as it should be.

But, we are sure, a more general discussion of these overall problems, would be in the best interests of the city of Thief River Falls and all of its citizens.

A Good Market

The October issue of Land O' Lakes News contained an interesting story of a turkey farm operation southwest of Roseau that is doing well. On the J & W Ranch, Albert Jaeniche and Martin Hedlund are marketing a flock of 80,000 birds this year, double the size of their last year's total.

The J & W Ranch is not typical of the operations of turkey growers in this area. It is unusual in that it is the largest of such operations. But it is representative of the trend toward larger flocks and general management methods in a segment of our agriculture that has made notable strides in recent years.

There has been a big increase in turkey production in northwestern Minnesota this year and another increase is anticipated for next year. Prices are more favorable than they have been for some time and this may result in overproduction and lower prices next year, but the growers we have talked to appear to be reconciled to the ups and downs of the market.

This area is well suited for turkey production and the quality of our birds ranks high. Another important advantage is the fact that we have a good market. Not all of the turkeys grown in northwestern Minnesota are processed at the local Land O' Lakes plant but that plant does provide a competitive market in the area and that is good for all of the turkey growers.

The turkey harvest is bringing millions of dollars into northwestern Minnesota, and that is good for all of us.

(Portland Oregonian)

Henry Cabot Lodge moves in an aura of statesmanship wherever he goes and whatever he discusses, which gives him unique stature in the campaign. While the other candidates are slugging it out at the usual political level, the illustrious longtime United States ambassador to the United Nations, a world statesman of the first rank, brings to the campaign a refreshing element of candor and confidence.

We have been most impressed by Ambassador Lodge's refusal to seek political advantages by extravagant statements on world issues. In press conferences, television interviews, and speeches, Mr. Lodge discusses the problems of America and the world as if there were no Presidential campaign in progress. These are problems with which he has lived for the past 7½ years and which will continue no matter which ticket wins in November. Of course, foreign policy enters the thinking of voters. Yet Mr. Lodge manages to establish himself on a plane above political brawling on the issue.

Mr. Lodge's calm, good humored, intelligent appraisal of world events provides, naturally, a superior platform on which to stand for election. And it is made stronger, rather than weakened, by his avoidance of commitments and promises which would have a political rather than a diplomatic purpose. Thus, he refuses to say what the United States would do should the Cubans try to force us out of the Guantanamo naval base. But he does say, with quiet conviction, that the United States need not give up any position it holds if it wishes to stay.

Mr. Lodge speaks with the confidence of experience and from the record of his masterful work in the U.N. on the overwhelming issue of today and the future: United States relations with the communist empire.

Living Cost Index

(Baltimore Sun)

Between May and June the cost of living as measured by the Government index rose at the rate of 1 cent in every $5. To be sure, that adds up in a housewife's monthly trading, but the gain is less than mountainous. . . .

Particularly encouraging is the news that service prices, though still rising in the new index, have slowed their rate of rise. As has often been pointed out, the rise in services prices very closely reflects the rise in general wages. This is because the service industries have to match wage rises in other lines to hold their employees. . . .

It follows that any slowing down of general wage raises would press toward slowing the increase of service prices. We know that union statesmanship and management prudence have combined to ease (though not to terminate) wage inflation in recent months. Will this moderating wage rule in general industry continue, and is it already beginning to reflect back in slackening price rises in the service trades? If so, we are a step nearer that reciprocal stability of wages and living costs which is one of the necessary conditions of sustainable economic growth.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Minnesota

July 8, 1960

Honorable Joseph L. Donovan
Secretary of State
STATE CAPITOL

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to M. S. 1957, § 3.21, you are hereby furnished a statement of the purpose and effect of each of the following proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO LEGISLATIVE SESSION LENGTH; LEGISLATORS' CANDIDACY FOR OTHER OFFICES

By L. 1959, Ex. Sess. c. 89, the legislature has proposed amendments to Art. IV, §§ 1 and 9 of the Minnesota Constitution. Art. IV, §§ 1 and 9 now read as follows:

"Section 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the State, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days; and no new bill shall be introduced in either branch, except on the written request of the governor, during the last twenty (20) days of such sessions, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor."

"Sec. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of postmaster, and no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. IV, §§ 1 and 9 will read as follows:

"Section 1. The legislature shall consist of the Senate and House of Representatives, which shall meet biennially at the seat of government of the state, at such time as shall be prescribed by law, but no session shall exceed the term of ninety (90) legislative days unless the session is extended by law enacted at the regular session of the legislature immediately preceding the session for which the extension is made and then only for a maximum of thirty (30) additional days. No new bills shall be introduced in either branch of the legislature after the seventieth (70th) legislative day except as authorized by joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives."

"Sec. 9. No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the State of Minnesota, except that of notary public, but a senator or representative may be elected to any office for which he is otherwise qualified and when elected, his term as senator or representative shall terminate upon his qualifying for the office to which he was elected and a vacancy in his office in the legislature shall thereupon occur."

The purpose and effect of each section of this proposed amendment, if adopted, may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE IV

Section 1. The purposes are:

1. To provide that no session of the legislature shall exceed the term of 90 legislative days unless the session is extended by law enacted at the regular session of the legislature immediately preceding the session for which the extension was made, in which case the extension shall be for a maximum of 30 days.
2. To provide that no new bills be introduced in either branch after the 70th legislative day except as authorized by the joint rules of the Senate and the House.

The effect would be to accomplish the purposes stated.

Since the proposed amendment omits the existing portion of this section "except on the written request of the governor during the last twenty (20) days of such session, except the attention of the legislature shall be called to some important matter of general interest by a special message from the governor," this provision would be repealed by implication.

Section 9. The purposes are:

1. To provide that no senator or representative shall, during the term for which he is elected, hold any state or federal non-elective office except for the office of notary public.
2. To provide that a senator or representative may be elected to any office for which he is otherwise qualified.
3. To expressly provide that the term of any senator or representative elected to any office shall terminate upon his qualifying for the office to which he was elected and that a vacancy in his office in the legislature automatically occurs upon qualifying for the new office to which he is elected.

The effect would be to accomplish the purposes stated.

Since the proposed amendment omits the existing provision, "no senator or representative shall hold an office under the state which has been created or the emoluments of which have been increased during the session of the legislature of which he was a member, until one year after the expiration of his term of office in the legislature," this prohibition would be repealed by implication.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO CHANGED BASIS FOR REAPPORTIONING LEGISLATURE

By L. 1959, Ex. Sess. c. 47, the legislature has proposed amendments to Art. IV, § 2 of the Constitution and has proposed repeal of Art. IV, §§ 23 and 24.

Art. IV, § 2 now reads as follows:

"Sec. 2. The number of members who compose the Senate and House of Representatives shall be prescribed by law, but the representation in the Senate shall never exceed one member for every 5,000 inhabitants, and in the House of Representatives one member for every 2,000 inhabitants. The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the State, in proportion to the population thereof, exclusive of Indians not taxable under the provisions of law."

Art. IV, §§ 23 and 24 now read as follows:

"Sec. 23. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of this State in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and every tenth year thereafter. At their first session after each enumeration so made, and also at their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts according to the provisions of section second of this article.

"Sec. 24. The senators shall also be chosen by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time that members of the house of representatives are required to be chosen, and in the same manner; and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in a regular series. The terms of office of senators and representatives shall be the same as now prescribed by law until the general election of the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight (1878), at which time there shall be an entire new election of all senators and representatives. Representatives chosen at such election, or at any election thereafter, shall hold their office for the term of two years, except it be to fill a vacancy; and the senators chosen at such election by districts designated as odd numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the second year, and senators chosen by districts designated by even numbers shall go out of office at the expiration of the fourth year; and thereafter senators shall be chosen for four years, except there shall be an entire new election of all the senators at the election of representatives next succeeding each new apportionment provided for in this article."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. IV, §§ 23 and 24 will be repealed and Art. IV, § 2 will read as follows:

"The legislature at its first session after the 1970 census and each decennial census thereafter made by the authority of the United States shall have the power to prescribe the bounds of congressional, senatorial, and representative districts, and to apportion anew the senators and representatives among the several districts. The number of members who compose the Senate shall not exceed 67 and the number of members who compose the House of Representatives shall not exceed 135. No representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district. The senators shall be chosen by single districts of convenient, contiguous territory and in the same manner as members of the House of Representatives are required to be chosen.

"Representation in the House of Representatives shall be apportioned throughout the state on the basis of equality according to population. Representation in the Senate shall be apportioned in a manner which will give fair representation to all parts of the state. Provided, however, the five counties adjacent to and including the county containing the seat of government of the state having 35 per cent or more of the total population of the state shall have 35 per cent of the members of the Senate computed to the closest whole number.

"If the legislature does not reapportion in compliance with this section at its first regular session after a decennial census, it shall be in extraordinary session immediately after the end of that regular session for the purpose of such compliance only. Such extraordinary session will continue until its purpose is accomplished and the members shall not be allowed compensation or expense reimbursement for service therein.

"Representatives shall be elected for a term of two years and senators for a term of four years. When there is reapportionment of the legislature, pursuant to this section, it shall not be effective until the next election of senators."

The purpose and effect of each section of this proposed amendment may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE IV

Section 2. The purposes are:

1. To provide that the legislature have the power to prescribe the boundaries of congressional, senatorial and representative districts and to make a new apportionment of the senators and representatives among the districts after the 1970 federal census and after each federal census thereafter.
2. To fix a maximum of 67 members in the senate and 135 members in the house.
3. To provide that the boundaries of senatorial districts shall not divide representative districts.
4. To provide that senators be chosen by single districts of convenient, contiguous territory and in the same manner as members of the house are chosen.
5. To provide apportionment in the house on the basis of population.
6. To provide apportionment in the senate on the basis of "fair representation to all parts of the state"; provided that the five counties adjacent to and including the county of the seat of government having 35% or more of the population shall have 35% of the members of the senate.
7. To provide in case of failure to reapportion at the regular session following a decennial census for an extra session for the purposes of reapportionment only, to continue indefinitely until that purpose is accomplished and directing that no compensation or expense reimbursement would be allowed.
8. To provide a two year term for house members and a four year term for senate members.
9. To provide that no reapportionment act should take effect until the next election of senators.
10. To expressly repeal sections 23 and 24 of Article IV.

1. The three sections now dealing with legislative reapportionment, Art. IV, §§ 2, 23 and 24, would be replaced by the new section proposed. Portions of each of the existing sections are retained but a number of changes are made.
2. The number of the members in the house and senate would no longer be "prescribed by law." The legislature in fixing the number of members would be subject to the maximums stated but control of this matter by the governor through his veto power would be removed.
3. The basis for reapportionment in the house is changed in language from "shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the state in proportion to the population thereof" to "shall be apportioned throughout the state on the basis of equality according to population." While such a change in language ordinarily suggests an intention to change the meaning of the provision involved, it is difficult to ascertain what change, if any, was intended here. The house would continue to be apportioned on the basis of population.
4. The basis for apportionment of the senate would be changed from a population basis to a basis of "fair representation to all parts of the state." The factors which the legislature could consider in determining "fair representation to all parts of the state" are not specified.
5. The provision for a state census every 10th year following the year 1865 would be eliminated. Since the last census provided for was in 1905, the removal of this provision would appear to be without practical effect.
6. The five counties adjacent to and including the county of the seat of government having 35% of the population would have their representation in the senate fixed at 35%, regardless of their present population or any changes in their population.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO SUCCESSION TO GOVERNOR AND CONTINUITY OF GOVERNMENT IN EMERGENCY

By L. 1959, c. 680, the legislature has proposed an amendment to Art. V, § 6 of the Minnesota Constitution. Art. V, § 6 now reads as follows:

"Sec. 6. The lieutenant governor shall be ex officio president of the Senate; and in case a vacancy should occur, from any cause whatever, in the office of governor, he shall be governor during such vacancy. The compensation of lieutenant governor shall be double the compensation of a state senator. Before the close of each session of the Senate they shall elect a president pro tempore, who shall be lieutenant governor in case a vacancy should occur in that office."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. V, § 6 will read as follows:

"The Lieutenant Governor shall be ex officio president of the Senate; and in case a vacancy should occur, from any cause whatever, in the office of Governor, he shall be Governor during such vacancy. The compensation of Lieutenant Governor shall be double the compensation of a State Senator. Before the close of each session of the Senate they shall elect a president pro tempore, who shall be Lieutenant Governor in case a vacancy should occur in that office. In case the Governor shall be unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office, the same shall devolve on the Lieutenant Governor. The legislature may by law provide for the case of the removal, death, resignation, or inability both of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor to discharge the duties of Governor and may provide by law for continuity of government in periods of emergency resulting from disasters caused by enemy attack in this state, including but not limited to, succession to the powers and duties of public office and change of the seat of government."

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE V

Section 6. The purposes, as expressed by the legislature in § 1 of the act proposing this constitutional amendment, are:

1. To "provide in the constitution for succession to the office of governor in the case of death, removal, resignation or inability of both the governor and the lieutenant governor."
2. To "authorize providing by law for the continuity of state government in emergencies caused by enemy attack in this state."

The effect would be:

1. To provide in case the governor is unable to discharge his powers and duties that these powers and duties go to the lieutenant governor.
2. To authorize the legislature to provide by law for the case of the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the governor and lieutenant governor to discharge the duties of governor.
3. To authorize the legislature to provide by law for continuity of government in periods of emergency resulting from enemy attack including, specifically, provisions for succession to powers and duties of public office and provisions for change of the seat of government but not limited to these.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT RELATING TO VOTING AFTER RESIDENCE IS CHANGED WITHIN 30 DAYS OF ELECTION

By L. 1959, c. 696, the legislature has proposed an amendment to Art. VII, § 1 of the Minnesota Constitution. Art. VII, § 1 now reads as follows:

"Section 1. What persons are entitled to vote:

Residence required. Every person of the age of twenty-one (21) years or upwards belonging to either of the following classes who has resided in this State six (6) months next preceding any election shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time have been for thirty (30) days a resident, for all officers that now are, or hereafter may be, elective by the people.

Citizens of the United States. First—Citizens of the United States who have been such for the period of three (3) months next preceding any election.

Mixed Indians. Second—Persons of mixed white and Indian blood who have adopted the customs and habits of civilization.

Pure Indians having adopted habits of civilization. Third—Persons of Indian blood residing in this State, who have adopted the language, customs and habits of civilization, after an examination before any district court of the State, in such manner as may be provided by law, and shall have been pronounced by said court capable of enjoying the rights of citizenship within the State."

If amended as proposed by the legislature, Art. VII, § 1 will read as follows:

"Every person of the age of twenty-one years or more who has been a citizen of the United States for three months and who has resided in this state six months and in the precinct for thirty days next preceding an election shall be entitled to vote in that precinct, and the place of voting by one otherwise qualified who has changed his residence within thirty days preceding the election may be prescribed by law."

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment may be summarized as follows:

ARTICLE VII

Section 1. The purposes, as expressed by the legislature in § 1 of the act proposing this constitutional amendment are:

1. To permit "persons to vote who have moved from a precinct within 30 days from election."
2. To "eliminate certain obsolete constitutional provisions to the elective franchise."

1. To authorize the legislature to provide by law the place of voting by one otherwise qualified who has changed his residence within 30 days preceding the election. This provision of the proposed amendment is not self-executing and would require legislative action before its purpose would become effective.
2. The "obsolete" provisions would be removed by the adoption of the proposed amendment. The paragraphs in § 1 designated "First," "Second" and "Third" would be eliminated by the adoption of the proposed amendment. The substance of the first paragraph has been incorporated in the proposed amendment. The second and third paragraphs, which related to voting by persons of Indian blood, since they are omitted from the proposed amendment, would be repealed by implication.

Very truly yours,
WALTER F. MONDALE
Attorney General

Council OK's Assessments on Street Job

Levies Will Be Paid over 15-year Period at Six Pct. Interest

The city council adopted the assessment roll for the 1960 street improvement project and heard the first reading of two ordinances at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, October 18.

The assessment roll was adopted after several objectors, through H. O. Berve, attorney, had asked that further action be delayed until after the first of next year to allow affected property owners the opporunity to examine their assessments. Berve pointed out that several errors had been discovered and that there was a chance that others would be found if time permitted.

Following some discussion on the matter, Robert Wurst, city attorney, told the objectors that any error in the assessment roll could be adjusted after the roll was adopted and Berve then asked that the minutes show that these people have the privilege of asking the council to rectify any errors found.

The council then adopted the roll setting the time for payments at 15 years with 6 per cent interest. Any errors found within the next 30 days can be reported to the city clerk in writing and will be taken up at the next council meeting.

William LaFave appeared before the council to report that a delegation from the state highway department will be in the city October 26. The park and fair boards will meet with this delegation in the morning at the Elks club and they will be at the Lions club luncheon at noon. Council members will meet with the highway officials after the luncheon.

The Ness Construction Co. of Mahnomen was the successful bidder to furnish 6,000 yards of gravel for street department use The company bid 44c per cubic yard and Oscar Schenke of Middle River offered the gravel at 66c a yard.

Only one bid was received for the construction of the shelter house in Riverside park and the council rejected the bid and will readvertise in the spring. Prichard Brothers Co. bid $3,810 on the project.

Building permits totaling $25,400 were approved by the council. They included: Lampert Lumber Co., 501 Maple av. S., new dwelling, $15,000; Albert Balvin, 944 Duluth av. N., new dwelling, $7,000; Albert Balvin, 944 Duluth av. N., moving permit; O. L. Ihle, 519 Merriam av. S., addition to dwelling, $2,000; O. H. Vraa, 402 Duluth av. S., domestic garage, $500; Harold Froehle, 1206 Main av. N., repair to garage, $400; Mervin Skadsen, 1227 Arnold av. N., moving permit; Mervin Skadsen, 1227 Arnold av. N., basement, $500.

The council adopted a resolution for the usual state aid for airport snow removal and appointed Ray C. Olson as a fire department volunteer.

Marjorie H. Swenson Concert Nov. 6 Set up by Friends of Library

Tickets are now on sale at three downtown locations for the first local recital of Marjorie Hulme Swenson, one of the northwest's outstanding lyric sopranos, in the Lincoln high school auditorium Sunday, November 6, at 4 p.m.

Advance ticket sales are now under way at the Carnegie public library, Larson Music Store and by J. J. Womack at the Union State Bank. Adult tickets are $1 and all children's tickets are 50c. Tickets will also be sold at the auditorium the afternoon of the concert.

The recital, under the sponsorship of the Friends of the Library will give the community an opportunity to hear Mrs. Swenson, who majored in voice at the University of Minnesota and was for several years a soloist with the Chamber Singers, the Madrigals, the Cecilians and with the University chorus in Minneapolis.

Her voice is especially suited to oratorios and she was soloist at the Hennepin Avenue Methodist church's presentation of both Handel's "Messiah" and Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

After moving to Grand Forks, Mrs. Swenson was a soloist with the symphony's last concert of the 1958 season and in last year's UND productions of "Judas Maccabeas" and "The Creation."

Critics have praised not only her lovely voice but also her ability to conquer tricky acoustics with marvelously clear enunciation.

For her November recital at Lincoln high school, Mrs. Swenson has chosen two groups of familiar aria and a group of folk songs. She will be accompanied by Miss Thelma Willett, pianist, and Michael Polovitz, clarinetist. Both are from the University of North Dakota and will perform solo groups.

Lions Sponsoring Special Meeting Next Wednesday

Men from State Highway Department to Confer on Plans for Roadside Park

Members of the Lions club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday were reminded of the special meeting next Wednesday noon, October 26, when representatives of the state highway department will be present to discuss with local officials the projected development of a roadside park at the east end of the Eighth st. bridge, as well as of the new approach of Highway 1 and 59 to the city on West Third st.

Arrangements for the conference have been made by Wm. LaFave, long active in highway affairs here.

Gordon Relerson, vice president, who presided over the luncheon program in the absence of President Clarence Mattson, called on James Parkins, member of the state board of directors of the Lions-sponsored Minnesota Eye Bank, for a brief outline of the project.

Parkins stated that the eye bang receives eyes taken from volunteer donors immediately after their death, the eyes then being transplanted to a blind recipient.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will hear several committee reports at a dinner meeting in the Elks club rooms this evening at 6:30, John Elsbrener, president, stated today.

C. of C. Gives Details of Promotion Events for Remainder Of '60

The Chamber of Commerce office announced today that on Wednesday, November 2, at 6:15 p.m. in the Elks club there will be a general meeting of the membership at which Mayor George J. Vavoulis of St. Paul will be the main speaker. This meeting will also serve as a "kickoff" for an office visitation week that will be carried out for the purpose of planning the 1961 Chamber Program of Work.

In an effort to find the chamber membership's sentiments toward a 1961 program of work, the board of directors has designated November 7 through 11 as office visitation week. Members will be receiving special invitations and appointments for them to visit the Chamber office, where they will fill out questionnaires, and coffee will be served. There will be a planned 1961 program of work, and it will be given a theme. They have selected the name "Life" signifying living, industry, farming and education which covers the entire scope of a practical Chamber program.

On November 3, Princess Kay of the Milky Way will be in Thief River Falls. Arrangements are now being made for her to make several appearances around the city throughout the day.

The Chamber also announced that on Thursday, November 10, the annual 4-H banquet will be served in the National Guard Armory in cooperation with the Pennington county extension service. Scheduled speaker for this event will be Bernie Beadle, state 4-H leader. Mr. Beadle is known for his understanding of rural youth and for his sense of humor.

At a recent meeting of the Promotion Committee of the Chamber it was decided that a Turkey Days promotion will be carried out on November 17, 18 and 19. Further details will be carried at a later date. Saturday, December 10, was set aside as the 1960 Santa Claus Day and special arrangements for that event will be announced later also.

M. Mathson Is Tractor Blaze Victim Monday

A lifelong resident of Rocksbury twp. died Monday afternoon in a tragic accident on the farm where he had lived all his life.

Martin Mathson, 76, was burned to death when gasoline with which he was filling a tractor ignited about mid-afternoon Monday. His son, Clayton, was working in the field at the time and saw the flames but was unable to help his father, who was believed dead before anyone arrived at the scene.

According to Deputy Sheriff Eugene Prestegaard, who investigated the accident, it is believed that Mathson was about to fill the tractor's fuel tank from a container and that when he climbed onto the machine he may have touched the container against the battery case causing sparks to ignite the gas. He was severely burned by the flames.

Funeral services for Mr. Mathson will be held this afternoon, Thursday, October 20, at 2 p.m. in the St. Pauli church with Rev. A. E. Berg officiating. Interment will be in the St. Pauli cemetery with the Green funeral home in charge of arrangements.

On November 3, 1920, he was united in marriage to Alma Moe at St. Hilaire. They continued to live on his farm there until the time of his death. He resided on the farm all his life with the exception of three years he spent on the west coast.

He was a member of the St. Pauli Lutheran church and served as a trustee for several years. He also served on the school board of District 154 for many years.

He is survived by his wife, Alma; one son, Clayton at home; two daughters, Mabel, Mrs. Curtis Lemke of this city, and Fern, Mrs. Donald Peters of Viking; one brother, Ben Gunderson of Saskatchewan, Canada; three sisters, Mrs. Charley Aldrich of Bemidji; Mrs. Clara Thompson of Hoople, N. Rotary Told LOL Is Not Curtailing Activities in TRF

Office Manager Al Wilcox Dispels Rumors, Reports Expansion is Planned

Rumors of Land O'Lakes curtailing activities in Thief River Falls were dispelled at the Monday noon Rotary club meeting by Al Wilcox, office manager, who said that there has been or will be expansion in every department of the local plant.

Wilcox told the Rotarians that the position of general manager was not filled after the retirement of Stuart McLeod because the company has centralized its activities in Minneapolis to take advantage of the IBM machine processing of paper work and to handle the business more efficiently and economically. With these changes, some property will no longer be need, Wilcox pointed out, but activities will be expanded.

W. E. Dahlquist spoke in favor of Amendment 2 which will be on the November general election ballot and urged Rotary members to vote in favor of the measure to insure a voice in the legislature by the rural area. [illegible] reported on horse-mounted drill teams he had seen perform at the state fair and suggested the possibility of the Rotary and Lions clubs assuming an advisory capacity to local horsemen in the formation of a drill team from this area.

Anoka Breeders Assn. Is Host to Dairy Sale Consigners at Dinner

Sponsors of the Top of the Nation dairy sale and consignors of stock to the second annual event in progress at the fair grounds today, were guests of the Consolidated Breeders Cooperative of Anoka, at a dinner served in the American Legion hall last night. The dinner session was followed by a meeting of consignors and sale managers in preparation for today's auction.

Short talks were made by Stuart McLeod, James Roche, Fieldman Bill Penning of the Farm Management Association, Dr. Ed Fredricks, dairy specialist of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, Martin Carrico, sale manager, and Lew Conlon, Minnesota manager of the American Dairy Association.

Dr. Fredricks reported on a survey of buyers at last year's sale, asking their impressions of the first sale of dairy cattle from tested herds. The results of this survey were gratifying, he said, indicating the eighty per cent of the buyers were well satisfied with their purchases.

Lew Conlon reported on trends in dairying. Recent sales of dairy cattle thruout the country have not brought the higher prices of a year ago, he said, and he attributed this to depressed beef prices. He referred to a recent statement by editor William Knox of Hoard's Dairyman, urging producer-control of a national production and marketing association. He considered this as significant and representative of the thinking of leaders of the dairy industry at the present time.

Council Approves Assessments for Street Projects

setting load limits on streets within the city limits, other than highways and state aid roads, was heard. The ordinance sets a load limit of 3 tons per axle during the spring breakup period and at 5 tons per axle during the other months of the year.

A communication from the Washington school PTA was read and tabled. The group recommended the examination and licensing of bicycle riders before they would be permitted to operate bicycles within the city limits.

First reading of an ordinance raising monthly garbage rates from 50c to $1 was heard. The ordinance calls for service three times a week instead of the two pickups now in effect.

A suggestion by the county auditor that two additional election judges be appointed in each ward was acted upon. The council voted to direct each ward chairman to secure the two additional judges for the November general election.

A resolution was adopted for the payment of $35,270.79 for city projects. These included: Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc., radio equipment for police department, $1,137; O. P. Electric, electrical work on 1960 waterworks improvement, $2,720.47; Chicago Bridge & Iron Co., elevated tank, $2,592.50. Acme Construction Co., Inc., reservoir and water mains construction, $6,989.15; Central States Construction Co., work on storm sewer in district 3, $22,969.67.

Two appointments to the city clerk's staff were made. Mrs. Viola Loyland was appointed purchasing department bookkeeper and Mrs. Katherine Simon to the accounting department as a machine operator.

A short discussion of the 1961 city budget followed. It was announced that meetings of committees with department heads would probably be concluded this week and a special budget meeting of the entire council is expected to be held about November 1.

A communication from a representative of the Teamsters union was read asking that he be given the opportunity to meet with the council at its earliest convenience. The union has proposed a $26 monthly across the board increase in wages for city supervisory employes and that standby time for water department employes be the same as that in effect for electrical department employes.

A proposal by Homer Matheson to provide audit services to the city for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1960, was rejected and other proposals will be invited.

Following the paymment of bills, the council adjourned its meeting.

Lutheran Welfare Workshop Set for Newfolden Oct. 26

Problems Relating to Illegitimacy to Be Topic at Bethlehem Luth. Church

A special documentary presentation on the problem of unwed motherhood entitled "Is Marriage the Answer?" will be presented at a Lutheran Welfare workshop to be held at Bethlehem Lutheran church, Newfolden, on Wednesday, October 26, from 1 to 4 p.m.

During the past decade, illegitimacy rates have mounted sharply. In 1940, of every 1,000 live births, 37.9 were illegitimate. By 1957, the number had climbed to 47.4 out of every 1,000. And despite the trend to earlier marriage, 1 in 7 of all girls 15 to 19 years of age who bore a child was not married.

During 1958-59, 85,563 children were born in Minnesota. Of this number, 2,202 (live births only) were born out of wedlock according to provisional figures released by the division of vital statistics of the Minnesota department of health.

Who is the unmarried mother? What are the immediate aspects of helping her in her trouble? What can be done to prevent such tragedy?

All interested persons are invited to attend the Lutheran Welfare workshop to explore with the staff, these and many other aspects of the problem of unwed motherhood.

Council Arranges to Widen W. 3d St.

Abutting Property Not to Be Affected by Plan

Third st. from Knight av. to the Great Northern Railway Co. tracks will be widened and surfaced next year, it was decided at a special meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon.

Ed Johnson of Bemidji, assistant district engineer of the state highway department, showed tentative plans for the project and the council passed a resolution entering into an agreement with the state to participate in the improvement.

Under the agreement, the state will pay for the entire 24-foot center section of the roadway and 75 per cent of the balance of the road and the curbs and gutters. The city's share in the project will amount to $9,600.32.

It was noted that there will be a slight widening of the roadway for part of the four blocks but that there will be no need to use any private property. What little widening will have to be done might mean narrowing boulevards a small amount.

Offenders Fined in Municipal Court

Two Men Fined $100 on Drunken Driving Charge

A fairly light session was recorded in municipal court Monday, with Judge H. O. Chommie fining or giving jail terms to the offenders on mostly traffic violation.

There were two patrol cases. Gerald L. Johnson, city, pleaded guilty to having an open bottle of alcoholic beverage in his car and was fined $30. Warren D. Larson, r. 5, forfeited $15 bond on a speeding charge.

There were also two sheriff's cases. Larry E. Forsberg, city, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $15, while a plea of guilty to a charge of issuing a fraudulent check brought Don Norman, Crookston, a 60-day jail sentence.

All other cases were brought by city police. Frank L. Donarski, city, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $30. Mrs. Gwendolyn G. Bruton, city, pleaded guilty to speeding was fined $35.

John A. Narverud, city, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants and was fined $100 and his driver's license was revoked. Berent Thompson, city, pleaded guilty to the same charge and was given a $100 fine or 90-day jail sentence.

Berries and Apples Picked Near City Tuesday, Oct. 18

Although there has been a vile, unfounded rumor floating around that the summer season in northern Minnesota is of remarkably short duration, Gotfred Larson, who lives just north of the Northwest Trailer Court, has just proved that the stories just aren't true.

Larson picked a gallon of Red Ridge everbearing strawberries Tuesday, October 18, and four bushels of Haraldson and Erickson apples.

This should, for all time, refute all claims that it is cold during October in Pennington county. It will be admitted, however, that there are snowflakes in the air Tuesday afternoon but they are warm and dry.

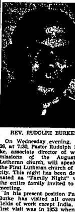
Rev. R. Burke, Director of Missions for Augustana Lutheran Church, to Speak



REV. RUDOLPH BURKE

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 26, at 7:30, Pastor Rudolph Burke, associate director of world missions of the Augustana Lutheran church, will speak at the First Lutheran church of this city. This night has been designated as "Family Night" with the entire family invited to the meeting.

In his present position Pastor Burke has visited all overseas fields of work except India. His first visit was in 1953 when he spent five months in the Far East, visiting Japan, North Borneo, Taiwan and Hong Kong. In 1954 a period of six weeks was spent in South America. He returned for a second visit in November and December of 1959. He then visited 15 countries, observing the work of various churches and missions.

In 1955 and 1956 Pastor Burke visited Tanganyika, East Africa, and then visited Augustana's largest field overseas, the Lutheran Church of Central Tanganyika. In the summer of 1958 he visited Europe, observing relief and resettlement work carried on by the Lutheran World Federation.

Everyone is invited by the sponsoring churchmen of the congregation to hear Mr. Burke make an imaginary trip around the world and stopping at the foreign mission fields for a visit. Colored slides will be shown also. Lunch will be served by the churchmen.

Painting Vandals Are Identified

Senior High School Boys and Girls Responsible

The youths responsible for defacing public and private property by daubing it with paint the past month or so have been traced down, police said here today.

Police tracked down the boys who plainted "class of '61" on the new city water tower, and also have the identity of six senior high school girls who, on Sept. 23, painted fire hydrants, stop signs and one private automobile in the vicinity of First st. and St. Paul and Markley avenes.

The girls, according to police, had been on a sign-painting foray ("class of '61") and had some paint left over so decided to get rid of it by smearing it over the hydrants, stop signs and other public property.

Police Chief Elton Cummings said the case is still under consideration as concerns further action in the matter.

Roy Knutson Reelected at Meeting Here Friday

Although number of loans outstanding dropped by one from the previous fiscal year, volume increased $371,000 from $2,780,700 in 1959 to $3,152,400 at the end of the 1960 fiscal year.

This information was included in the financial report given at the annual meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association of Warren held Friday in Thief River Falls.

Raymond W. Knudsen, Warren, was reelected to the board of directors for a 3-year term and also reelected president at the reorganizational meeting of the board. Other directors include Stanley Younggren, Hallock, vice president; Bennie Christianson, Roseau; Millard F. Dailey, Red Lake Falls and Lloyd R. Johnson, Thief River Falls.

For the Conference Title

The football game between the Prowlers and the Bemidji Lumberjacks, on the BSC field at Bemidji Friday night, will be a title deciding game for the Jacks. The Prowlers, entering the game unbeaten in conference play, must win or tie in order to keep in contention.

Coach Red Wilson's Bemidji club, boasting an undefeated record in football play this season, will be favored to win Friday night's tilt. The Jacks have a diversified attack, with Wilson's usual double reverses with halfbacks Spencer Price and Dennis Aguilar sweeping the ends. And Bemidji has relied on a passing attack when, on a few occasion, the running game has been stalled. Bemidji resorted to "open" stuff to beat the Fergus Falls Otters a couple of weeks ago after the Otters' interior line had succeeded in halting the Jacks' thrusts into the line.

In Friday night's game, the Prowlers should be able to contain the Jacks on the slants into the line, but whether or not coach Joe Mrkonich's squad can diagnose and stop the wide stuff is the problem.

The Prowlers will be in a crippled condition for Friday's game, too, with Paul Klungness and Gary Anderson definitely out of the action. Paul, a first-line backfield reserve, suffered a shoulder injury in the late moments of the Moorhead game. And Andy, because of an ankle injury, has been out of action for several weeks and is lost for the season.

On the plus side, the Prowlers have been encouraged by the return of hard-running Lloyd Ranum at right halfback. Ranum was sidelined for a couple of weeks by injury and illness, and his loss disrupted the Prowler running attack. Ranum is a bruiser on the drives off the tackles.

A Quiet Weekend

With the blue skies and the sunshine that prevailed last weekend, the weather was more favorable for leaf raking and storm-window cleaning than for duck hunting. This was the consensus of the hunters who maneuvered around the Mud and Thief lakes and the Greenbush bog. It was the slowest hunting of the season.

While the ducks were sluggish and lacking in cooperation with the hunters, the geese were providing some action. Cap Walt Anderson picked up several geese on Sunday morning, and on Monday morning, Ed DeLap and Phil Hess each bagged a goose while hunting in the vicinity of Mud Lake. Orv Gillespie, on Tuesday, also bagged a goose while hunting a field southeast of the Mud Lake refuge.

The blustery weather that hit this area Tuesday, bringing a few snow flurries, also brought in numerous flights of northern ducks and geese. A drive through the Mud Lake refuge on Tuesday evening revealed a number of geese, both snows and Canadas. And it is reported that ducks, mostly mallards, came in to the refuge, too. With a moderation in the weather, it is probable that these ducks and geese will remain here for awhile, with the hunting prospects being given a boost.

And speaking of hunting, the "big game" boys are returning with filled tags. Roy Shetler came into town with a huge bull moose that was the result of a moose hunting expedition into northern Ontario. And Martin Gulbranson and Al Berge returned from an antelope hunting trip into Wyoming, with Martin getting a buck and Al a doe.

'B' Close Season

The Prowlers 'B' football squad concluded its 1960 schedule on Monday evening, losing to the Crookston Central 'B' team, 13 to 6, in a game played on the Lincoln field.

After Crookston had taken a 6 to 0 first half lead, the Prowlers on a fine run by Bobby Benson, tied the game at 6-all in the third period. Crookston pushed across a touchdown in the fourth period, added the conversion point, to score a 13 to 6 win.

In the eight-game schedule played by the Prowler 'B's, the locals won two games and lost six. Four of these games were lost by the margin of a touchdown or less.

An interested sideline observer at Monday night's game was Ernotte Hiller, the golfing veteran of Crookston. Hiller has a young son, Chuck, who is a member of the Crookston 'B' squad.

Christmas Seal Short Course Held

Herman A. Kjos Attends Meeting on 'U' M. Campus

It is good to see so many men and women help us doctors in the campaign against tuberculosis, Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Chicago, told volunteer Christmas Seal workers at the public relations short course sponsored by the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association. The one-day course was held Monday at the University of Minnesota school of journalism. Judge Herman A. Kjos represented the Pennington county group at the meeting.

"Without the money you raise and the great interest you bring to help in the medical campaign, we doctors would be much handicapped," he said. Dr. Alvarez, specialist on nervous indigestion, formerly with the Mayo clinic, Rochester, is now medical news columnist for 80 newspapers.

Behind the effort to eliminate TB stands the important thing—an attitude of interest, and not one of complacency, Dr. Herman Kleinman, Minneapolis, president of the state TB association, said. "We must step up case detection in areas where past experience has shown TB to be concentrated. We must refine our present techniques of case-finding, and work for close cooperation with professional groups, sanatorium officials, health departments and voluntary agencies."

Thief River Falls at Bemidji

Coach Kenneth (Red) Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks clinched at least a tie for the Northwest football conference championship by scoring a 14 to 7 win over the Crookston Pirates in a game played at Bemidji on Friday night. The defeat was the first conference loss for Crookston.

On Friday night, on the BSC field in Bemidji, the Lumberjacks will meet the Thief River Falls Prowlers, also undefeated in conference competition. Kick-off time for the game is slated for 7:30 p.m.

In Friday night's tilt, Bemidji, on a 30-yard run by Spencer Price for a touchdown, and a conversion point, also by Price, gained a 7 to 0 first period lead. A pass play, with Lee Fawbush throwing to Dale Carter, was completed for a 34-yard gainer and a touchdown. A pass, Fawbush to Dennis Agular, was complete for th conversion, and the Jacks held a 14 to 0 lead.

The Crookston Pirates scored late in the third period when Craig Kronholm, on a 4-yard plunge, crossed the goal-line. John Lysaker added the conversion on a drive over tackle.

Crookston made a desperate attempt to even the score late in the game when the Pirates moved the ball to the Bemidji 7-yard line; but a Crookston fumble halted the threat.

Mercury Drops to 20 This Morning

Temperature Expected to Hit 40 This Afternoon

Variable cloudiness and a slow warming trend toward higher temperatures through tomorrow have been predicted by the KTRF weather station.

The high today should be from 40 to 45 and the low tonight from 28 to 35. Winds today and tonight are expected to be from the southeast at from 10 to 15 miles an hour.

A mass of cold Canadian air covered a large area of the nation from the 17th to the 19th and was accompanied by a frigid northwest wind sending the local thermometers to a seasonal daytime low of 29 Wednesday and to 20 early this morning, according to North Central Airlines observers at municipal airport.

All 12 Grades in TRF to Get Mantoux Test Starting October 24

Over the past five years, Mantoux tests have been given in the schools in Pennington county on a selective grade basis. That is, tests were offered to pupils in grades 1, 4, 7, 9 and 12 only. This year, the program has been changed to conform with that which is recommended by the Minnesota Tuberculosis association, the Minnesota Medical association and the School Health association.

Under the new program, tests will be offered to pupils in all grades in all of the schools in the county this year. Thereafter, the testing will be done every two years with the test being offered to all students each time. In this way, all students will receive the test every two years instead of three, assuring the earlier discovery of infection if it should occur. Moreover, all children in the family who are attending school, will receive the test at the same time. Parents are urged to see that every child is enrolled in the testing program this year, said Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse.

The new program also provides opportunity for Pennington county schools to qualify for certification status. Certificates of achievement in tuberculosis control will be awarded to those schools which have 85 to 100 per cent of their students participating. 100 per cent of the faculty and employes must be tested for the school to qualify.

The tests will be given by Dr. L. H. Flancher, M.DD., superintendent and medical director of Sunnyrest Sanatorium in Crookston, which sponsors the program. Arrangements for the testing are being made through Mrs. Margaret Race, Thief River Falls school nurse; Mrs. Martha Matheson, county superintendent of school; Dr. David Brown, superintendent of Goodridge school; and H. A. Budahl, principal, St. Hilaire school.

Monday, November 7, Washington and St. Bernard schools.

Monday, November 14, Goodridge, Pennington county rural schools and St. Hilaire.

The Mantoux test is a simple one, given by injecting a small amount of germ-free liquid called tuberculin, between the layers of the skin on the forearm. A physician or qualified nurse examines the area of skin about 48 hours later. If the spot fades away without becoming red and raised in the center, the doctor or nurse may call the test negative. A negative test usually means no tuberculosis. If the spot on the arm where the test was given becomes red and slightly raised in the center within 48 hours, the doctor or nurse may call the test positive. A positive test indicates only that tuberculosis germs have been taken into the body. It is not a cause for alarm. The positive test should be followed by a chest x-ray and a complete physical examination. Arrangements for x-rays will be made through the school.

Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls and the Pennington county Christmas Seal association cooperate in supporting this program. Under a special arrangement, the x-rays of students who react to the Mantoux test are taken at the local hospital and paid for by Christmas Seal funds. Herman Kjos and Mrs. Clifford Bjorkman of Thief River Falls are executive officers of the Christmas Seal association.

Wear Red During Hunting Season, Trappers Urged

With the opening of the mink and muskrat trapping season October 29 in the northern zone and November 5 in the southern zone, a note of warning to trappers to wear red during the hunting season was sounded by the Minnesota warden force.

The state game and fish law provides, "It shall be unlawful to hunt or trap, or assist therein, in any territory for the taking of deer with the use of firearms during such season unless the visible portion of the hunting cap or jacket shall be scarlet or bright red or covered therewith, and any hunting coat shall be scarlet or bright red."

With the pheasant and grouse hunting seasons extending into the same period as the firearms deer seasons, hunters of these species must also be attired in red when hunting in an area open to the taking of deer.

WHEN ILLNESS OR INJURY MAY STRIKE YOUR FAMILY

. . . But if you ACT NOW you can get FINANCIAL HELP when it is needed most!

No one is ever fully prepared for misfortune. It's doubly hard to face when your family doesn't have adequate financial assistance. That's why you should find out about MPA . . . Minnesota Protective Association. MPA can help you as it has been helping farm families for over 31 years. MPA has plans that help pay your HOSPITAL ROOM AND BOARD, MISCELLANEOUS HOSPITAL EXPENSES, SPECIAL OUTPATIENT EXPENSES, SURGICAL and MEDICAL EXPENSES — and MATERNITY EXPENSES — even plans that pay your family specified CASH amounts every month your family wage earner is laid up.

Mr. George Birchem of Hankinson, N. D., writes:

"Within the first six months of becoming a member of MPA I was hospitalized on four different occasions and received payments totaling $1,424.61. Even though I had misfortune, health-wise, I was very fortunate to have such a broad and valuable hospitalization plan as MPA offers. I urge all persons who can qualify, to do so—what happened to me might happen to anyone."

"...and give thee Peace"

The gong sounded! I dashed from the office into the crowded street, and hurried on into the fading sunlight. The bell in the familiar old church tower was striking five. I had made it again! I would reach the commuters' train and be in my suburban home at the usual hour.

As I rushed past the church, chimes sounded melodiously over the busy, struggling mass of humanity. Suddenly, I stopped in the midst of it. Why this mad rush day after day? Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow would be the same. But today the chimes recalled to me a sense of peace and purpose, a satisfaction once experienced in the fellowship of worship and friendship.

The commuters' train was forgotten as I entered the vast, semi-lighted church. From far up at the marble altar came the words of a prayer: "O God, our Heavenly Father . . . the endless tide of business, toil, and care moves on around us. Go with us and bless us who have stopped within this holy place of prayer for one brief moment to be refreshed by thy love, and quieted by thy peace." The organ took up the response and the "Amens" soared upward as I knelt in grateful prayer. "Never again," I resolved, "shall I deprive myself of the security and satisfaction of regular church attendance and worship. My place in the little suburban church shall be filled on each Lord's Day."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Coverage Thru Social Security Broadened

The 1960 amendments to the social security law reduce by about one-third the length of time a person has to work under social security to become insured for the payment of benefits to himself and his family.

Some 400,000 people will become immediately eligible for cash benefits because of this change in the law, including many wives, widows, and dependent husbands and widowers already at or beyond retirement age. First payments to newly eligible persons will be for the month of October.

Under the new rule, persons reaching retirement age (65 for men, 62 for women) this year need only about three years of work under social security instead of the 4½ to 5 years required by the old law. If you reach retirement age any time next year, you will need to have worked under social security for only 3¼ years instead of the 5 to 5¼ years required before the change in the law. There is, however, a minimum requirement of a year and a half of work under social security — without which no benefits can become payable.

In terms of future eligibility, the reduction in the amount of work required means that many more wage earners and their widows and dependent widowers will be able to qualify for social security benefits when they reach retirement age.

Say, for example, that you are a man now 60 and planning to retire at the end of 1965. Under the old law you would have needed a total of about seven years of work to draw these benefits. Under the new rule you will need only 4½ years social security employment or self-employment to draw monthly old-age benefits. If you are a 60 year old woman planning retirement in 1962, you need only 3¼ years of work to be eligible for social security.

The new rule for figuring minimum quarters required for fully insured status does not affect the eligibility of young widows and children to draw mother's and children's benefits following the death of a wage earner. The widow and dependent children of a worker can draw social security survivors benefits if the worker has credit for at least a year and a half before his death.

Marshall Nurse Calls for Return of Dental Cards

A certificate of award will be granted by the Marshall county public health nursing service to each one-room school, and to each individual room in the larger schools that succeeds in returning 100 per cent of their dental cards, properly signed by their family dentist.

The dental health card system is sponsored by the Minnesota department of health and carried out in the schools to encourage early and regular dental care among school children.

The dental health report for Septembet indicates that Marshall county had one independent school in the program during the 1959-60 term. It had a 35 per cent return of cards.

Only 19 per cent of the rural schools returned their cards. "Does this indicate that we in Marshall county are neglecting our children's teeth?" asks Mrs. Viola Rud, county nurse.

Autumn Leaves Are Hazard to Traffic

Safety Director Warns of Danger to Drivers

One of the prettiest sights in the country are Minnesota's autumn leaves, the colorful trees make our trips most enjoyable. But these same leaves can be pretty dangerous on the roadway, motorists were warned today by Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director.

"Leaves turning all colors provide a rainbow of color galore along country highways and many city streets, but falling to earth these leaves become a threat to motoring safety in several ways," he said.

"Children love to play in piles of raked-up leaves, sometimes even hiding in a large pile of them," he pointed out. "Thus fun can lead to tragedy if motorists should drive through the piles of leaves which may hide a child."

Autumn rains will add to this peril, he added. During wet spells accumulations of leaves can become extremely slippery and may result in drivers losing control of their cars.

In dry spells, many persons like to rake leaves and burn them. The smoke arising may be blown across a roadway throwing smokescreen in front of approaching drivers.

"Motorists must continue to drive very carefully during autumn," Sieben said. "Changing weather, like the changing color of foliage, is a warning that extra care must be taken."

Planner Is Named by Highway Dept.

H. R. Rosendal to Direct Community Planning

The Minnesota highway department has created a new post to establish closer ties with county and local groups in order to coordinate highway planning with community planning in Minnesota.

State Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman today announced the appointment of Herman R. Rosenthal, Wichita, Kansas, as a community planner in the planning and programming division of the highway department, effective immediately. This makes the department one of the nation's first state highway departments to employ specialized personnel in the community planning field.

Rosenthal's principle function will be to establish and maintain effective working relationships with county and local planning groups in the state, and to investigate and measure the sociological and economic impact of proposed highway improvements on affected communities.

Rosenthal will study and investigate the use of local planning and zoning controls and their potential contribution to highway development. He will also coordinate research activity in the state highway department with similar activity being undertaken by other planning agencies in the state.

According to Commissioner Zimmerman, the creation of the post became essential due to the increasing amount of community planning being performed and organized throughout the state.

Campaign Against Lamprey Eel Goes on Successfully

An indication that the battle against the lamprey eel, the parasitic killer of trout in Lake Superior, may be reaching a successful climax was contained in a recent announcement by the federal Fish and Wildlife Service.

The report asserted that "progress in the Great Lakes chemical control program makes it apparent that the goal of treating all known lamprey spawning streams tributary to the United States shore of Lake Superior in 1960 will be reached."

The chemical control program of lamprey eradication consists of discharging a selective lamprey killing chemical into the streams used by the parasites for spawning. The chemical kills the young lamprey before they can make their way downstream into the lake.

When administered in the proper quantities the chemical will not harm fish and other aquatic life in the streams.

"Little progress can be made by merely attempting to repress what is evil. Our great hope lies in developing what is good." —Calvin Coolidge

Both Too Fast

Senator Kennedy and Vice President Nixon have both modified their statements as to what position they would take if Red China attacked the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu. Kennedy favored letting the Red Chinese have them. Nixon preferred defending them. Both, we think missed the important point. Decisions of this kind should not be made on snap judgment before enough of the facts are known to make possible an informed decision.

The facts might or might not justify defense of the islands. Both Kennedy and Nixon were too fast with their first answers in the television debate. Their second answers, some days later, were more sensible.

Our government, with the approval of a Democrat Congress, is pledged to the defense of the island of Formosa. The Chinese Nationalists have declared their intention of defending the islands of Matsu and Quemoy, and they maintain strong military forces on the islands. President Eisenhower has indicated that the off-shore islands will be defended by us only if it appears that the attack on these islands is a part of an attack on Formosa itself.

This appears to be a sensible position and probably will be maintained by whichever one of the two candidates is elected. Maybe this little tempest in a teapot has served a good purpose. Both Kennedy and Nixon might be a little more impressive in their television debates if they were not quite so fast with the answers.

To express a possible doubt, depending on circumstances, is not necessarily a sign of weakness.

Hastening The Day

Under pressure of demands for a special session of the legislature to deal with the financial problems of some school districts, Governor Orville Freeman has called for a survey to determine the facts. We are not interested particularly in what this survey of emergency needs will reveal. Some school districts may have a special problem that requires immediate legislative action. The concern of most citizens, however, will be on the question of what the next Legislature will do as a permanent solution for the school fund mess rather than what action might be taken now to help a few districts through an emergency need.

The serious problem that confronts us is summed up by Richard Wanek, St. Paul Pioneer Press staff writer, in a report on the condition of the state funds that we look to for the payment of state school aid. According to Wanek, "Just eight years ago, Minnesota's income tax school fund was boasting a 68-million dollar balance available for paying state aids to public schools. Today the fund is almost 50 million dollars in the red."

That tells the story as effectively as it can be stated. It is just another story of gross mismanagement.

And who is responsible for the sorry mess? Most of the responsibility rests with the executive and legislative branches of our state government.

All of the facts were available to the Governor and to the members of the Legislature. The present predicament should not come as a surprise to the Governor or to most of the members of the Legislature. They asked for it. The pressure groups as usual made unreasonable demands and they yielded to pressure. The pressure groups were mainly the educators themselves, those who classify as teachers at all levels.

It is unfortunate that recognition of the facts was not forced upon us sooner. An earlier awareness of the danger would have simplified the solution. The facts were available. A crisis was needed to drive home their significance. Now we know.

And what is the answer? Those who think we can spend ourselves into prosperity are sure that the thing to do is to spend more dollars that we do not have. Those of us who still believe that such problems can be solved only as we live within our means, fear that going farther into debt to enable us to travel the primrose path, will only hasten the day of our ultimate decline.

Harry Knows

Good old Harry Truman told an Iowa audience that the Republicans were responsible for all of the farmers' difficulties. He said that with Kennedy in the White House and Johnson presiding over the Senate, "you can expect a return to sanity in the farm program." Then he made this interesting statement:

> "The problem of farm surpluses is not a new one. It is basically the same problem we have had for most of the last forty years. Democrats have learned how to deal with it, because we have dealt with it successfully in the past. There is no mystery about the elements of a good farm program—we know what it takes to do the job."

We too are growing old, and our own lapses of memory are becoming increasingly embarrassing. We are sure that if Harry would think back he would agree that the farm program that we have now is basically the same as the one the present Republican administration inherited from him. About the only thing that has come since then is a soil bank program that Senator Hubert Humphrey insisted was his idea.

If Truman is right then the farmers should have been real happy in 1952. But they weren't. Nevertheless we still like Harry Truman. There are times when we wonder if he knows what he is talking about. But there are times too, when we are not so sure that we do either.

Slum Clearance

It is encouraging to note that there is strong opposition to the program of federal aid for slum clearance by some big-city newspapers. The Chicago Tribune, in commenting on Senator Kennedy's promises of increased federal spending in this field, states:

> "The slums which grieve Sen. Kennedy and other good citizens are largely the result of a breakdown in local law enforcement. Democratic politicians in many cities failed to enforce building and housing laws. Democratic politicians tolerated or sponsored corrupt police departments, permitting crime to flourish.
>
> "A vast quantity of shoddy housing has been erected since the end of the war. Much of this will be new slums in a few years. Decent housing has become so expensive that many families cannot afford to pay for it. For these faults the Democrats again must share the blame. They initiated the various federal programs which inflated the demand for housing and drove up its cost. They protected the labor unions with unreasonable building codes and encouraged union featherbedding.
>
> "Other items in Mr. Kennedy's list of urban problems are matters which the cities could solve themselves if the Democratic mayors were willing and able to raise local taxes. They are not willing to do so because tax increases are unpopular; it is much easier to pass the buck to Washington."

> "Where is the evidence to support this assumption that Uncle Sam can do for the cities what they seem unable to do for themselves? Is Federal subsidy of urban slum-clearance the model? If so, it would seem that corruption and inefficiency rise proportionately with the increase of tax money available to city planners. In New York City, for example, the worst scandals in recent years (and that is saying a great deal) center around Title 1 slum-clearance.
>
> "One trouble with Federal aid to cities is that, unless Washington is to be the city hall for all America, the Government must make municipal administrations its agents. Since cities, by and large, suffer from 'blight' only after dry-rot has set in at city hall, the result of Government subsidy of incompetent city administrations is a more costly incompetence, charged to the U.S. Treasury and thereby to every taxpayer. Should citizens of a well-run city, say Cincinnati, subsidize the corruption of New York City? That is what 'urban renewal' comes to."

It is not easy to reconcile the fact that some of the metropolitan newspapers that are screaming the loudest for more federal aid for slum clearance are also leading advocates of puting an end to wasteful spending. They want to put a stop only to wasteful spending that does not benefit them.

The Junior Years

(New York Times)

Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University, has followed up his reform program for the American high school with a second report, "Recommendations for Education in the Junior High School Years." As most parents and all teachers know, seventh through ninth grades are "difficult" years, and whatever they may be called in the school program, they are by their very nature controversial.

As a reformer who takes pride in being conservative, Dr. Conant took a look at the junior high school with conservative intentions: to reform within the existing framework. To some extent the change he recommends is one of rediscovery. Originally, he points out, the junior high school was mainly interested in teaching arithmetic and foreign languages and other academic subjects. Over the years, partly because concern with social and psychological maturity tended to overshadow academic goals, some junior high schools became buffers or even no-man's land between elementary school and high school.

In this scheme of things, the fanfare of marching bands and interscholastic athletics have even less justification than in the senior high schools. He does not want to make junior high school a place of drudgery (in fact, he condemns homework unless it is challenging and purposeful) but he leaves no doubt that the academic subjects, with reading and arithmetic in the vanguard, are priority business for good schools.

Probably the most important warning is Dr. Conant's criticism of that isolationism within the schools which lets elementary, junior high and high school teachers as well as college educators each plan their little stretch of learning with provincial blinders. Dr. Conant reminds them that the entire road must be seen on a continuing map. He promises to tackle that task of total educational surveying in his next report, which will be anxiously awaited following his vital contribution already made to American education.

BROWSING
BROUSE

Let's face it. I like television and I'm always the last on in our house to shut it off at night. One of the biggest reasons for this is that the new shows are really terrific. Oh, I enjoy, tremendously, old favorites such as Garry Moore, Hennesey, Gunsmoke, Rawhide and the others; but it's great to see what new ideas the networks have come up with. Candid Camera at 9:00 Sunday evenings is one that's a lot of fun to watch. It's fun because it captures the honest and sincere reactions of people like you and me. It should be a must on your Channel 4 viewing list.

Pete and Gladys is another. It's on at 7:00 Monday nights and I must say that Gladys isn't the haggard, nagging woman Pete used to describe on December Bride. As a matter of fact, this Gladys is beautiful, and I for one wouldn't have it any other way.

I know that many of you have probably been pretty busy getting the house, yard, and car ready for winter among other things, but these items should be pretty well out of the way now and you can sit down evenings and start enjoying these shows. As I said before . . . I really like to watch television, but I know you'll agree with me. They're good.

To me, underwater adventure has always been of great interest. Maybe it's because our rivers and lakes are frozen over for so many months of the year. But this season I can sit back in that old armchair, light my pipe, and settle back for an hour of underwater action on the Aquanauts at 6:30 on Wednesday nights. This show has excellent stories and the underwater photography can't be beat.

And have you seen Blue Angels at 8:00 on Thursday nights yet? This is another show that provides action. It's about the Navy's famed precision flying team. These guys can make those jet aircrafts sit up and do tricks and are those split-second maneuvers graceful!

There's another action show that most of us will enjoy and sports-car fans will probably take the most notice. It's Route 66 each Friday evening at 7:30. This story centers around the adventures of two young men as travel in an American sports car.

Well, we've gotten up to Saturday and I'd like to say that I really like Saturday night. First of all, I can sleep a little later on Sunday morning . . . so I really enjoy television that night. The new show that night is Angel. It's a half-hour of laughter about an important French bride named Angel who must face the puzzling customs of domestic living in Suburbia, U.S.A. And there's just one more thing that should be said about Saturday night, "Gunsmoke."

Incidentally, I should say that I'll be around every week in this column for awhile and I'll be telling you about many more shows and some of the specials on KXJB-TV too, and don't forget about the late shows . . . where you'll see many of your favorite stars. So . . . if you've gotten this far and I hope you have . . . thanks for joining me. See you next week.

T. R. F. POLICE CHIEF "JAILED" AT POPPLER'S

"I'll Do Everything I Can To Restore Law and Order"

Stan Larson

"This is no gag," pleads Stan Larson, owner of Popplers, "We'll do everything we can to help get the Police Chief back on the job." In fact, it's almost a major theft to sell our new merchandise at such low prices."

These three slaves include Morris Howick, Wendell Olson and Elton Cummings. On Friday, Oct. 21, these three men are in the custody of Popplers, and as Cummings is Chief of Police, Thief River Falls will be without his services from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

"Naturally, we don't want to upset law and order in our city," explains Stan Larson of Popplers, "but, we must be fair about this situation. We have set bail at $7,000 total sales in these ten hours. If the total is attained before 10 p.m., the Chief will be released as soon as we hit that figure."

To make it easy to release the Chief, Popplers have slashed prices throughout the store for this 10-hour event — on everything in furniture and floor coverings.

Olson and Howick will act as special deputy salesmen to help reach this $7,000 goal and expedite the release of the Chief.

12-hour '-Trial" Set Fri., Oct. 21 10 a.m.-10 p.m.

One of the most sensational sales in the history of Thief River Falls will be concentrated in ten hours of terrific bargains on Friday, October 21.

Profits are ignored, and prices slashed to the bone, on all home furnishings, including all new fresh fall merchandise that has just been uncrated.

Many of the items are limited in quantity, so shoppers are urged to come in early for best selection.

Stan Larson and Bob Larson of Popplers explain that "this is no gag." We want to make it easy for the Police Chief to get back on the job, so we are offering terrific buys of a lifetime for these special 10 hours.

Free delivery and special long-term credit plans will be in effect for this event, with extra sales help on hand to assist the buyers.

ELTON CUMMINGS, 12421

"Help, Help" Pleads Chief

Pictured above is Police Chief Elton Cummings, who will be incarcerated for 10 hours at Popplers on Friday, Oct. 21. Cummings who was purchased by Popplers at a recent slave auction, will be in custody at the store, and can only be released after the $7,000 "sales-bail" has been attained.

Cummings pleads with all the friends and customers of the area to get in to Popplers on Friday, and to help meet the "sales-bail" requirements. "Hurry," implores Cummings, "I want to get out and get back on my job."

$7,000 Sales Total Set As 12-hour Bail to release Cummings

One of the most critical periods in the history of Thief River Falls will take place from 10 A.M. to 10 P.M. on Friday, October 21 at Poppler's Furniture and Carpet Store.

Police Chief Elton Cummings was recently purchased by that firm in a "slave auction" of the TRF Lions Club, and is forced to spend 10 hours in the custody of Popplers.

Obviously, he will not be able to perform his normal law and order duties, as he will be imprisoned behind bars at Popplers.

This has caused a great consternation in Thief River Falls, as the city will be temporarily without the Police Chief. Even the Mayor of Thief River Falls is excited: "Popplers has gone too far," he exclaims, "and we may have to call out the vigilantes. But, I understand that the Chief will be released when Popplers have sold $7,000 in merchandise. I hope this can be accomplished, and the sooner the better."

Curiosity seekers may view the Chief in prison garb in his "jail" at Popplers. The store will open at 10 A.M. and remain open until 10 P.M. so that everyone can get in and help release Chief Cummings by snapping up the most sensational furniture and carpet bargains in the history of Thief River Falls.

This city was saddened Sunday by the death of a pretty high school senior who died in a one-car accident south of Wadena early Sunday morning.

Jane Ann Kollitz, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl W. Kollitz, was killed when the car in which she was riding with Harold A. Froehle, 20, driver, Thomas Froehle, 22, both of this city, and Kathleen Johnson, 18, Breckenridge, left highway 71 and rolled over. Cause of her death was attributed to a broken neck.

The four young people were returning here from St. John's college homecoming football game at the time of the accident according to reports. The accident occurred about 2:15 a.m. Sunday a mile south of Hewitt and 10 miles south of Wadena. The Froehle brothers and the Johnson girl are in a Wadena hospital and are not believed seriously injured.

Jane Ann, a popular girl, was chosen Aquacade Queen by the local Jaycees last summer and was an excellent student at Lincoln high school. She was born February 22, 1943 in Thief River Falls.

She is survived by her parents, a sister, Kay, 22, and two brothers, David, 23, San Diego, Calif. and Billy, 9, at home. She is also survived by her maternal grandparents and paternal grandfather, all in Thief River Falls.

The body is at Green Funeral Home, where visitation hours have been announced as Tuesday evening and after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Funeral services for Jane Ann will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday by Rev. Reuben Wangberg at Trinity Lutheran church. Place of interment has not been announced. A complete obituary will be published in Thursday's Times.

The Kollitz family has requested that Jane Ann's many friends not send flowers, preferring memorials to buy a chancel table for Trinity Lutheran church instead.

VICTIM of a tragic automobile accident near Hewitt, Minnesota, early Sunday morning was Jane Ann Kollitz, 17, Lincoln high school senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kollitz of Thief River Falls. Jane Ann was the reigning Aquacade Queen, having been crowned at the 1960 Jaycee event early in August.

752 Soil Samples Were Brought in for Test Thursday and Friday

Increasing interest in soil testing was shown by the large number of participants and fields sampled for the collection in Thief River Falls October 20 and 21 during the Farm Forum promotion.

According to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent, a total of 752 samples have been sent to the University laboratory following the most successful collection the county has ever had. The collection last year at the same time resulted in 347 samples being sent for analysis and this was considered a "very successful" program.

The largest number of samples brought to the trailer headquarters north of the postoffice was by Maynard Mehrkens of TRF who had 20 samples. Martin Hanson of TRF brought 18 samples, Stelmschuk reported.

About one-half of those who took part in last week's program had their soil tested last year, all others were sending samples for the first time.

A charge of $1 a sample was made but this will be discunted from the price of fertilizer when purchased from the fertilizer dealers of Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire who took part in the collection.

Participating dealers were Osborne-McMillan Elevator Co., Farmers Co-op Grain & Seed Assn., Thief River Grain Co., Land O'Lakes, Midland Cooperatives, Inc. and Peterson-Biddick Co. in Thief River Falls and Agaco, Co-op Elevator and Roland Bros. in St. Hilaire.

The samples are spent to the University for chemical analysis and specific recommendations are made for the particular crop and soil in each case.

utomobile Show and arm Forum Are Held in TRF Past Weekend

The automobile show in the arena attracted the largest attendance of the various events held in Thief River Falls Thursday thru Saturday in connection with the Farm Forum.

Largest crowds attended the auto show Friday afternoon and evening, and the spectators showed much interest in the 30 models on display.

Four prizes of 25 silver dollars each were awarded at the show Friday and Saturday, the winners being Mrs. Carl E. Anderson, Rt. 1, Warren; Tom Huotari, Plummer; and Martin Carlson and Mrs. Robert G. Bakke, both of Thief River Falls.

A small group of farmers turned out Thursday evening for the farm outlook meeting, at which slides were shown and forecasts were made on price trends for 1961 by Paul Hasbargen and Robert Jacobs of the University of Minnesota.

W. D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office of the Social Security administration, spoke to a group of about 40 persons in the Auditorium Friday morning. He answered numerous questions from the audience, and distributed explanatory leaflets.

At a meeting Friday afternoon, numerous questions relating to soils management and fertilizer use were answered by Dr. Olaf Soine, agronomist at Northwest School, and Merle Halvorson, soils specialist with the 'U' of M. Institute of Agriculture.

Two other week-end events were rated as highly successful, including the Top of the Nation dairy cattle sale and the assembling of 752 samples of soil for testing. Details on these events are given in separate stories in the Times today.

2 Gonvick Youths Drowned Sunday in Clearwater Co.

Patrick and Michael Smith, Brothers, Lose Lives When Boat Upsets

Tragedy struck the small town of Gonvick in Clearwater county Sunday afternoon when the teenage sons of a high school instructor there drowned after their boat sank in about 15 feet of water in a small lake near Clearbrook.

Patrick, about 18, and Michael, about 17, sons of Mrs. Edith Smith, Gonvick, attempted to cross Taflin lake, west of Clearbrook in mid-afternoon when their home-made, flat-bottomed boat appeared to be taking water, then turned over when one of the boys stood up in the boat.

Another party of boys, also crossing the lake a short distance away, saw the incident, according to Vic Aalbu, publisher of the Gonvick Leader-Record. The boys said the Smith's boat appeared to be taking water in the rear and that it flipped over when one of them stood up.

They each came up once then disappeared in the water before the other party could lend aid. Neither could swim, according to reports.

The bodies were finally recovered between 8:30 and 9 a.m. today.

Both boys were active in athletics, Aalbu said. Michael played with the Gonvick Red Sox in the Northern Minny league last summer.

Twenty-nine members have been enrolled in the 4-H electric project this past year in Pennington county. During that time members have given 24 individual demonstrations, seven team demonstrations and 13 talks on some phase of electricity.

Three meetings were held during the year to provide electrical training for 63 4-H club leaders. One meeting was devoted to giving leaders training in electrical safety, another in helping 4-H'ers with electrical projects and a third in home lighting.

Peterson-Huotari Vows Exchanged at Plummer

The Immanuel Lutheran church of Plummer was the scene of the candlelight wedding of Miss Lorna Peterson to Russell Huotari October 8 at 8 p.m. with Rev. O. M. Simundson performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Leonard Peterson and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Huotari of Plummer.

Baskets of yellow mums and white gladioli graced the altar while the organist, Mrs. Dave Ostby played the nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Kenneth Haaven as she sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown with a white organza over taffeta bouffant skirt. The fitted bodice of flowered lace featured a scalloped neckline trimmed with seed pearls and long sleeves which buttoned at the wrist and came to a point over the hand. Her three-quarter length veil, encircled with lace, fell from a band-crown of seed pearls and her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings. Her crescent style bouquet was of red roses with white feathered carnations.

Attending her siser as maid of honor was Miss Janet Peterson of Plummer who wore a beige taffeta dress with three-quarter length sleeves, round neckline, beige lace inset at the waist, matching headpiece, beige gloves and dark brown shoes. Serving as bridesmaids were Glennyce Eskell and Dolores Burstad of Plummer who were attired like the maid of honor in taffeta, copper colored dresses. Farm Income Depends on Production Costs

Farmers' income problems will continue to be closely associated with the relentless rise in the quantity and price of the production items they buy during the coming year.

That's the way the farm cost outlook is sized up by Kenneth H. Thomas and Paul R. Hasbargen, extension economists in farm management at the University of Minnesota.

During 1960-61, items bought from other farmers — livestock, feed and seeds — are expected to trend lower, they say. "Most other items, particularly those coming from or competing with industry will likely remain at present levels or rise. Fertilizer may be a notable exception."

Net incomes on typical hog-dairy farms will remain fairly constant, with a minor increase in cash expenses being offset by improved gross returns on hogs, according to the specialists.

"On typical hog-beef fattening farms, net incomes will likewise show little change, with 6-8 per cent decline in total cash expenses being offset by lower slaughter cattle prices."

The University specialists' analysis of the farm cost outlook is one in a series of single sheet publications on "What's Ahead for Minnesota Farmers" issued by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service.

Others in the series deal with dairying, sheep and lambs, hogs, beef cattle, soybeans, poultry, feed supply and the general economy. The publications may be obtained from agricultural extension agents' offices in counties throughout the state.

Don't Let Him Do It Again!

In spite of a Federal District court telling the Governor that he acted illegally and unconstitutionally at Albert Lea in declaring martial law and closing a plant, he has said that if he had it to do over again, he would do the same.

Elmer L. Andersen

Read what the court had to say:

"But a free people do not surrender to mob rule by the expediency of martial law until all means available to the city, county and state to enforce the laws have proved futile. However there is an utter absence of any persuasive showing here that law enforcement could not be maintained in the city of Albert Lea and in the county of Freeborn by the national guard available to the Governor in aid of the local authorities. Under the factual presentation herein it would be a shocking reflection on the stability of our state government if the state could not quell the mob action in Freeborn county without declaring martial law and decreeing the deprivation of constitutional rights of those who are the victims of lawlessness. No official entrusted with the enforcement of the law can select the laws he will enforce or the citizens that he will protect."

All over the country Minnesota received a black eye because of the Governor's action in favoring one group at the expense of the farmer.

The local municipal judge had better judgment than the Governor. He said: "To permit any individual or group of individuals to gain its objective by the use of force or violence or even the threat of force or violence is to defy the law of the land and would, if allowed to continue, destroy the very freedom and security we enjoy under law."

On this issue alone the Governor is shown to be completely unworthy of reelection. Be sure to vote November 8th.

ELECT Elmer L. ANDERSEN GOVERNOR

By Eleanor Olson

Last week I found myself exploring the shelves in the children's section at the library prompted by the conscious excuse that I wanted to see which of my childhood favorites were there. Unconsciously I am sure I was reliving the adventures I had enjoyed so much as a child through books.

Familiar titles brought pictures and emotions popping out of the dark corners of my mind. How Caddie Woodlawn hated turkey after eating it morning, noon and night for entire winter. How I had sailed the English Channel successfully if unintentionally with Rankin's group of young adventurers from the Scotch lake country.

As I wandered along the shelves my eye was caught and held by a beautiful new set of Laura Ingalls Wilder's books of frontier days. And another set of memories came surging up to join the others whe I saw "The Long Winter" among them. It is a story of a prairie family who were snowed in so completely that they had to make logs out of hay to keep from freezing to death.

As I handled these books I remembered one of Mrs. Wilder's books had been listed on the Minnesota Centennial committee bookmarkers that were put out in 1958. So knowing that the background would be authentic I brought it home for my week's reading. (There is so much to learn from juvenile books that although they are written specifically for youngsers I can never look on them as "childish.")

Surely I would have looked for a long time to find a more vivid description of homesteading in Minnesota than I found in "On the Banks of Plum Creek." The book's events are seen thru the perceptive, receptive eyes of an eight-year old bundle of energy and curiosity, Laura. She is without doubt Mrs. Wilder herself, for her father moved their family many times in search for beter opportunity and a chance to strike it rich. Mr. Ingalls took his family first to the woods of Wisconsin, then to Indian territory, then to the great sweep of the prairies; happy circumstances for his daughter Laura's future writing career, but without doubt very trying for his family at the time.

Mrs. Wilder remembers the good and the bad times with equal freshness. A house made of finished lumber, a store-bought broom, and a stove with an oven were unbelievable wonders to a little girl who was used to sod houses and willow twig brooms. Glass windows meant sunshine and light, a blessing we take for granted, and a shingled roof meant hearing rain on the roof, a forgotten joy after many months of living in a sod house with an earthen roof that absorbed all sound.

The desolation wrought by a scourge of drought and grasshoppers that stripped the landscape of every edible bit of green, was something I found hard to imagine, but may be well remembered by anyone who lived in the prairie states as late as the 1930's. The young heroine Laura, in "On the Banks of Plum Creek" found only the chickens grew fat, but even they never got over being surprised at being sourrounded by grasshoppers.

Mrs. Wilder found the joys of daily existence far outweighed the seasonal setbacks and pictures the children's lives as full and rich. Laura loves her one battered rag doll with consuming love and devotion. After I had thoroughly digested this book of Mrs. Wilder I found I could happily recommend it to all children and adults as well who like history and want to know more about Minnesota when it was young. I fully intend to read the rest of the series.

If you have young children, you might make the Wilder books your winter read-aloud program. You will certainly find it an entertaining and educational one.

Bemidji Team Defeats Prowlers Friday 39-7

A right arm and a left ankle proved vital factors in the Bemidji Lumberjacks' 39 to 7 win over the Prowlers in a Northwest conference football game played at Bemidji on Friday night. The arm belongs to Bemidji quarterback Lee Fawbush, who tossed passes for four touchdowns and a pair of conversion points. The ankle belongs to Prowler left halfback Gary Klungness, and when it was badly sprained late in the second period, forcing the hard-running backfielder to the sidelines, much of the Prowler attack was taken from the game. And Klungness' speed was keenly missed by the Prowler secondary defense, with the result that the Jacks were able to outrun the defenders and set up the pass completions.

This week, on Friday night at Crookston, the Prowlers will conclude their 1960 schedule and Northwest conference play by meeting the Crookston Central Pirates on the Highland Park field. Kickoff time is slated for 7:30 p.m.

For one-half of Friday night's game, the Prowlers played the undefeated Bemidji Lumberjacks on near-even terms, trailing by a 12 to 7 score at the intermission.

Bemidji capitalized on a break to score their first touchdown. The Prowlers, defending the west goal, accepted the game-opening kickoff, and when Klungness fumbled the ball when tackled, the Jacks recovered on the Prowler 18-yard line. Spencer Price, in three plays, made a first down on the 6-yard line. A Bemidji penalty moved the ball to the 11-yard line, from where Fawbush completed a pass to end Jack Phelps for a touchdown. Price's try for the point, on a run, failed.

The Prowlers bounced back from that setback to score a touchdown early in the second period. On the first play of the period, from the Bemidji 41-yard line, Lloyd Ranum broke thru left tackle to the Bemidji 6-yard line. Klungness picked up 5 yards at left tackle; a Bemidji penalty moved the ball to ½-yard line, from where John Aune drove over center for the touchdown. Klungness skirted right end for the point, giving the Prowlers a 7 to 6 lead.

Midway in the period, Bemidji regained the lead when, from the Bemidji 40-yard line, Fawbush floated a long pass downfield to Bob Kennedy, who made the catch in full stride and raced for the touchdown. A pass for the conversion point was incomplete, and the Jacks' held a 12 to 7 lead.

A three-touchdown outburst in the third period "broke up" the game. Price, from the Bemidji 46-yard line, sliced through left tackle and raced for a 54-yard touchdown run. Fawbush tossed a pass to Kennedy for the conversion point. Moments later Bemidji gained possession of the ball on the Prowlers 14-yard line when, on a fourth down and kick situation, a high pass from center prevented Harvey Ebbighausen from getting off his kick, being downed on the Prowler 14-yard line. Fawbush hit end Phelps for a 15-yard touchdown pass. The conversion point play, on a pass, failed. And just before the period's end, Bill Hanson, who alternated at quarterback with Fawbush in coach Red Wilson's shuttle system of calling signals, tossed a long pass to Kennedy for a 71yard touchdown play. Fawbush completed a pass for end Dale Carter for the extra point, giving the Jacks a 32 to 7 lead.

Bemidji tallied the 6th touchdown of the game early in the fourth period when, from the Prowler 37-yard line, Fawbush threw a pass to end Carter. Fullback Vern Warner plunged the line for the point, giving coach Wilson's club their 39 to 7 win and the Northwest conference title.

Two TRF Men Fined $300 Each on Deer 'Shining' Charges

Two Thief River Falls men were convicted of deer shining when they appeared before Judge Paul Lundgren in district court at Thief River Falls Monday, October 17, and each fined $300 and 90 days in jail. A son of one of the men was fined $200 and 90 days on a charge of transporting illegal game.

Roy Forrest Erickson and Willard Erickson were each fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail with the jail sentence stayed. They will pay $50 on November 1 and $50 per month until $250 is paid with the additional $50 stayed. If the fine is not paid, they will serve an additional 90-day jail sentence.

Dennis Erickson was fined $200 on the charge of transporting the illegally taken deer and sentenced to 90 days in jail with the jail sentence stayed. Jail sentences were stayed in all cases if the men are not convicted of game and fish violation for a period of one year.

Apprehension was made by Game Warden Ted Znalda of Warren at 9:45 p.m. Saturday, October 15, in Marshall county. Oscar Erickson, Marshall county sheriff, assisted in bringing the men to Warren Saturday night where they were kept in the Marshall county jail until their trial Monday. The rifle, light and deer were confiscated.

To Rebuild Road in Mud Lake Refuge

SAR No. 7 to Be Raised and Surfaced Next Year

Approximately 6½ miles of State Aid Highway No. 7 on the Mud Lake national wildlife refuge will be raised and surfaced in 1961, according to Herbert H. Hill, refuge manager.

Dill stated that the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service is making $25,000 available for a portion of the work. The actual construction will be done by Marshall county.

Dill explained that the project had been proposed on a cooperative basis with the county. It is expected that final arrangements for the work will be completed this winter, and it is planned to start work early next summer.

2 TRF Students Join in UND Civil Engineering Tour

Civil engineering students at the University of North Dakota made an inspection trip through industrial centers in Minnesota October 16 through 22.

The students visited the American Steel and Wire company and Universal Atlas Cement company plants, the construction of the interstate high bridge, and the Lime Manufacturing plant in Duluth; the Northwest Paper company plant in Cloquet; and the St. Anthony Falls hydraulic laboratory, water works and municipal installations and building construction in Minneapolis.

Rep. Langen Hails Dropping of Beet Acreage Controls

Congressman Tells Tabor FU Action Is Challenge to Farmers in Valley

Congressman Odin Langen Friday called the recent elimination of acreage controls on sugar beets "a real challenge and opportunity to each and every individual interested in the economic development of our Ninth district and Red River Valley.

Langen told a Farmers Union meeting in Tabor that the challenge is one of "cooperating to present the strongest possible case for a substantial permanent increase in Ninth district and Red River Valley sugar beet acreage."

"Such cooperation," he said, "should tell the story of the ideal conditions prevalent throughout this area for the increased production of excellent sugar," and should be directed toward "legislation such as I have proposed for a sizeable permanent increase increase in acres, together with the assurance of full participation in the increased needs of the future."

Langen said his office, in cooperation with the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston and the University of Minnesota, is presently engaged in research "designed to present this case and tell this story."

"All of us," Langen said, "can be spurred in this effort by the fact that nothing offers as great a potential for the expansion and development of agriculture and our entire Ninth District economy as does the increased production of beets."

Andrew Wells Car Hit by Following Car at Crookston

A Goodridge man's car was damaged a week ago Saturday evening when he was involved in a three-car collision in Crookston.

According to Crookston authorities Andrew Wells, Goodridge, had stopped behind a car driven by Anthony Smith, Omaha, Neb., to await the passing of a Great Northern switch engine a mile south of Crookston on highway 75.

Another car driven by Roy Peterson, Buxton, N. D., struck the rear of the Wells car, shoving it into the Smith car. Total damages were estimated at $500 to the three cars, $150 of which was caused to the Wells vehicle. There were no injuries.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Score and the Statistics

The score of Friday night's Northwest Conference football game at Bemidji, which found the Lumberjacks trouncing the Prowlers, 39 to 7, gives the impression that the locals did not belong on the same field as the Jacks. That's not so. Except for five dagger-like thrusts that found Bemidji scoring touchdowns on pass completions, the statistics of the game reveal that the Prowlers played Bemidji on quite even terms. And in the first half, although the score at the intermission was 12 to 7 for Bemidji, the Prowlers held an edge in the play.

In the first half of play, the Prowlers rolled up a total of 187 yards from scrimmage, gaining twelve first downs. Bemidji totaled 115 yards from scrimmage and racked up six first downs.

Unfortunately for the Prowlers, a second half of football was played, and in this second half the Jacks rolled up 212 yards from scrimmage, with 154 yards being marked up on pass completions.

With Paul Klungness on the sidelines with a shoulder dislocation, and with Gary Klungness forced out of the game in the second period by an ankle sprain, the Prowlers were lacking in secondary defense speed and experience. And Bemidji took full opportunity of this Prowler defensive weakness. Of course much credit is due to the pinpoint passing of Bemidji's Lee Fawbush. His long passes were perfectly thrown, with the receivers gathering in the passes while in full stride and several steps ahead of the Prowler defenders. Those touchdowns came easily.

The line play was very rugged, and the Prowler forwards were successful, except for one off-tackle slash by Spencer Price, in halting the Jacks' running game. Of particular interest was the line duel between the Prowlers' Elton Hornseth and Bemidji's big Bill Rabe.

And now the Prowlers will have to shake off the effects of Friday's game and loss and prepare for the schedule-ending tilt against the Crookston Central Pirates. The Pirates, too, will have to shake off the effects of a loss last Friday as they dropped a 27 to 7 decision to Pelican Rapids.

Times Change

For the past several years we have been a member in good standing of the "Fire Warmath" club. But a few more afternoons like last Saturday's, which found the Minnesota Gophers defeating Michigan, 10 to 0, at Michigan, and we will be a candidate for membership in a "Bonus for Warmath" club.

From conversations with fans who have witnessed the Gophers in action this season, it is evident that the 1960 squad is reminiscent of the powerhouse squads that Bernie Bierman developed at Minnesota in the late 1930's. A rough, tough line is the basis for the Gophers' success to date, and it's doubtful if the Gophers, in their remaining games—against—Kansas—State, Iowa, Purdue, and Wisconsin, will meet a line that will match the Minnesota forwards.

And credit is due coach Murray Warmath for taking advantage of superior line play of the Gophers to develop the 1960 scheme of play.

Horses, Horses, Horses

A number of the city's enthusiastic horsemen, and horsewomen, too, have spent considerable time and money, in refurbing one of the barns at the Fair Grounds to provide stabling facilities for twenty horses.

There is a nation-wide boom in ponies and saddle horses, with the result that facilities for the care and upkeep of these horses has become a problem.

Warren has just completed a barn at the Marshall county fair grounds, with provisions for the tabling of 35 horses. And this barn is already too small.

Hearing on Lost River Flood Control Job Is Put off to June 19, 1961

It was the second adjournment since July 6 when the first hearing was adjourned to October 19 after an opposition group filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Paul Lundgren.

Wednesday's hearing, in accordance with a stipulation made in July, was convened before a panel of three judges including Judge Lundgren of Thief River Falls, Judge J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston and Judge Arnold Forbes of Bemidji. The affidavit against Judge Lundgren was later withdrawn.

The request for an adjourned hearing presented at the hearing was a move on the part of the Red Lake Conservancy district board of directors and farmers of the three counties of Red Lake, Polk and Clearwater. There was no opposition to the request for adjournment.

In the period between now and the hearing next June, a request will be issued to the Army Engineers for a review of the project with the hope of securing a higher percentage of federal aid on a participating basis with the affected land owners.

Estimated total cost of the Lost River project is $1,421,000 of which the federal government under present stipulations would pay $784,000 and local land owners the balance of $637,000. These costs are maximum estimates and could be considerably less depending upon contract bidding.

The project would involve the straightening and deepening of the Lost River channel from a point two miles west of Oklee upstream eastward to a point in Windsor township in Clearwater county. In addition, a clearing and snagging operation downstream from Oklee would remove trees and other hindrances to the free flow of water.

Clarifies Law on Farmers' Income

Marshall ASC Explains Tax on Loan Certificates

With fall crops going under price support in volume, Chairman Edward A. Johnson of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee today reminded farmers that the certificate of interest received by the farmer for his loan is not income until it has been taken to a bank and exchanged for the loan proceeds.

In previous years, Mr. Johnson said, there was some confusion in cases where producers presented the certificate to the bank in the year following the year in which it was received from the county office. Last spring the Internal Revenue Service ruled that a producer who receives a certificate of interest in one year and surrenders it in return for the loan proceeds in another "should include the loan as gross income in the latter year if he has made the required election under Section 77 of the Code."

Section 77 of the Internal Revenue Code authorizes a farmer, if he elects to do so, to consider amounts received as loans from CCC as income in the taxable year in which such amounts are received.

U.S. Fire Losses Decline Slightly

Estimated fire losses in the United States during September amounted to $81,845,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported this week.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, general manager, this loss represents a decrease of 1.4 per cent below losses of $83,027,000 reported for September 1959, and a decrease of 9.1 per cent under losses of $90,037,000, for last August.

Losses for the first nine months of 1960 now total $828,851,000, an increase of 3.5 per cent over the first nine months of 1959, when they amounted to $800,887,000.

These estimated losses include an allowance for uninsured and unreported losses.

DIRECTOR OF GAME & FISH

Historically the name David is considered a strong name. Possibly this springs from the story of a certain Biblical David slaying Goliath with his sling and thus earning the title of "David the Giant Killer." Well, I have a 15 year old son David who earned a couple of new titles the opening two days of the duck season.

We believe that, for the man who has neither a duck club membership nor a secret spot, the best place to hunt is on one of the state-owned and developed public shooting areas. We chose one of these areas and never had higher quality shooting in our lives. By quality hunting we mean much more than good shooting. We did not pay to enter and no one put a number on our backs and instructed us to go to blind number 17. We launched our canoe, paddled for an hour, used our judgment in selecting a spot where we figured the birds would fly, set our decoys and built our blinds. These are cherished privileges no less important than the actual shooting of ducks—privileges to be maintained only by meeting the hunting demand with more state-owned Wildlife Management and Public Shooting areas.

But we were rewarded with more than the aesthetic values of quality hunting. In twenty minutes, with mission accomplished, I settled back to watch the younger son earn a new title for his name. In a couple of hours he had his four ducks and in the process had truly earned the title of "David the Shell Burner." (Exact statistics are omitted to prevent a strain on harmonious family relations).

Fortunately for David, and perhaps unfortunately for the family shell buyer, we, at our house, consider coot a close second to duck as a table delicacy. Son David was settled in the bow of the canoe for a coot hunting exposition on the return trip through the rushes. Having never learned that it was possible to fire only one of the two shells in his double barrel, we unnerved him for a while by feeding him one shell at a time. But before we were through he became quite accurate and coots were tumbling from the air in rapid succession. He had earned the title of "David the Coot Killer."

The second day of the hunt was just as enjoyable. The shooting was more difficult but David's coot hunting experience must have paid off, because there was no waiting for him to take his four ducks this time. However, a record of the shells burned revealed that he has yet to earn the title of "David the Duck Killer."

David is convinced that no sport is comparable to duck hunting. His father is convinced that we must have a waterfowl management program so imaginative and so aggressive that every Minnesota father, now and in the future, may experience the unparalleled thrill and companionship that comes with seeing his son enjoy the thrills of quality duck hunting.

Urge Adoption of Amendment No. III

Proposal Would Provide Government Continuity

Leaders of both major political parties, civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations urge that voters approve Amendment No. 3 amending the Minnesota state constitution at the November 8 election. Amendment No. 3 would update the constitution and is the first step to insure continued functioning of government in the event of an emergency such as nuclear attack.

The constitution, thus modernized, will permit legislative action to help insure that civil government can be maintained in emergency, and to make certain that chaos and mob rule will not be the local result of a nuclear attack.

Voters in 13 other states are voting on similar proposals developed by the Council of State Governments. The purpose is to provide lines of succession to public office, minimize the chance of illegal usurpation of government power, assure effective government, and lessen the need for martial law in such an emergency.

"When the people support their government, the government is their servant and follows their commands; but when the government supports the people, the people become servants of their government and are forced to obey the commands of their master."

—George Peck

The Biggest Margin

Because of the shifting value of the dollar itself, cost comparisons in terms of dollars, over a period of years, do not give us a true picture of today's real values. Hoard's Dairyman makes a more realistic comparison by quoting food costs for 1929 and 1958 in terms of what one hour of factory work would buy in these years. Here is the amount of various food items that one hour of labor would buy for the average factory worker:

	1929	1958
Loaves of bread	6.4	11.0
Pints of milk	7.8	16.8
Pounds of butter	1.0	2.9
Pounds of bacon	1.3	2.7
Dozens of eggs	1.1	3.5
Dozens of oranges	1.3	2.8

Obviously these staple items of food are not contributing to the high cost of living or the reduced buying power of the dollar. Food is the biggest bargain available to Americans today.

Restraint Needed

Vice President Nixon criticized Senator Kennedy sharply for what he referred to as a "shockingly reckless proposal" on Cuba. Kennedy had suggested that American aid be given to "fighters for freedom" to overthrow the Castro government.

There probably is justification for the criticism. Most of us would be glad to contribute to such a cause; but those who would speak for us in Washington should not make statements that might prove to be embarrassing for our government in a situation that already is critical.

There was a time when our country maintained peaceful relations with our Latin American neighbors by landing a detachment of Marines wherever matters became troublesome. We looked upon it as benevolent intervention. We no longer approach such neighborhood problems in that way. No American statesman would suggest that we should without first exhausting every possible peaceful way of settling our differences.

Young Kennedy hasn't demonstrated a marked capacity for statesmanship. It is our impression that both Kennedy and Nixon are talking too much about things that probably should not be made issues in a national political campaign. Kennedy is an able speaker, and a President should be able to express himself well. But it is equally important, probably more important, that a President also has the ability and the restraint to remain silent.

Me Must Start Sometime

Reports indicate that there is hunger ahead again for the people of China. There was a serious food shortage there last winter. The condition this winter will be more critical, it is predicted.

The Chinese government is not friendly and there is no good reason why we should help an enemy whose declared purpose is to destroy us. But the Chinese people and the Chinese government are not one and the same thing. We can think of several good reasons why we should try to feed the hungry people. A couple of these good reasons are in part selfish.

Late reports indicate that the Chinese government has now recognized the authority of the Kremlin. Subservience at this time is proof of their desperation.

Maybe now would be a good time to open the door just a little for a discussion of our differences. We must start some time and some of our surplus food might now be good trading stock.

Bad For Business?

J. A. Livingston, writing in the Minneapolis Tribune, proves by the record that presidential election years are generally bad for business. And post-election years are worse, he says. That's a gloomy prospect, but maybe 1961 will be one of the exceptions.

"And then, of course, there's the uncertainty: Who'll be the new president, and what will his policies be?

"Post-election disquietude is understandable. There's a shakedown period. What will the new administration do? If the party in power changes, all the uncertainties are emphasized. The new men have to get hep to jobs. Plans may be held up. Expenditures slowed. Business can't be sure of policies.

"If Kennedy wins, businessmen will wonder: What will he do on interest rates, on taxes, on antitrust policy? If Vice President Nixon is elected, the transition might be somewhat smoother, but there will still be doubts.

"Thus, I'd conclude that a Republican victory is likely to hurt business less — create less uncertainty — than a Democratic victory.

"True, both candidates are committed to high levels of employment. Kennedy would be more likely to use government funds to activate the economy — roads, schools, hospitals, ect. And he might recommend tax reductions.

"Circumstances, rather than party politics and policies will determine what is most expedient. Neither Nixon nor Kennedy, as president, will hesitate to prime the economic pump if employment doesn't rise and unemployment doesn't fall — come spring."

Nurses in Two Years

A new school of nursing which opened in Toronto, Canada, this fall, is geared to a production speed-up that will turn out fully trained nurses in two years instead of the three years needed in most Canadian teaching hospitals. According to the Financial Post, this will be done "through a commendable new concept in nursing education."

Says the Post:

"Here's how it works: The school will have full control of a student's time, within the classroom and in her clinical experience. In other words, avoiding the time-consuming "housemaid" duties which most students in our public hospitals must do.

"With all emphasis on training, the new school, which has been sponsored by the Ontario Government through the Hospital Services Commission, will be able to reduce the length of course of study.

"The Nightingale School, founded as part of the centennial celebrations of the first organized school of nursing by Florence Nightingale in London, England, follows the pattern set in a pilot project at Windsor, Ont., 12 years ago. This project, sponsored by the Canadian Nurses' Association and financed by the Red Cross, proved a nurse could be turned out in two years by emphasizing education, not service.

"Perhaps the Nightingale School of Nursing will provide the answer to the shortage of nurses and teachers. We wish it well."

Indian Youth Education Aid

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

As part of such a program, 29 students from senior classes in 14 northern Minnesota high schools were given a three-day educational orientation visit in the Twin Cities by the state labor committee for Indian youth. The project, now in its third year, has the cooperation of the governor's human rights commission. Labor unions pay all the expenses involved.

In the previous two years, 42 students were guests of the committee. A check shows that 34 of these did continue their education, either collegiate or vocational, after high school graduation. Four others joined the armed services. This is a good record.

While college education or technical or vocational training to provide special skills is important for all youth today, it is especially needed by members of minority groups. Their employment problems are greater than normal. To overcome this handicap they need the highest degree of education and training they can possibly attain.

Central Government

(Long Prairie Leader)

Concentration of power over taxation, spending and law-making in a central government has preceded the collapse of democratic governments for almost 2,000 years.

Before we ask for or vote for more assistance from Washington we should consider that we are creating a more and more powerful central government farther and farther away from us.

Two Federal agencies — Interior Department and the Forest Service—own and operate more than 40 per cent of the land in the nation. The Federal government operates more than 700 corporate activities that "ride the backs of the American people as interest free, dividend free, rent free, cost free, tax free competitors of taxpaying producers and consumers."

In 1926 Federal budget expenditures totalled $2.8 billion. This year it will be $78.3 billion, an increase of almost 3000 per cent. In 1926 a man with two children earning $5,000 a year paid an income tax of $7. The tax table for 1960 lists him for a tax of $416, plus many hidden taxes.

Help from Washington is not free!

Two men were dining together in a restaurant. After a time they got on to politics and their voices rose. When it looked as if blows might result, the proprietor dashed up: "Gentlemen," he said, "leave politics alone and eat and drink."

"Paying the bill, sir," said the proprietor, firmly.

Grassed waterways control gully wash for Stanley Sobocinski, Sleepy Eye. Not long after Sobocinski left Yonkers, New York, to start farming in Brown county he found out that soil on the side hills of his farm washed away leaving gullies in the fields. He decided to control the wash by seeding grass waterways. For a dozen years the strips of sod have done their job well. Sobocinski says he wouldn't farm without conservation measures.

"We must raise some hay and some alfalfa in our rotation to help keep our land in condition and have high production," says V. N. Engquist, Herman. Part of Engquist's 1960 wheat had been planted on alfalfa sod and part on other ground. The wheat on alfalfa sod went over 50 bushels per acre while wheat on other ground yielded less than 30 bushels per acre. The entire field was of the same soil type and received the same treatment—including fertilizer, kind of seed and rate of seeding. The difference in yield is probably due to nitrogen in the soil. Alfalfa is known to contribute as much as 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre. Engquist said the seeding was done in accordance with a farm plan he worked out with the help of Forrest Schasker, SCS work unit conservationist.

Forages are mighty important to Yellow Medicine county DHIA members. Several members are cooperating in the University of Minnesota Testing program and will have their feedstuffs chemically analyzed. The laboratory analysis of hay and silages will be used in developing low-cost rations. Another example of bringing research to Minnesota farmers.

Money spent for terrace construction is wisely invested, according to Herman Kerkow, Scott county farmer. Level terraces on the Kerkow farm stop both wind and water erosion on the light sandy soils and help retain some of the much needed moisture on the slopes. Kerkow says he is able to establish and maintain good stands of alfalfa on these fields without any special soil treatment—even though former operators told him alfalfa would not grow in those areas.

Severe gully erosion cleared off large areas of topsoil on the Dale Scripture farm near Eyota. Remaining topsoil was in a rundown condition when Scripture began applying conservation practices. Building an earthen dam to control wash, using contour strip cropping and following a fertilizer and liming program have conserved the soil and resulted in yields of 75 to 80 bushels corn and 3½ tons of alfalfa per acre. Last year Scripture milked 32 Holstein with an average production of 501 pounds of butterfat. He used daily rotation grazing as a pasture program.

• • •

Stubble mulch tillage, while still more or less in the trial stage, seems to reduce erosion hazards and permit more intensive crop rotations, says Carroll Carlson, SCS soil scientist. Also, this method helps maintain and increase soil organic matter and soil tilth and helps soil hold water longer. "Yields could be reduced under mulch tillage because of decreases in nitrate accumulation in the soil, but this can be largely offset by proper nitrogen fertilization," adds Carlson.

• • •

Best safety guard is between our ears, says David Johnson, Yellow Medicine county agent. This means pay attention to all hazards, appraise all the risks, guard against emotional chance-taking. Don't show off or make a fool's decision. Conservation farming calls for human conservation, too.

Future drainage improvements are the goal of supervisors of the Chisago Soil and Water Conservation District. These men have met several times with SCS and Minnesota Highway Department engineers to learn what farmers can do to assure future drainage improvements on farms along the route of the proposed Interstate Freeway. Several thousand acres of good cropland will suffer unless culverts under the freeways are placed at proper levels at the time of construction, according to Ray W. Johnson, chairman of the Soil and Water Conservation District board.

It must come as a shock to the average teen-ager, to realize, that in another 20 years, they'll be as dumb and ignorant as their parents are.

Red Dolan's "Madness"
One day, "Red" Dolan was seen at the golf club strapping on a pair of snowshoes!
When some of Red's friends heard about it, they began joking about Red's mystifying "madness." But I figured Red must have had a reason for donning snowshoes, so I asked him about it.
"Well," said Red, "You know that marsh near the 14th hole, Joe. A lot of the boys slice golf balls right into there and lose 'em for good. So I just put on my snowshoes — they let me travel on top of that spongy marsh surface without sinking in — and retrieve those golf balls. You should have seen my last haul—enough to play all season with."
From where I sit, people often form opinions about things before they know all the facts. Some folks, for really no good reason at all, will criticize a man for preferring a glass of beer to some other beverage. It's just a matter of taste. To think otherwise is just plain intolerant. And it's a sure way to "shoe" away friends.

Control Peony Disease

If you plan to mulch peonies, use dry material such as leaves or straw. Never use manure. Mulching will help protect the plants against injury that may occur in winter from alternate freezing and thawing.

In spring, remove the mulch before shoots start to grow. That precaution is important because some fungi which cause disease will grow on mulching material in the spring.

As another preventive measure in spring, spray with a fungicide such as Bordeaux mixture, fixed copper, maneb or zineb when shoots are 3 to 6 inches tall and again when they are 10 to 18 inches tall.

High Moisture Corn

Whether a farmer feeds his corn or sells it as a cash crop, he'll be money ahead to harvest at high moisture content — from 25 to 30 per cent, according to a University of Minnesota extension agricultural economist.

A farmer who feeds livestock can harvest his corn at lowest cost if he puts it up as high-moisture ear corn or shelled corn silage. With the lower cost, he also gains a labor saving advantage, since grinding is done all at once and the feed is handled fewer times.

The total expense for picking, hauling, grinding, storage and storage loss averages about 16 or 17 cents per bushel for ensiled high-moisture corn. This compares with a cost of about 20 cents per bushel for picking, storing and grinding in the conventional manner.

A grower who harvests his corn as a cash crop should consider mechanical drying to get the early harvesting advantages, according to University specialists. Each drying system must be designed to fit the situation. Large producers will need a high capacity system that can handle corn as rapidly as it is picked.

A heated-air batch drier is a practical investment for the grow with at least 7,000 bushels of corn to harvest. But farmers who grow less than that amount will probably be money ahead to have their corn custom dried or to dry with unheated air or low cost supplemental heat.

New Uses for Starch

Reduction of food surpluses through new industrial uses of starches may result from fundamental research under way on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

Progress in the project, which involves "remodeling" of corn starch molecules, was reported by Fred Smith, University biochemist.

Smith explained that heating corn starch either along or with a small amount of an acidic substance bring about what is called dextrinization to produce compounds with gum-like properties. Compound of this type are now used on a vast scale in the adhesive, mining and textile industries.

The University researcher traced the discovery of this gum back to a fire in an Irish starch plant in 1821. The fire roasted the starch and when water was poured on the flames the result was a gum which was found useful for such things as sealing envelopes.

Until University of Minnesota researchers began recent investigations, however, no one knew exactly what chemical changes occurred during the roasting process.

When various compounds are mixed with the corn starch during dextrinization, it was found that the added compound forms an integral part of the remodeled corn starch molecule, resulting in a variety of entirely new substances. They are the forerunners of new types of adhesives which may prove to be the beginnings of a new industry based on starch.

What can be done with starch from corn can also be done with starches from potatoes, wheat and other crops which are in surplus as foods.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—Now that the right to apply for a GI loan has been extended for World War II veterans, I may want to get a loan to go into business with a friend who is not a veteran. Is this possible?

A—Yes. You may join with a non-veteran in obtaining a loan. However, the amount of the loan on which VA guaranty or insurance can be based will be in proportion to your interest in the loan. VA cannot guarantee any part of the loan which represents the non-veteran's contribution to the business.

Q—I am about to start on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill. How many hours a week are considered to be full-time training?

A—Full-time training is considered to be the standard workweek of the firm where you are taking your training. However, it generally may not be less than 36 hours a week.

Q—I am eligible for training under the War Orphans Education program. Can I use my right under the program to take a correspondence school course in cartooning?

A—No. The law does not permit you to receive benefits for correspondence school training. Also prohibited, under the War Orphans Education program are courses in dancing, personality development, and bartending, on-the-job and on-the-farm training, training given by radio or television, and training in foreign countries.

Q—Who receives the monthly VA allowances under the War Orphans Education program—the student or his parent?

A—If the student is under 21, his living parent or guardian will receive the allowances. If he is 21 or over, the allowances will be paid directly to him.

Q—Is it true that VA no longer writes any new GI insurance except to service-disabled Korea veterans?

A—No. VA is permitted by law to issue a special type of GI insurance to any service-disabled veteran discharged under other than dishonorable conditions on or after April 25, 1951. This could include Korea veterans, of course, but also peacetime veterans. Applications generally must be made within one year from the date VA finds the disability service-connected.

Q—I'm in school under the Korean GI Bill and not happy with the course I am taking, but my three-years-from-date-of-discharge deadline for making a change has passed. Is there anything I can do about it?

A—Yes. If, through no fault of your own, you are not making good progress and the course is plainly not right for you, you may make application to change. Final determination will be made by the VA Counseling Service.

Q—Do I need VA's consent to sell my GI house, if the loan is not fully paid off?

A—No. You don't need VA's consent to sell your property. However, if you wish to be released from liability for the balance of the loan, you must apply to VA.

Q—I am a Korea veteran, discharged seven months ago, and I have a disability I think is service-connected. Is there any deadline for applying for compensation?

A—No. You may apply for disability compensation at any time. However, if you apply within one year from the date of your discharge, payments may be back-dated to your first day as a civilian. If you wait longer than one year, payments can become effective only as of the date you apply.

Winter Protection of Ornamentals

In order to assure good survival of your ornamental shrubs and flowers this winter, you'll have to protect them against extremely cold weather as well as alternate freezing and thawing.

Tented roses like the hybrid tea, floribunda, grandiflora and ramblers all need winter cover. You can choose from among several different methods of covering.

A 2 to 3-foot covering of leaves has given good results. Pack the leaves carefully around the base of the plants and among the branches. If individual rose bushes are being protected, the leaf mound should be 3 to 4 feet wide around the plant.

Another method of winter protection is to mound soil around the base of the plant to a height of 12 to 18 inchs and then cover with a mulch of marsh hay or straw. The mulch should be at least 2 feet thick.

Most perennial plants in the flower border need some protection. A mulch from 6 to 8 inches deep is usually adequate covering. Control rodents under the mulch by placing rodent poison at feeding stations at intervals. Make the feeding stations by cutting off he covers of No. 10 cans at both ends. Place the rodent poison in the center of the can so pets and birds can't get at the bait. Then mover the feeding stations with mulch.

Water shrubs to give them a supply of moisture for the winter. If new growth begins, stop watering.

Winter Protection of Fruits

In Minnesota our winters are usually too severe for many or our fruit plants to survive without some form of winter protection.

Winter injury is observed in various forms. Apples and pears can suffer from sunscald or rabbits and mice. Raspberries and strawberries can be affected by alternate freezing and thawing or by extremely low temperatures.

To protect young fruit trees against rodents, place a cylinder of hardware cloth around each tree. Use ¼ inch mesh hardware cloth and push the cylinder into the soil so the mice cannot get underneath. Be sure the overlapped edges are securely fastened.

Shading the southwest side of the main trunk and larger branches of fruit trees will help prevent sunscald. Small trees can be protected by wrapping strips of burlap around the tops. Boards fastened to the southwest side of the trunk or large trees can be effective.

Raspberry canes should be laid down and only the tips covered with dirt if good snow cover is expected. If the site is usually exposed and snow does not drift in, it may be necessary to cover the canes completely with soil to keep them uniformly cold during winter.

After strawberries have been exposed to one or two frosts, apply a mulch of two inches of straw or marsh hay over the plants. It's usually a good idea to apply the mulch around November 1 before cold weather sets in.

A "Leftover" Treat

Ever wonder how to make "leftover" vegetables into a different tasty salad? Soak 2 tablespoons of gelatin in half a cup of beer for five minutes. Add 2½ cups of canned bouillon. Add ½ cup of beer with 1 teaspoon of sugar, let it cool. Pour mixture over 4½ cups cooked vegetables in mold. Chill. Serve on crisp lettuce. Sounds wonderful doesn't it? If you're interested in other recipes made with beer, send for my free booklet "Minnesota Hostess' Favorite Recipes". Write to me at 2133 Pillsbury Building, Minneapolis.

Beer Aided Early Explorers

During the era of exploration of the American Continent, beer was deemed essential in provisioning ships. Water often became undrinkable on ocean voyages, whereas beer remained wholesome for long periods of time. In addition, beer's nutritive values also helped to ward off many of the diet-deficiency ills to which passengers on long voyages were subjected.

Can't Graze Land in Conservation Reserve in County

95,804 Acres of Cropland in Pennington Covered by Contracts, Says Culkins

Even though the growing season is over, land in the Conservation Reserve may not be used for grazing as long as the land retirement contract remains in effect, Patrick W. Culkins, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office manager, reminded farmers today.

For Conservation Reserve contracts which expire in 1960, the prohibition on grazing continues until December 31, Culkins said. For contracts with additional years to run, the farmer is obligated to withhold the land from crops or grazing and to refrain from breaking out new land until the contract expires.

Culkins said that 1960 annual payments are being made to Conservation Reserve participants now that performance has been checked to determine that contract requirements have been complied with during the past year. There are 662 contracts in effect in Pennington county in 1960, covering a total of 95,804 acres of cropland.

Fat Stock Show Included in Plans for 1961 Event

The dates for the 1961 Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, are February 20-24. This is a change from the early preliminary plans, according to B. E. Youngquist, president of the show.

Early planning for the show is already under way. Information will be made public in the near future on the plans for a fat stock show, a new addition to the livestock show activities.

The 1961 Winter Shows will be held in the old Winter Shows buildings. The drive for finances for the rebuilding and relocation of buildings is being resumed after the busy summer cropping season.

STRIPPERS ARE having a field day in London and their night spots are reporting the biggest season ever — mainly due to the strippers who can't work on home territory any more. The gals can't disrobe in New York, Miami, Boston, Philadelphia, Las Vegas—although it's okay to appear nude there—or any of the other old major stripping grounds.

A USED CAR LOT has an old hearse with this sign: "One Owner, 250,000 Careful Miles" . . . The Bostonian, Samuel F. Smith, who in 1831 wrote "America" at the age of 24, originally gave the hymn five stanzas, but discarded the last one. Here's how it went: "No more shall tyrants here with haughty steps appear and soldier bands. No more shall tyrants tread Above the patriot dead. No more our blood be shed By alien hands" . . . Varnishing is much easier if you place the can in a container of hot water while working. The varnish dries faster, too.

JOBS BUILD OUR STATE . . . One of the important roles of American business is to provide jobs. As long as it can produce iron ore, Minnesota's mining industry can provide jobs. In fact, iron mining and the businesses which serve and supply it, provide over 33,000 jobs for Minnesota people and, in addition, spend some 200 million dollars each year in Minnesota for goods and services. No wonder iron mining in Minnesota is one of the State's chief industries and one which we want to see grow and prosper.

He received a variety of answers, ranging from 50 cents to $5.00. Almost nobody seemed to know there's no profit whatsoever for a sub-station vending stamps . . . Bicycle Accidents Increase in State

'U' M. Safety Specialist Calls for Law Observance

Eleven persons were killed and 346 injured in bicycle accidents in Minnesota in the first eight months of 1960, according to a Minnesota highway department report. Those figures indicate an increase of seven deaths over the same period in 1959 when four persons were killed and 337 injured in bicycling accidents.

Observing traffic rules and lighting and reflectorizing bicycles if they are to be used after dark are two ways of reducing the accident toll, the University safety specialist says.

Bicycle riders should understand that they are subject to the regular vehicle traffic rules. Like any motorist they must drive in the proper lane of traffic, use turn signals, observe traffic lights and road signs. It is only when a bicycle rider is old enough to know how to ride in traffic and to obey the rules of the road that he is a safe cyclist," Prickett says.

The time to train a future motorist in safety is when he is learning to ride a bicycle safely, according to the University safety specialist.

A FARM DISTRICT MUST HAVE FARM REPRESENTATION!

In his initial term in Congress, Odin Langen has thoroughly demonstrated the need for a farmer representative for Minnesota's Ninth District. Odin Langen, a lifelong Kittson County farmer, has shown he has the ability, the background to serve every Ninth District family. His knowledge of agriculture enabled him to catch the omission of the 1958 oats and barley reseal program when the government's reseal program was announced . . . has given him the ability to fight for sugar beet production, a greater net farm income.

Odin Langen has yet to miss a single quorum call or roll call vote. Contrast this with the record of his opponent who missed 131 critical votes during her term in office. Vote to continue FULL-TIME representation!

Woods Extremely Dry in Northern Area at Present

Proof of the tinder dry condition existing in much of northern Minnesota was revealed today in a report by the Department of Conservation's forestry division that 20 forest fires occurred over the past weekend.

E. L. Lawson, director of forestry, said that a radioed request for fire conditions over the Oct. 8 weekend brought the reply that burning indexes ranged from very high to extreme in most areas north of a line drawn thru the center of the state.

All of the twenty fires have been brought under control and all did relatively small damage except for a 620 acre fire seven miles northeast of Aitkin. Lawson said that 500 acres burned over here were in grass and the other 120 acres consisted of forest cover.

U.S. Boosts Butterfat Price 3 Cents Per Pound

Support prices for dairy products have been increased in accordance with a new law passed at the recent session of Congress and signed by the President on Sept. 16, according to word received at the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Under the new law, the support rate was increased from $3.06 to $3.22 per hundred pounds of manufacturing milk and from 56.6 to 59.6 cents per pound of butterfat.

In order to carry out these increases, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has raised its buying prices by 2¼ cents per pound on buter, 1¼ cents per pound on cheese, and ½ cent per pound on nonfat dry milk.

In the dairy price support program, support is provided by government purchase of butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk from manufacturers and handlers. These purchases maintain the overall dairy product price structure, the support level to milk producers being reflected in prices paid by the handlers and manufacturers.

Co. Agent Gives Data on Soil Testing Drive Conducted Last Week

Seven hundred and fifty-two soil samples were brought to a soils depot at Thief River Falls last week in a two day soil testing drive, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Eleven more were brought to the office during the two days, making a total of 763 soil samples submitted to the University for chemical analysis. This compares to a total of 402 samples submitted during the soil sampling drive in the fall of 1959.

The farmers are expressing increased confidence in using the right kind and amount of fertilizer based on what is in the soil as shown by the soil test. The farmers then apply the plant foods the crop needs to get the yield expected from a particular field.

The results from the University laboratory are expected to be back in the extension office in four to six weeks. County agents then make fertilizer recommendations based on the soil test.

A total of 188 farmers brought in soil samples and averaged 4.1 samples each. This compares to 3.4 samples average for the 119 farmers who took part in the soil testing promotion in 1959. Total acres represented by samples this fall was 23,776. This compares to 12,240 acres tested in the fall of 1959. Of the farmers taking samples, 50 per cent tested their fields for the first time.

Fertilizer dealers worked in shifts in manning the trailer. They completed information sheets, packaged the soil samples, and aided in processing of samples generally. The farmers paid the one dollar fee per sample and received a receipt for total amount paid. The dealers will discount this amount from the

Dian L. Folkedahl Vows Spoken with Ralph Wilde

The American Lutheran church at St. Hilaire was the scene of the candlelight wedding of Miss Dian Lilith Folkedahl to Ralph F. Wilde. Rev. A. E. Berg performed the double ring ceremony October 15 at 8 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd Folkedahl and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilde, both of rural Thief River Falls.

Baskets of red carnations and white gladioli graced the altar as the organist, Miss Janet Wilde of Shevlin, played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Yvonne Olson of this city as she sang "Beautiful Savior" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of embroidered silk illusion over taffeta with panels in the bouffant skirt. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline and three - quarter length sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a white velvet crown, accented with pearls and lily of the valley, designed by her mother. Her only jewelry, a silver heart on a chain, was a gift of the groom. She carried a colonial bouquet of red and white roses with feathered carnation streamers.

Serving as maid of honor was Meribeth Folkedahl, with Sharon Rude and Sharon Wilde, all of rural Thief River Falls as bridesmaids. Their identical dresses were of red velveteen with scoop necklines, three-quarter length sleeves and fitted bodice with a bouffant skirt. All wore matching crowns and short veils. Their colonial bouquets were of feathered white carnations centered with red roses. White gloves and gold crosses, gifts of the bride, completed their attire. Miss Carol Wilde, sister of the groom, was flower girl. She was dressed like the bridesmaids and carried a gold basket of flowers. Jonathon Folkedahl, brother of the bride, was ringbearer and wore a white jacket and dark trousers.

Serving as best man was Dale Wilde, brother of the groom, with Lyle Bjorge of rural Thief River Falls and Robert Olson of Keewatin as attendans. All the gentlemen of the bridal party wore white dinner jackets, dark trousers and red boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Folkedahl chose a beige brocaded dress with matching accessories and a bronze orchid corsage while the groom's mother wore a grey and white dress with black accessories and a corsage of red and white roses. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Alice Wilde, wore a blue dress with a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Theodore Bjorke and Mrs. Earl Akin cut and served the cake while Mrs. Donald Mack of Oklee and Mrs. Milo Wilde of Shevlin poured coffee. Lois Wilde was at the guest book and Gayle Anseby served at the the punch bowl. At the gift table were Marion Lietzow, Mrs. Marvin Bakken, Betty Droppo and Faye Torkelson while Marlon Bakken and Joyce Lokken were waitresses. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Julius Olson and Mrs. Herman Rude. Lunch was served by the St. Pauli ladies aid.

ways has been acquired by funds made available by the city and the county and the Junior Chamber of Commerce to be turned over to the state highway department for roadside development.

Under the provisions of an agreement submitted by the highway department, setting forth what improvements the state would make, the city also would be required to provide some facilities and agree to give the area permanent maintenance. This agreement had been rejected by the council.

One possibility that increased the desirability of such a development was a proposal that it include a boat landing. This seemed to meet with general favor by both state and local officials. It was decided that the park board should prepare a report to the Council setting forth in greater detail just what responsibilities would have to be assumed by the city and their probable cost.

Dean Harold Macy of the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture expressed his optimism in the future of the dairy industry in the opening speech of the afternoon. He predicted an extension of the mechanization in the industry and other changes which he felt would take place.

Dean Macy was followed by Prof. S. Coulter, head of the department of dairy industries at the university, who told the audience that his department's concern is with research into the problems which arise. He spoke of the shift in emphasis of the fat content in milk to meet the demands of modern living and predicted that the time will come when the content of solids, not fat, in milk will be standardized just as the butterfat content is today.

He also proposed the possibility that butter in the future may contain added solids, not fat, and that a different level of fat may be required.

Dr. J. J. Neumaier, president of Moorhead State college, was the principal speaker of the afternoon and addressed the audience on the "Meaning of Freedom in Our Everyday Lives."

Dr. Neumaier declared that the basis of our freedom is equality of opportunity and urged understanding what we oppose to successfully and intelligently oppose it.

He listed the freedoms which are a part of the American way of life and urged his listeners to learn to think independently and to increase their knowledge of the world.

'Opposition and disagreement are the lifeblood of our way of life and our system of government," Dr. Neumaier said. He went on to say that if these should ever disappear, a one-party system of government would take over.

He urged the audience never to surrender their freedoms in exchange for security pointing to Germany before World War II as an example of what happens when this is done.

Billy Graham Film Coming Saturday

Movie on Africa Shown at Lincoln High Auditorium

Billy Graham's historic 17,000 mile "Safari for Souls" across Africa is the theme of a new feature length motion picture, "Africa on the Bridge," which has its Thief River Falls premiere at the Lincoln high school auditorium on Saturday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m.

Photographed in authentic sound and natural color in 17 principal cities across Africa from Monrovia, Liberia, to Cairo, Egypt, the film captures the spirit of Africa during these current crucial years. Frequently called "The Awakening Giant", Africa is depicted to be in a transition period—on a bridge—between ancient tribalism and the shining goal of independence from colonial rule.

"Africa on the Bridge" has great pictorial scope, ranging from sequences depicting primitive village life to scenes of modern city and industrial activity. Exciting and colorful pagan rites and ceremonies are featured, together with some of the most remarkable big-game footage ever filmed.

Admission will be free.

Big Grist of Business in TRF Court Monday

After light sessions of municipal court the previous two weeks, there was a sharp upturn in the number of cases brought before Judge H. O. Chommie this week.

There were two highway patrol cases. Richard L. Ehrenstrom, Star Route, Babbitt, forfeited $15 bond on a speeding charge, while Clayton P. Omlid, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to having an open bottle of intoxicants in his car and was fined $25.

Two persons were also brought in by county Sheriff Richards. Jimmie D. Asp, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property and was fined $75, of which $25 was suspended.

Asp also pleaded guilty to having an open bottle of intoxicants in a car and was fined an additional $25. Asp was arrested by the sheriff on a citizen's complaint after he threw a beer bottle through the rear window of a parked car.

Ernest L. Merrill, Goodridge, was also brought in by the sheriff on an open bottle charge and was fined $30. His arrest was also the result of a citizen's complaint.

All other cases were brought by city police. Kenneth L. Olson, Minneapolis, forfeited $20 bond for driving too fast for conditions. Cyrus O. Peterson, rt. 4, Red Lake Falls, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $15. Pleas of guilty to the same charge also resulted in fines for Peter S. Oftedahl, city, $15, and Dale W. Magner, $17.

The following persons forfeited bonds on speeding charges in the amounts listed after their names: Joe P. Yeado, rt. 1, Angus, $17; Henry D. Klegstad, Halma, $19; George W. Wiethke, city, $20; and Walfred J. Larson, Strandquist, $27.

Clarence A. Kjensrud, city, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $19. Robert L. Pahlen, city, was fined $10 after he pleaded guilty to having an illegal muffler.

Robert J. Fox, Bemidji, forfeited $15 bond for failure to heed a stop sign, accident involved.

VFW Leaders Urge Citizens to Vote in Nov. 8 Election

Special Posters Being Distributed Thruout State in Coming Week

"We fought for your right to vote—please use it!" That is the message carried by special posters being distributed by Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts thruout Minnesota.

The posters are only a part of an intensive campaign being carried out by the VFW to impress citizens with their responsibilities on election day, November 8, according to Russell Berger, commander of VFW Post No. 2793, Thief River Falls.

The campaign, which has received the enthusiastic endorsement of leaders of Minnesota's major political parties, is based on the need for an informed electorate which takes its responsibilities seriously. The poster distribution will be followed by newspaper, radio and television appeals.

In explaining the interest of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in originating this program, Commander Berger stated, "Every member of the VFW has served on foreign soil. We have seen what can happen to a disinterested and misled public, and we don't want it to happen here."

He pointed out that the Nazi, Fascist, Communist and other totalitarian parties have each taken control of countries while representing a small minority, simply because the majority failed to stop them before it was too late.

"That can never happen here," he said, "while our voters are informed of the issues and interested enough to cast their vote in accordance with their own best judgment."

The climax of the campaign will come on election eve, Monday, November 7, when citizens across the nation are being urged to leave their porch lights on from 8 to 9 p.m. as a reminder to "Light out for the polls" the next day.

Mail Box Damage Federal Offense

Halloween Celebrants Are Warned of Penalty

With Halloween only a short time off the postoffice department today issued a warning that it is a federal offense to willfully or maliciously damage or destroy any receptacle used for the receipt of mail. In the past, rural mail boxes have been frequent targets of Halloween pranksters.

However, the department stated that before such pranksters attack a rural mail box it might be well for them to consider that their activities could net them a $1,000 fine or three years imprisonment. Postal inspectors investigate cases of damage to mail boxes and turn offenders over to the United States attorney for criminal prosecution.

The government takes a very serious attitude toward the depredation and request that anyone having information which might lead to the identification of a person responsible for mail box damage advise the postmaster at once.

Police Chief Elton Cummings was given his freedom Friday evening after serving his term of slavery at our store. He was "sprung" by Neal Fox whose purchase enabled the chief to reach his sales quota for the day.

We wish to express our appreciation to Chief Cummings' Wendell Olson and Morris Howick who entered into their condition of involuntary servitude voluntarily as their contribution to the Lions Club Slave auction to raise money for their community activities. They proved to be well worth the price we paid for them and we thank them for their good service.

Pictured above, behind the bars of pole lamps, is Chief Cummings, Stan Larson signing the emancipation proclamation and Neal Fox whose purchase brought the day's sales up to the mark that we had hoped for. The photo is by Joyce Fox.

And thanks too to the many people who visited our store on Friday and who helped to make the special sale a success.

President Lauds United Campaigns

President Eisenhower greets Oliver G. Willits, national chairman of the United Community Campaigns of America, on the occasion of the all-network television and radio broadcast keynoting the nation's 2,200 United Fund and Community Chest campaigns this fall.

Speaking "as an advance herald for the United Community Campaigns," the President paid tribute to America's reputation for voluntary giving. He pointed out that while Americans have more of the world's goods than any other nation, it is also true that "we share them generously with the world and each other."

President Eisenhower attributed this generosity to the American spiritual heritage which includes a deep sense of responsibility to our fellow men. The United Community Campaigns, he said, "testify to the vitality of this heritage."

Leads National Volunteers

Mr. Willits, chairman of the board of Campbell Soup Company, as national chairman for United Community Campaigns of America, leads volunteers who work nationally in support of local United Fund and Community Chest campaigns which will seek to surpass last year's record when these once-a-year drives raised a total of $455 million to finance 28,000 voluntary health and welfare agencies serving 31,300,000 men, women and children.

In his broadcast message President Eisenhower noted that while "the campaign may be known as United Fund or Community Chest in your home town, in both, many health and welfare agencies join together to ask our help once a year, in one campaign."

"Much depends on the results of these nationwide efforts," the President stated. "They supply the funds for many of our local welfare groups and for some great national organizations like the American Red Cross and the USO. Money given in these campaigns also goes to the support of health agencies and medical research."

Chairman Thanks President

In his capacity as national chairman, Mr. Willits responded to the President's message, thanking him for the warm words which will "bring new hope to those who need help."

The President's words, according to Mr. Willits, "will serve to open the hearts of all of us — so we can be glad to give a full fair share to our United Community Campaigns."

Prowlers End Season at Crookston Friday

Second place in the Northwest football conference standings will be at stake on Friday night when coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowlers meet the Crookston Pirates at Crookston. The game is the traditional schedule-ending tilt that concludes the season for the two teams.

The game will also mark the closing out of high school football for the nine Prowler seniors on the squad. Donning the football togs for the last time will be co-captains Eddie Lietzow, Ron Amundson and Jack Goulet. Lietzow is a fullback, Amundson a center, and Goulet a guard. Others making their final appearance are ends Ron Hanson and Don Ulferts, halfbacks Lloyd Ranum and Harvey Ebbighausen, tackle Gary Odegaard, and guard Paul Wangberg.

In the long series of games between the two teams, beginning back in 1915, the Prowlers hold a marked superiority, having won 28 games, lost nine, and tied four. In last year's game, the Prowlers, on Gary Klungness' first period touchdown, and Jeff Hartje's conversion point, defeated the Pirates, 7 to 0, on the Lincoln field.

Coach Kenneth (Red) Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks, flashing a well-executed passing attack, defeated the Prowlers, 39 to 7, in a game played at Bemidji Friday night. The win closed out the Jacks' Northwest conference football schedule and game the Bemidji squad the 1960 conference title.

The conference schedule will be concluded with Friday's pair of games. Thief River Falls will meet the Crookston Pirates at Crookston, with the winner gaining runner-up honors. The two clubs are tied for second place at present, having records of two wins and a loss. The Roseau Rams, last season's conference champions, will meet the Green Wave of East Grand Forks at East Grand Forks. The two teams will be striving to get into the conference win column.

The Exodus

A large number of the hunters in this area will be putting aside their waders, hip boots, and duck hunting parkas to don their cross-country gear and travel downstate to the pheasant range for the opening of the pheasant hunting season this weekend. The season is state-wide, and it will begin at 12:00 o'clock on Saturday, Oct. 29 and will continue, with shooting hours from 10:00 A.M. to sunset every day, through Sunday, Nov. 20.

While the season is state-wide, and a pheasant propagation project has been in operation in this area, it is evident that the western and southern part of the state contains the bulk of the pheasant population. We have been informed by reliable sources that the pheasants had a normal hatching season and that the Elbow Lake, Fergus Falls, Wheaton, Herman, and Chokio areas had a good production this season. It is predicted that the hunting will be on par with last season's satisfactory season, but much slower than the banner year that was experienced in 1958.

Judging by the conversations to which we have been eavesdropping, there will be a number of local deer hunting parties making the jaunt to the pheasant hunting areas. There is a marked similarity in pheasant hunting and deer hunting in that drivers and posters are required. These hunting parties will be using the pheasant hunting as a "spring training" drill for next month's deer season.

Good Luck, Prowlers

Coach Rod Max and his seven-man Prowler cross-country squad will leave town on Friday, at 9:00 A.M., enroute to Minneapolis and the state cross country meet. The seven boys who earned the trip by reason of their victory in the Region Eight meet are Roger Johnson, Rolf Wangberg, Mike Aune, Bob Bredeson, Jim Ewing, David Jones, and Jim Hageman.

The state meet will be run over the Lake Nakomis course in Minneapolis on Saturday afternoon, at 12:00 P.M.

Game and Fish

While the duck hunting, of the mallard variety, was at a low tempo this week, the goose hunters did have some action. There was some mallard shooting late last week in the area northwest of Holt, and the parties that were fortunate enough to get into the feeding pattern were able to secure some limit shoots.

But it was the goose hunters that had the good luck. Gary Odegaard, the football Prowler, had an exceptional shoot Sunday. Gary was in a blind at a slough, awaiting the duck flight. In the warm Sunday, Gary dozed off, only to be awakened by a splashing sound. Looking up from the rushes he was astonished to see that flock of about twenty lesser Canadas had landed in the slough. Gary opened up on the birds. And the result was that he got enough geese.

Gordon (Baldy) Dunham, hunting the Greenbush bog on Saturday, also got a limit of Canadas. Baldy had to do some stalking to get within range of the birds, but after a couple of tries he managed to get into shooting position.

While the hunters are having considerable luck at bringing in birds, the fishermen are complaining about lack of action. Several anglers have made the trip to Lake of the Woods and the Rainy river, in hopes of catching some trophy-sized walleyed pike. But the walleyes have not been moving into the river in any great number. Perhaps the unseasonable weather that has prevailed here the past month has been a deterrent to the usual autumn up-stream surge of the wallayes. The anglers are still hoping for action.

Wood cabinets, built-ins and wood-paneled walls have the highest preference among women of the home. One of the most popular kitchen cabinet woods is west coast hemlock, which is light honey colored and very wear resistant.

Red Lake Falls at Warren

It appears that the Warren Ponies and the Ada Vikings will share the championship honors in the Pine-to-Prairie football conference this season. The two clubs are tied for first place in the conference ratings, having records of five wins and a tie. And in their schedule-ending games this week, the two leaders will be playing the low-rung teams in the standings, with Warren playing the eighth place Red Lake Falls team, and Ada playing the seventh place Twin Valley club.

In last week's games, Warren defeated the Mahnomen Indians, 27 to 21; and Ada rolled up a 57 to 14 win over the Fosston Greyhounds.

In the individual scoring race, between Mahnomen's Jim Klepetka and Warren's Wayne Edgar, the point-standings reveal that Klepetka continues to hold a 5-point spread over Edgar. In a head-to-head duel last week, in the Warren vs. Mahnomen game at Mahnomen, the two players shared scoring honors, each getting a pair of touchdowns and two conversion points. Klepetka has scored 93 points, while Edgar has accounted for 86 points.

We may not have Minute Men today but we do have a lot of seconds.

Attorney General's Office Expenses Are Attacked by Saetre

Gaylord A. Saetre, Republican candidate for attorney general, said payroll and office expenses to operate the attorney general's office have increased more than $330,000 during the past six years of the Freeman administration.

Saetre said that the cost of running the office under Attorney General J. A. A. Burnquist for salaries was $238,825 as of December 31, 1954.

He added, "By December 29, 1959, the Freeman administration had increased the payroll to $567,000, an increase of $33,225.

Saetre, who said the figures were taken from records in the state auditor's office, termed the increases a major disservice to the taxpayers of Minnesota and one of the major issues in the attorney general race.

He said that in 1954, the office had a staff of 32 lawyers—but the staff has been increased to 73. There are 55 full-time lawyers and 18 on a part-time basis, Saetre said.

He added, "Compared to comparable states, the people of Minnesota can judge for themselves if the increased staff can be justified."

Saetre said that compared to the Minnesota attorney general's staff of 73 full and part-time lawyers:

Indiana, with 1,300,000 more people than Minnesota, has 42 full-time lawyers and no part-time.

Wisconsin, which has 600,000 more people than Minnesota, has 24 full-time lawyers and six part-time lawyers.

Saetre said that some increase in staff would have been justified because of the huge federal interstate road-building project which started in 1954.

But he added, "These other states are also included in that program and have the same amount of work, if not more, when it comes to land condemnation.

"In fact, all of the states mentioned have actually built more interstate than Minnesota—and with smaller staff by a large margin to handle the increased legal work involved in the interstate."

Saetre said that if he is successful in the election, he could cut up to $100,000 off the payroll and administration expenses in his first year in office.

Saetre, a former F.B.I. agent and practicing attorney, said the cuts could be made "without jeopardizing either the caliber or scope of the Attorney General's responsibilities to state government in particular or the people of Minnesota in general."

He said that one of the first things he would do in office would be to take the office "out of partisan politics. I would also get rid of the numerous political appointments of young lawyers who are being paid high salaries to train as campaigners and party politicians."

Saetre pointed out that there are 10 lawyers on the attorney general's staff who have been out of law school four or less years—and all 10 each receive $9,000 a year or more.

"There are three appointments of lawyers out of law school three or less years receiving salaries of $9,500, $10,500 and $12,500 a year respectively."

Saetre said such salaries were a direct waste of taxpayers' money—almost double what such lawyers could earn in private practice in view of their inexperience and immaturity.

He added, "I'm just old fashioned enough to believe that the people of Minnesota don't like this kind of political payoffs in their state government with their money."

Cleaning nickel stainless steel is as easy as washing china or glassware—soap or detergent in warm water will wash it quickly without the need for subsequent polishing.

More Than 20,000 at State MEA Conclave

More than 20,000 teachers and administrators who attended the centennial gathering have returned from a hectic round of section meetings, general sessions, speeches and social gatherings in the Twin Cities, saturated with information on what's new in education.

Faced with a greater array of teaching aids than ever before assembled for them, the educators examined textbooks, electronic, visual and mechanical teaching aids and other materials designed for better teaching of all children, from slow learner to gifted.

Election of Rochester junior high school principal Melvin Vovland as 81st president was announced at the Thursday night general session by Hutchinson elementary principal June Otterness, outgoing president. He will serve during 1960-62.

Records indicate that this was the first MEA presidential election in which there have been more than two candidates. Vovland defeated John Schulling, Bemidji high school social studies teacher, the other choice of the nominating committee, and Duluth Central principal George Beck.

A major convention speaker, Eric Johnston of Washington, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, suggested that the United States establish a foreign education corps. Consisting of specially-trained educators, such a corps would serve in U.S. programs abroad, participating in activities of United Nations-sponsored and other international organizations.

Advocating federal aid to education, Johnston said that "the money needs to come from right where it is—and that's the federal government."

Mortimer Smith of Washington editor of the Council for Basic Education's "Bulletin," discussed the aims of the group before a crowded section meeting. He maintained that education in schools must deal primarily with intellectual training, with making youngsters literate in essential fields of human knowledge, and with transmitting heritage and culture.

In a second major address, Dr. Max Lerner—author, syndicated columnist and professor of American civilization at Brandeis university, Waltham, Mass.—discussed the worldwide struggle between communism and democracy.

"We are carrying on the educational enterprise on the edge of an abyss," he said, adding that there is need to educate creative youngsters to carry the burden of intellectual leadership thruout the world.

The convention ended Friday night with a mass concert by the All-State High School and and the All-State High School chorus, with the more than 600 students representing some 120 schools throughout the state.

Traffic Down 15 Pct. in September from August 1960

Traffic on Minnesota highways during September dropped 15 per cent under the August count, the Minnesota highway department reported. A substantial drop in September is a normal annual occurrence near the end of the vacation and fishing seasons.

A survey of the 28 automatic traffic counters located on rural trunk highways throughout the state showed reduced traffic at every point, with major drops of 21 per on T.H. 10 southeast of Royalton; 18 per cent on T.H. 14 west of Rochester; 17 per cent on T.H. 10 northwest of Anoka; and 15 per cent on T.H. 10 east of Moorhead.

September traffic, however, showed a 2.8 per cent increase over the same month for last year.

To the Voters of the Third District of Pennington County:

As you know, I am a candidate for County Commissioner in the 3rd district. I make only one promise to the people of my district and that is: I will do to the best of my ability and judgement what seems best for my district, my community and also our County of Pennington.

This would contrast rather sharply to the rumors that are circulating through the country. These are: 1st that I promised a certain party Sunday beer and also that someone paid my filing fee.

These are both falsehoods. I cannot help but feel that these falsehoods are being put into circulation deliberately to mar my reputation and to benefit someone else. I have not made such a promise and nobody else paid my filing fee.

"The minute a thing is long and complicated it confuses. Whoever wrote the Ten Commandments made 'em short. They may not always be kept, but they can be understood." —Will Rogers

He Is On Our Side

Premier Ikeda of Japan is calling a national election that will be of special importance to us. He seeks a vote of confidence and support for his position in retaining ties with the West. Actually he will be asking the Japanese electorate to decide whether or not he should in any way be held responsible for the recent regrettable assassination of his Socialist opponent, killed during a student demonstration.

We, of course, wish him well. He deserves the vote of confidence he seeks, if for no other reason for the courage he is showing in asking the voters to make a decision so soon after his opponent was murdered. It is good to know that he is on our side in the international argument.

Pressure on Gold

The world's gamblers are betting that the dollar will soon be devalued again in terms of gold. From London to Hong Kong, last week, buyers were paying premium prices for the yellow metal, and stocks of gold mining companies zoomed.

An Associated Press report from New York Saturday stated:

> "The rise in gold abroad was backgrounded by the unfavorable U.S. balance in foreign trade and a flight from the dollar, accompanied by predictions in various quarters that the U.S. must eventually raise the price it pays for gold, thus devaluing the dollar. How well-founded such predictions are remains to be seen, but many speculators acted on that basis and bulled the gold stocks up to their highest prices in years."

Lack of confidence in the American dollar at this time probably is based largely on what may happen to our dollar if we move into another spending spree with printing press money. Our gold supply, buried at Fort Knox, is subject to the demand of foreign creditors, and under the pressure of such recent demand our supply of gold has been shrinking. It is a matter for concern.

The most effective way to maintain a stable dollar is to maintain an honest dollar, and that requires restraint—a willingness to work and to produce, and a willingness to live within our means. Last week's pressure on gold reminds us that we have an enemy here among us that is much more dangerous than Nikita Khrushchev.

Railroad Work Rules

Railroad management and the operating brotherhoods have agreed to submit their differences over work rules to a presidential commission for study. That is a step in the right direction and could result in a better future for both railroad labor and the industry itself. According to James P. Mitchell, secretary of labor, the commission should be able to make a report some time in December.

It is generally admitted that our railroads are suffering from too much government regulation, imposed upon them at a time when they had a monopoly on most of our interior transportation. In recent years they have been at the mercy of steadily expanding competition—trucks, planes, barges and pipelines. Many of the restrictions that were imposed on them in the public interest back in the days when they were a monopoly, can no longer be justified.

And it is reasonable to assume that in railroading, as in other industries, some work rules that were adopted as fair under conditions that prevailed years ago can no longer be justified. Only by maximum operating efficiency will the railroads be able to survive under private operation.

We have heard it said that workers have acquired a vested interest in some work rules. That may be true for some of the old timers in the service. Any changes that are made probably should come gradually in fairness to those who have many years of service to their credit.

What we need is a strong railroad system as the essential base of all our transportation. We are hopeful that the presidential commission will bring in a fair and reasonable report.

As It Should Be

Dr. Benjamin Fine, education editor of the North American Newspaper Alliance, told teachers attending the Minnesota State Federation of Teachers convention in St. Paul last week that teachers' salaries should be increased to $10,000 or $20,000 a year. He recommended a $50 billion federal school aid appropriation to get this higher salary scale established. He said several other things that didn't make sense but that no doubt made some of the teachers happy.

Not that we rule out the possibility of $10,000 starting pay for teachers, but those dollars wouldn't have much buying power. The $50 billion federal aid appropriation with borrowed money that Dr. Fine suggests, would help very much in speeding the decline in the buying power of the buck.

But just to keep the record straight, let's not overlook the fact that many American teachers are now being paid $10,000 to $20,000 a year. There are opportunities for advancement in the field of education as there are opportunities for advancement in other fields.

Not all young people who are employed by banks want to become bank presidents, but some of them do. Not all small town bankers hope to become big-city bankers, but some of them do. As they are able to assume greater responsibility and do a better job at a more competitive level, they get more pay.

Ten years from now Columbia University will be looking for teachers with special qualifications and to whom they will pay an especially attractive salary. Some young person now starting what is looked forward to as a career in teaching, may be ready for that job ten years from now. But not many will be ready, and that is one of the reasons why the pay will be good.

Not all people are interested in putting forth the extra effort that is so helpful to advancement, and that is understandable. Many people who are satisfied with things as they are probably are just as happy as those who struggle constantly for something they do not have, or maybe want more of—money or power, or just recognition.

There are great opportunities in the field of education for educators. Many young teachers who now are well paid with their starting salaries no doubt will be earning several times as much as they advance in their field and are able to serve satisfactorily at more difficult levels.

And that is the way it should be.

It Still Is Bigotry

Senator Kennedy no doubt will receive the support of many good people who resent the activities of individuals and groups opposing him because of his religion. But he will lose the support of many good people who resent the activities of individuals and groups who support him because of his religion.

David Lawrence has called attention to one example of such an exploitation of the so-called religious issue by the United Auto Workers of America. He reports:

> "In the union's own newspaper there appeared on September 28 last a four-page insert calling on the members of the union to support Senator Kennedy, Democrat, on account of the bigotry issue. Four pages were devoted to material in support of Senator Kennedy, and the front page was taken up entirely with drawings of the Statue of Liberty holding aloft a torch and a hooded member of the Ku Klux Klan carrying a torch in one hand and a club in the other. The following was the headline in big type across the page alongside the drawings: "Which do you choose? Liberty or Bigotry?"

And Mr. Lawrence concludes:

> "Here is a newspaper published by a union comprised of Protestants as well as Catholics, Republicans as well as Democrats, all of whom pay to the union dues which in this case were used to publish a document of political partisanship. For not only was Senator Kennedy's speech before the Protestant ministers at Houston published in full but not a single word about Vice President Nixon's denunciation of the so-called religious issue was contained in the newspaper or its supplement.
>
> "The Michigan Fair Election Practices Commission has issued a statement condemning the UAW newspaper article and has said that "this leaflet unmistakably implies that the issue of the campaign is between freedom and the Ku Klux Klan." The commission added that the pamphlet "in effect smears one of the parties, and attempts to exploit the religious issue for political advantage. Bigotry is not to be fought with bigotry in reverse."
>
> "The 'Detroit News,' which in a copyrighted article published the first news of the UAW statement about bigotry, said flatly that the pamphlet implied that 'only bigots oppose Kennedy'."

The position of the United Auto Workers is just as inexcusable as is the position of those whom they condemn. The manner in which the editors of their official publication have expressed their views leaves no doubt as to their intention to advance their own political interests by appeals to religious prejudice. They are resorting to the bigotry they profess to deplore.

As Vice President Nixon has clearly stated his position on the bigotry of those who resort to it to help him, it would not be out of order for Senator Kennedy to point out to his friends in the United Auto Workers that they too are doing the country a disservice by urging his election because of his religious faith.

Hard Role for President

(Decatur, Illinois, Herald)

On two foreign fronts, the next President, whether the Republican or Democrat, already has been attacked. Cuba's Fidel Castro has lumped Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy together as "cowardly hypocrites" and "two ignorant, beardless kids."

There is strong feeling among the Arab states, as voiced by Saudi Arabia, relative to the alleged pro-Israeli position of both Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy.

The next President, no matter which party he belongs to, is committed to certain basic foreign policies which unavoidably will alienate certain foreign groups. It is not a question simply of a new face, or even a new approach. The United States has no intention, for example, of ever abandoning Israel, even while this nation seeks to make friends with the Arab countries. This position is an affront to the determined Arab opposition to Israel's continued existence in the Middle East.

The fact of a new incoming Administration will not change certain situations, of the Castro regime's making, which legislate against legitimate U.S. interests, and which cannot be ignored or excused. The old tough problems will remain, and it will not be U.S. policy alone which will determine what turn these issues may take in the period ahead.
